ICY TRAGEDY UNRAVELED

Andree's Corpse Taken Ashore

Scientists Say Only Two of Three Explorers' Bodies Given Up by North

Other Bones Those of Bears; Experts Examine Relics to Solve Mystery

TROMSOE (Norway) Sept. 2. (AP) The remains of only two members of the Andree polar expedition were in the casket taken ashore today from the sealer Bratvaag. It had been hoped the bones found in Andree's boat on White Island were those of the third member, presumably Knut Frankel, but scientists said tonight they were polar bear bones.

Apparently the third man who made the trip in 1897 perished on the long march across the ice, either freezing or falling through a hole.

The boat containing the bones was brought to shore by twelve sailors and it was then that the examination was made.

Tore Strindberg, a brother of Nils Strindberg, one of the Andree party, made a sketch of the boat after it had been brought to land.

OTHER THINGS FOUND

When the boat was brought ashore there was found in it, besides the bones, a package of newspapers, a gun, a camera lens and a boot.

Experts are working almost without cessation in examining all the Andree material and it is expected that they will have a communication for the world by tomorrow afternoon.

There has been much discussion about making another trip to White Island in the hope of finding something more, but the experts say that this hardly will be possible this year. Much snow already has fallen and the possibility of discovering other things is said to be problematical.

STRANGE PROCESSION

The Bratvaag arrived here this forenoon. After Norwegian and Swedish experts had gone aboard and examined the evidences of the Andree tragedy the cases containing the relics were put ashore on the quay of the Swedish consulate by crews of the Bratvaag, and the log of Salomon August Andree's homeward journey had been found.

The human vestiges were placed in a hearse on the pier. A strange and solemn procession made its way to an infirmary where a professors acting under the direction of the Norwegian government prepared to make the examination which will establish the fullest authenticity of the remarkable polar story.

The crew of the Norwegian government steamer Michael Sars formed the guard of honor. Behind the hearse walked Dr. Gunnar Horn, Dr. Hedren, head of the examining staff, and others of the Norwegian scientific commission and physicians.

These distinguished scientists, explorers and government officials

BRIG.-GEN. BENNETT DIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—Brig.-Gen. John B. Bennett, retired, died at Walter Reed Hospital today.

REMEMBER THIS

Soft words are frequently more effective than hard facts.

Will Rogers Remarks:

TAHOE TAVERN, Sept. 2. [To the Editor of The Times:] Hurrah for the Frenchmen. They sure deserved it and the nation did, for they had made so many sacrifices, and during their well-deserved plaudits it seems rather a coincidence that they are bringing back to civilization Andree's body. When you write your list of air heroes put that fellow at the top, not because his name begins with an "A," but when he shoved off in that thing thirty-three years ago he knew that even if he got where he was going there was not going to be any cheering crowds, or reporters, or Grover Whalens. He was the original chance-taker in the air and no man will ever take as big a one.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BALZAR HAS GOOD LEAD IN NEVADA

Governor 3 to 1 Ahead of Reno Mayor in Primary; Democrats Neck and Neck

RENO, Sept. 3. (Wednesday) (AP) Fred B. Balzar, Republican incumbent, had a long lead over E. E. Roberts, Mayor of Reno, and Richard Cowles, his opponents for the Republican nomination for Governor, in returns compiled early today from yesterday's State primary.

Returns, incomplete, but representing every county in the State, gave Balzar 6117; Roberts, 2657, and Cowles, 1318.

In the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, H. A. Ages, Eastern Nevada stockman, and Charles L. Richards, Reno attorney and former Congressman, were running a close race, the compilation giving Ages 3111 votes and Richards 2745.

There is no contest in either party for Congress and there is no Senatorial election in Nevada this year.

In the Lieutenant-Governor contest Griswold, incumbent, had a lead of five-to-one for the Republican nomination, while George B. Russell, incumbent Treasurer, Republican, had a like lead for that office nomination. In the race for the Republican nomination for mine inspector, A. J. Stinson, incumbent, had a lead of about 500 votes over his opponent, H. B. Bulmer.

In the Democratic contest for the State Treasurer nomination, Mrs. C. C. Devine was leading Mrs. Ethel McGuire by about 500 votes.

FRENCH BAN ON HEARST

Country Expels Publisher

American Ordered to Leave Because of Publication of Secret Document

Generally "Hostile Attitude Toward France" Also Cited as Reason

PARIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—French officials announced today William Randolph Hearst, American publisher, has been expelled from France because one of his agents obtained and published a secret document relative to Franco-British naval negotiations in 1928.

Mr. Hearst arrived here yesterday for his first visit since publication of the document. Agents of the government called on him and requested him to leave within thirty-six hours. He departed for London last night without waiting for the period of grace to expire.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

The Ministry of the Interior gave out the following statement late today:

"William Randolph Hearst, proprietor of numerous American newspapers, has been expelled from French territory. This measure, taken upon order of the President of the Council, Minister of the Interior, had as origin the role played by Hearst in the obtention and publication of a secret document relative to the Franco-English naval negotiations."

The Surete Generale, the French equivalent to Scotland Yard, which conveyed the expulsion order to Mr. Hearst, had previously stated the action was taken because of Mr. Hearst's generally "hostile attitude toward France."

CALLED FRANCOPHOBE

"The French government has always expelled foreigners who are consistently hostile to France," the police told the Associated Press. "Mr. Hearst is a Francophobe and we prefer that he should do his criticising outside of France. The Horan affair of 1928 formed only a part of the reasons why Mr. Hearst was asked to leave."

Mr. Horan was the Hearst correspondent who got possession of the secret document.

HEARST HAS NO COMPLAINT TO MAKE

LONDON, Sept. 2. (AP)—William Randolph Hearst, American publisher, arrived here today. Mr. Hearst, asked about his expulsion from France, said:

"I have no complaint to make. They said I was an enemy of France and a danger in their midst. The reason for our strained relations was the publication of an Anglo-French treaty two years ago by the Hearst newspapers.

"Officials were extremely polite," continued Hearst. "They made me feel quite important. They said I could stay a little while longer if I desired, that they would take a chance on nothing disastrous happening to the republic. But I told them I didn't want to take the responsibility of endangering the great French nation, that America had saved it once during the war and I would save it again by leaving."

BALCHEN'S CITIZENSHIP DEFERRED

Naturalization Postponed Ten Months on Finding Cousin's Papers Sent

NEWARK (N. J.) Sept. 2. (AP)—A decision on the granting of naturalization papers to Bernt Balchen, pilot of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, was deferred for ten months in Federal court today.

The question of his year's absence in Antarctica was not considered because, with or without it, he lacked the required five years of continuous residence.

Balchen was instructed to appear before Naturalization Examiner Woertendyke today to have his application for citizenship acted upon. It was found papers sent from Washington applied to his cousin of the same name, who came to this country in 1922. Balchen arrived June 22, 1926.

At the end of ten months he again will appear before the examiner for his second papers. He must then wait ninety days before he is entitled to take the oath of citizenship.

Lumber Town Swept by Fire

INDEX (Wash.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Fire early today destroyed a hotel, an apartment-house and a garage here with an estimated loss of $100,000 and threatened forty homes.

The approach to the county bridge was burned and near-by brush land caught fire. Two hundred men, aided by State forest fire fighting crews, fought the flames.

Index is a mountain lumbering town forty-two miles southeast of Everett. It has a population of 450.

Is Perpetual Motion Discovered at Last?

MRS. M'CORMICK RAPS NYE

Illinois Woman Candidate for Senate Opens Campaign and Bitterly Assails Quiz of Her Expenses

HARRISBURG (Ill.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick opened her campaign for the United States Senate today with a bitter denunciation of Senator Nye of North Dakota and his methods in inquiring into her campaign expenditures and "personal affairs."

Speaking first at Carbondale, Ill., and later at Harrisburg, the Republican nominee promised to take the issue to the United States Supreme Court if necessary to settle the controversy.

She said the Nye investigation was a personal one and not a committee inquiry. She told her audiences she acted in self-defense when she employed detectives to inquire into Nye's affairs and his connections.

Mrs. McCormick's address at the opening of a State-wide two weeks' tour of Illinois was devoted almost solely to discussion of what she emphatically called the "Nye investigating committee, not the United States Senate investigating committee."

"It has turned into a personal prosecution in so far as my candidacy is concerned," she said, and continued:

"The Senate investigating committee has never actually met. Senator Nye sat alone until yesterday, when Senator Dale of Vermont joined him. There has never been a quorum of the committee present at any of its meetings.

"Under the Constitution United States Senators have the right to judge the qualifications of the men it seats. I feel greatly flattered that Senator Nye assumes I am already a Senator. As a matter of fact, I have not been elected yet."

SENATE URGED TO QUIZ OWN INVESTIGATORS

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (AP)—The suggestion that the Senate Funds Committee "investigate its own investigators" was made by W. C. Dannenberg, Chicago private detective agency head, in his testimony today at a session of the committee called to inquire into "shadowing" of its chairman, Senator Nye of North Dakota.

Dannenberg appeared voluntarily, saying he did not see subpoena servers sent out to summon him. He testified Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican Senatorial nominee, employed him after the ransacking of her Byron (Ill.) farm home June

CALM SEA AIDS HUNT FOR GOLD

Salvage Workers Ready to Blast Open Treasure Hold of Sunken Liner

BREST (France) Sept. 2. (AP)—A calm sea favored the first salvage operations today of the ill-fated Peninsular and Oriental liner Egypt, in the hold of which 400 feet beneath the waves lie gold ingots worth $8,000,000.

Early this morning the Italian tug Raffio stood alongside the salvage vessel Artiglio, bringing dynamite and powerful electric magnets to break through the steamship's steel decks so divers may penetrate the purser's strong room, where the treasure is believed locked.

The operation of retrieving the sunken treasure is expected to be a long and delicate one. Swift tidal currents and confused eddies make the work of divers dangerous. Right now the best weather of many months prevails and those in charge of the salvage operations hope the work can be finished before storms set in.

HOOVER ACTS TO HELP DRY AGENT'S WIDOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—Acceding to a request of Prohibition Administrator Walker, President Hoover today asked the Department of Justice by letter to set aside civil service requirements in order to give work to Mrs. Louise Freeman. She is the widow of Robert D. Freeman, prohibition agent fatally shot at Yountville December 29, 1929, while on duty. Mrs. Freeman has herself and a 2-year-old son to support.

MORGAN'S YACHT FAST ON ROCKS

Corsair, Built This Year at Cost of $3,000,000, Ground on Reefs

ISLESBORO (Me.) Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—The largest private pleasure yacht in the world, J. P. Morgan's $3,000,000 Corsair, built and launched this year, was hard and fast aground on Lobster Rock between Kellogg Island and the jetty in Gilkey's Harbor at midnight tonight. Chances of floating her even on a full tide tomorrow with the aid of divers and pontoons seemed slight.

With the yacht's engines at full speed astern, the ocean-going tug Wyoming pulling with all its force and riding the top of tonight's full tide, the Corsair was unable to budge.

The daytime tide tomorrow will not be as high as tonight's, and although the tugs stood by and will make another try tomorrow, the yacht's bow may have to be raised before she can be hauled off without ripping her hull.

Mr. and Mrs. Junius Morgan were aboard at the time and elected to stay on the yacht overnight as she was in no danger from the sea, although listing three feet to port as the tide dropped.

An error in identifying a channel buoy on the tricky reef-fringed shore sent the yacht aground about 7:30 p.m.

Bromley Seeks Take-off Field

TOKIO, Sept. 2. (AP)—After inspecting beaches and plains within a fifty-mile radius of Tokio in search of a suitable place to take off on their projected nonstop flight to Tacoma, Wash., Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty today decided to look elsewhere for a starting field.

Gatty boarded a train for Hachinche, Aomori prefecture, where there is much prairie, hoping to find a suitable stretch for a take-off with a full load of gasoline. Both Bromley and Gatty asserted they still are determined to make a nonstop flight.

Canadian Flyer Killed in Crash

TORONTO (Ont.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Caught by the wind as they swept around a marker on the Canadian national exhibition course, Capt. Charles Sutton, Toronto, drowned tonight and his mechanic, Claude Mills, also of Toronto, was injured when their cabin plane crashed into Lake Ontario.

The crash occurred in view of thousands of persons who lined the sea wall to witness the aeronautic program of the exhibition.

Gas Suspected as Crash Cause

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (AP)—Discovery of carbon monoxide in the blood of Capt. Arthur Page, Jr., led Health Commissioner Kegel to express belief tonight that the gas may have been responsible for the Marine Corps flyer's fatal crash at yesterday's National Air Races.

"Our tests show there was not enough of the gas to kill a man," Dr. Kegel said, "but a pilot flying a plane at 207 miles an hour and turning goats would not have to be very dizzy or sick to have a serious accident."

HOOVER REVIEWS VETERANS

Thousands March Before President at Baltimore; Parade Features Annual Encampment

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2. (AP)—For the second time in a year, President Hoover came to Baltimore today to review a military parade and for two hours watched 15,000 or more veterans of the nation's wars, augmented by regular forces, tramp before him. Under a sultry sky the parade, the feature of the thirty-first annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, wound its way past the stand in which the President and civil military dignitaries sat.

Just as the last few marchers filed past, a sudden shower sent him back from the front of the stand to escape a wetting, and the start of the return trip to Washington by automobile was in the rain.

The President's previous trip here was to review a parade of the veterans of the Rainbow Division of the American Expeditionary Forces.

Regular Army, National Guard, Marine Corps and naval units led today's parade through streets deep lined with spectators. In the downtown section scraps of paper and ticker tape floated from office windows.

After the military units marched the veterans, now civilians, who fought in Cuba, Mexico, the Philippines, and the World War, many straining the uniforms which a few years ago snugly fitted their younger bodies.

One unit from Wisconsin dragged a little wagon in which rested a beer keg and several empty bottles and jugs, bringing applause from the throngs around the reviewing-stand. A few sections and a dozen bands later came a unit from Springfield, Mass., which halted in front of the President to fire a salute from a toy cannon.

Brilliantly uniformed drum and bugle corps composed of World War veterans furnished martial airs for the heavier steps of the Spanish-American War veterans and those of other campaigns.

COSTE LANDS IN NEW YORK AFTER HOP FROM PARIS

Shouting Throngs Mob Plane as It Ends First East-West Conquest of Atlantic in 37 Hours

VALLEY STREAM (N. Y.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte landed at Curtiss Field, on the edge of this Long Island village, at 6:12:30 o'clock (E.S.T.) this afternoon, completing the first nonstop westward flight from Europe to the North American continent. Their scarlet sesquiplane streaked out of the gathering dusk just 37 hours, 18 minutes and 30 seconds after it took off from Paris yesterday.

Three years ago Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli attempted a similar flight and flew instead into eternity. Since then six other men and two women have tried to fly nonstop from Europe to New York and have died in the attempt.

But Coste and Bellonte were not halted by this tragic record of valiant failure. They wanted to bring true the dream of Nungesser and Coli and nothing could stop them. Last year they tried but were turned back by a wall of wind off the Azores. This year they tried again and today victory was theirs.

LINDBERGH GREETS THEM

By their achievement today the French flyers flew the Lindbergh trail between the chief cities of the United States and France and flew it in the more difficult direction. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was here to greet them and was among the first to offer congratulations.

The landing was full of color and quick action. Coming over Roosevelt Field, Coste dropped low and waggled his wings in signal that the Lindbergh trail had been backtracked at last, for it was from Roosevelt Field that Col. Lindbergh, then an unknown mail flyer, took off on the flight that made him famous three years ago.

Then the French plane, named the Question Mark, headed straight for its destination here and six minutes after it was sighted it settled lightly to the ground made muddy by recent rains.

Appearing suddenly among a score of naval and civilian planes awaiting him in the air, Coste swung in a great half-circle about the field, tipped in one vertical bank and surged down to a three-point landing.

CROWD RUSHES PLANE

The landing was the signal for the crowd of about 5000 penned behind high wire inclosures to attempt a rush onto the field such as marked the Lindbergh reception in France and several long flights here. Most of the crowd was held by the wire and the police, but perhaps fifty scaled the parapet and, augmented by a couple of hundred who for one reason or another had been given special passes, surrounded the plane before its propeller stopped whirling.

Coste had been instructed by radio to taxi directly to the hangar containing the field offices, but apparently fearing harm might thus come to some members of the crowd, he climbed out, followed by Bellonte while they were still a hundred yards away.

FATIGUE SHOWN

As they slid from the open cockpits to the ground it was plain the flyers were tired. Their feet fumbled clumsily at the rungs of the little ladder and they almost staggered when first they walked. But they didn't get much chance to walk for the crowd was on them, pressing in, trying to shake hands, slapping the aviators on the back, almost bearing them to the ground.

Police pushed the crowd to little avail and so at last Coste and Bellonte had to be carried to the safety of the hangar offices on the backs of two stalwart policemen, carried like tired children being put to bed after a day's hard play.

In the office Coste and Bellonte were presented to Col. Lindbergh, who had watched the arrival from a balcony. They spoke briefly in French over two radio networks and then went upstairs in an adjoining hangar to meet various reception committees.

LINDBERGH HALTED

The crowd pressed so close that the police had the greatest difficulty keeping unauthorized persons out and one zealous policeman even refused entrance to Col. Lindbergh. The colonel whispered his name.

"Go on," said the policeman, "don't give me that Lindbergh stuff."

But other policeman knew him and so he was ushered in after due apologies.

It was dark by then and the broad field was ringed with the red lights to mark its haven to flyers of the night. But the crowd wouldn't go home. It cheered and demanded to see the famous Frenchmen, and so

SEA FLIGHT DESCRIBED

Coste Tells of Adventure

French Pilots Conquer Three Storms and Fly Most of Way Through Mists

Aviator Says Preparation Greatest Factor in Causing Success

(Copyright, 1930, in North and South America by the New York Times Company and Los Angeles Times. All rights reserved.)

BY CAPT. DIEUDONNE COSTE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)

When we took off from Paris yesterday we knew it was the greatest moment in our lives. It was the culmination of three years of hard effort not unmixed with many heart-breaking disappointments. If we had not left at that particular minute we might well have faced three more years of delay before accomplishing the first flight from a city of the Old World to the greatest city in the New World.

The tremendous load of fuel required for this flight in which we expected to buck prevailing unfavorable winds gave us the first real thrill of the voyage. Would the ship lift off the ground? That was our great concern. We had 5300 liters of gasoline on board.

STORMS ENCOUNTERED

But the great fear passed in a few minutes and we found new cause for concern with each passing moment. There were storms ahead. We would have to push our overweighted ship through that. We ran into the first of these disturbances off the Irish coast. The second gave us some trying moments, not long afterward, over the ocean, but fortunately we were able to escape the worst of it.

The third—and probably the worst of all—was the storm we encountered over Nova Scotia.

That it occurred only this morning seems impossible just at this moment. So many things appear to have happened since that the storm seems remote — something that happened long, long ago.

We had to find the best route to Nova Scotia and that in short order if we were to avoid the hazards that faced the Bremen when it ran into fog and storm of a similar nature and which forced them down hundreds of miles from their goal.

COURSE CHANGED

In seeking to avoid this storm we were obliged to fly 100 miles out of our way to the south. We did not find land as we expected, so we turned northward again flying another 100 miles. Time was swiftly passing. Each minute meant the loss of more of our precious fuel. Again we turned.

It occurred to us that there is a lucky number there. We had faced three storms, were we now to be defeated? We were sure that we would not be.

After three hours of searching we computed that we must be very near the coast of Nova Scotia. At 3 a.m. (French time)—for we had not changed our clock—we sighted land. At the same moment it became obvious that the winds were abating.

HOOVER HAILS COSTE FEAT

President Extols "Brilliant Exploit" in Message; Other High Officials Join in Praise

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—The highest officials of the nation, led by President Hoover, tonight joined in the acclaim of the French flyers, Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, after they completed their ocean-spanning flight in New York.

"I join with the people of the nation in rejoicing over the brilliant exploit of your distinguished aviators in successfully completing for the first time in history a nonstop flight from France to the United States," President Hoover said in a message to President Doumergue of France.

"France has established a glorious record," the Chief Executive added. "I hope that in the future many others of your citizens will come to us in this manner.

"I extend to Your Excellency and to the people of France my heartiest congratulations."

The personal congratulations of President Hoover also were telegraphed to Capt. Coste.

"The news of your successful flight thrills the people of the entire American nation and upon their behalf and my own I send to you and your gallant companion our heartiest congratulations," President Hoover said. "We shall delight to honor the heroic compatriots of those oth brave Frenchmen whose undaunted efforts foreshadowed this triumph. Our people's welcome to you is whole-hearted and universal."

MANY CONGRATULATIONS

Two Cabinet members, Secretaries Adams and Lamont, and ranking officers of the Army and Navy sent their congratulations to the French airmen, while the acting Secretary of State, Green H. Hack-the lights were darkened in the room where the flyers were being greeted and the report was circulated they had gone to New York.

REPORTERS FOOLED

At direction of Rene Racover, American manager of the French flyers, reporters were herded into one downstairs room and sound reel men told to install their cameras in one adjoining.

"Stay here," they were told. "Coste and Bellonte will see you before they go."

And then shortly field officials came to those rooms and said the French flyers had gone, wishing to escape the crowds and get some rest after their arduous journey.

They had slipped quietly from a rear door and entered a car that bore them away. So there were no interviews at the field, except for the few words gleaned from Coste by a couple of enterprising reporters who would not wait for the promised interview and succeeded in getting into the room where the flyers were broadcasting.

BURNED BY SUN

In this little interview Coste told briefly of his flight, of some threatening weather he and Bellonte had encountered, and expressed his gratification at the successful outcome of the venture. He did not say what his plans are now, how long he is going to stay, whether he will fly back when he is ready to go.

Both men were burned by sun and wind when they arrived, for their ship is an open cockpit plane, the first of that type ever used for an Atlantic flight.

They are both men of long experience in the air, though Bellonte did not become a pilot until about a year ago. But now he is mechanic, navigator, radio operator and pilot all in one.

VETERAN OF AIR

Coste has flown since he was 16 years of age, having left a Gascon farm to cast his fate along the far reaches of the sky. He was a war ace and later achieved many sensational feats in civil life. He flew all around the world, except for the Pacific, with Joseph Lebrix, but their long companionship was disrupted at the end of that journey by Lebrix, who announced he was tired of "being Coste's valet." Then Coste picked Bellonte as his companion and with him made the attempt at the North Atlantic last year. Coste also holds the nonstop distance records for both straight line and closed course flights and for several weight-carrying events.

Coste is a small man, considerably smaller than Bellonte and is known to the birdmen of France as "Doudou," a diminutive contraction of the first part of his first name.

ELEMENTS BEATEN

He was greatly impressed by the courage of Nungesser and Coli and saddened by their loss. He named the plane in which he crossed the Atlantic the first time—that was the South Atlantic on his way around the world—the "Nungesser-Coli."

And so his flight completed today meant something more to him than just a new page in the history of aviation, just an achievement that no one had ever been able to accomplish before. It meant, too, that Nungesser and Coli were at last avenged, that the elements which beat down those pioneers had at last been vanquished.

One of the first messages to reach Coste when he landed was a telegram from Admiral Byrd, whose sextant he carried in the Question Mark.

The message read:

"It's a very great flight, old fellow, welcome back to the States again. You have covered yourself with glory. Heartiest good wishes from all members of the Byrd expedition. I am delighted this honor has come to you. We all congratulate France on your achievement."

FLYERS' SPEECHES

Shortly after the broadcast of the flyers' greetings ended officials of the National Broadcasting Company received a radiogram saying the reception in Paris was perfect.

In his brief speech Coste said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: We are indeed happy to be here. The tiring hours in the air are behind us, and we want to thank everybody for the marvelous reception that we received and are receiving. We made the trip in less time than we anticipated, despite weather that was not too favorable."

Bellonte's greeting was even shorter:

"We are pleased to be here now and across the Atlantic."

The two flyers plan to take off for Dallas, Tex., Thursday morning, they announced through their press representative tonight.

The announcement was in line with a statement made today in Dallas by George F. Smith, Texas newspaper man, who said arrangements will be made for the French flyers to fly to the Texas city to collect a $25,000 prize offered by Col. William Easterwood for a successful Paris-New York-Dallas flight.

AUTOGRAPH SEEKERS LIKELY TO BE PUZZLED

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—Autograph seekers who are fortunate enough to get the signature of Dieudonne Coste perhaps will be puzzled by the appearance of a peculiar scrawl at the end of his name.

French people who bear the name spell it either "Coste" or "Costes," and the flyer isn't sure which is correct. Consequently in order to strike a happy medium, he writes "Cost—" and then tapers the word off with a nonchalant flourish of the pen which might be "e" or "s."

BERLIN'S NEWSPAPERS CONGRATULATE FLYERS

BERLIN, Sept. 2. (Wednesday) (AP)—Berlin morning papers display prominently the news of the Coste-Bellonte flight from France to the United States and the few editorial comments in the early editions are warmly congratulatory.

"It is a brilliant success for French aviation," says the Vossische Zeitung.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung points out that while the problem of regular trans-Atlantic service by airplane still remains to be solved by engineers and technicians, the feat of the French flyers is an "outstanding sporting achievement."

FRENCH PRESIDENT CABLES CONGRATULATIONS

PARIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—President Gaston Doumergue tonight cabled the following message to Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, trans-Atlantic flyers, in care of the French Consul-General at New York:

"Happy to send you my warmest congratulations for your magnificent exploit.

"GASTON DOUMERGUE."

FAIR CONGRATULATED BY CAPT. HAWKS

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2. (AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, holder of the trans-continental airplane speed records for east and west flights, tonight extended congratulations to Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte for their successful east-to-west crossing of the Atlantic Ocean.

"It was a great display of nerve," Capt. Hawks said, "and I congratulate Capt. Coste, but it was a foolish thing to do. I can't see that the flight contributed anything to aviation."

ANXIETY TORTURES WIVES

Mme. Coste Can't Believe Report of Crossing; Mme. Bellonte Has Good Cry

PARIS (Wednesday) Sept. 3. (AP)—Mme. Mary Coste passed last night in such a fever of anxiety that when told the good news of her husband's safe arrival at New York just after midnight she was unable to make herself believe it.

"I cannot believe it until I hear his voice," she said.

Almost at that same moment, however, she was convinced, for over the loud-speaker in her apartment came the voice of Dieudonne Coste himself.

TOUCHING SCENE

Mme. Coste was extremely nervous all evening. She passed the early hours at one of the large newspaper offices seeking the latest news, and then went home with a group of friends who tried to lessen the intense strain of waiting.

A touching scene occurred at the apartment when a small girl arrived with a bouquet of flowers from Mme. Nungesser, mother of the French aviator who lost his life in attempting what Coste accomplished. Mme. Coste gathered the child into her arms and asked her to convey best wishes to the mother of Nungesser.

The Coste house was not darkened until early in the morning, when the relieved wife finally went to bed to get the rest she had not had since her husband took off.

HAS GOOD CRY

Mme. Doris Bellonte, wife of Coste's companion on his flight, kept her Irish blood fairly cool through the long wait, but when news of the arrival of the Question Mark was received she broke down in a flood of tears.

After her nervous system was relieved by this good womanly cry, however, she went laughingly with friends to dinner early this morning. Previously she had been unable to eat and spent most of her time in a newspaper office.

worth, not only dispatched a personal message to Coste, but also instructed Ambassador Adge in Paris to extend to the Minister for Foreign Affairs the congratulations of the United States government on the "magnificent flight."

Secretary Adams sent the following message to Coste:

"The American Navy extends its congratulations to you and your companion, Maurice Bellonte, upon the successful completion of the first Paris-to-New York flight in an airplane. Your courageous feat has aroused the admiration of every officer and man in the naval service."

Secretary Lamont said the successful achievement of the flight was not founded upon good fortune but was due to the exhaustive preparations the flyers made.

"The heartiest congratulations of the Department of Commerce," the Secretary said, "go out to Coste and Bellonte for linking Paris and New York in the first westward nonstop flight.

"Their achievement should not be considered as being founded on good fortune. Rather, it is due to the exhaustive preparations they made and to the extreme patience they exercised in withholding their time of departure until favorable conditions presented themselves. Consequently, they deserve the success with which they have met."

Informed Coste and Bellonte had landed, F. Trubee Davison, assistant Secretar of War for Aeronautics, extended compliments on behalf of the Army Air Corps.

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Jacob Cohen, 52 years of age, second-hand store proprietor, was found today by his wife beaten to death when she visited the store to find why her husband had not returned home.

Cohen's head had been gashed with an ax and his body was beaten with stove parts. A purse containing $150 with which he was to pay taxes was missing.

Greatest Celebration Since Armistice Held

Mother of Nungesser Cries Welcome to Triumph

PARIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—The greatest celebration since the armistice was held by Paris tonight as loud-speakers broadcast the announcement to anxious multitudes that Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte had conquered the treacherous Atlantic, completing the hazardous westward crossing from Paris to New York.

The explosion of delight was almost unprecedented as the pent-up enthusiasm, restrained for hours in fear the flyers might meet the fate of Nungesser and Coli three years ago, vanished with the official word that victory had been achieved.

Then the loud-speakers opened up with the voice of an announcer at Curtiss Field and the crowds became delirious as the radio man described the landing of France's greatest aviator.

Reception was clear and the words came through almost as well as if the Parisians had been standing on the landing field itself.

Five thousand persons jammed the Place de l'Opera, another great multitude filled the Place de la Concorde and great groups swarmed in all the boulevards.

At the other end of town, in front of the newspaper Le Matin, the crowds were so dense all traffic circulation was blocked and vehicles were forced to go on side streets.

When the mother of Nungesser was informed of Coste's success she broke into tears of joy.

"I welcome the triumph of Coste and Bellonte with all the joy of a mother," she said.

COSTE DEPICTS PERILS OF HOP

Heavy Load of Plane Caused Fears at Start

Naturally we were very happy—very happy.

The only thing that could stop us now, we thought, would be failure of our motor. It had carried us already from France to North America and we knew it would not fail us now. We had perfect confidence in its staunch heart and that confidence was justified. The motor was wonderful. It did all that we had hoped it would.

WINDS FAVORABLE

Weather conditions on the whole were very favorable—at least the winds were on our side. On the other hand almost the entire route was clouded over and we went hour after hour over that watery waste through a thick, white mist. We could not see what lay ahead, below, or above. It was like floating in a dream. There was something unreal about it—unreal and awesome. We were two but we seemed so all alone.

Most of the time I was at the controls and there was plenty to keep my mind busy. There was no time for dreaming. Constantly I had to shift my course to find a way out of the haze. Sometimes we dropped the plane to less than 300 feet from the water. At other times we were up to 2500 feet. We seldom went above that mark and never very much above that.

SOUGHT FIELD

We had our reward. Although my mind was taken up with the details of navigation and the business of control, with my eyes constantly on the instrument panel, I could not help but feel some satisfaction as we passed over the first signs of human habitation. It was a great relief after riding the mists.

Later, as we came down your coast and saw below us great centers of population—wide-spread blocks of homes—some of the thrill was gone. Of course it was a great satisfaction but after all the battle had been the flight across the sea, the war with the elements over the ocean. We had arrived in America and now our thoughts were for Curtiss Field, our final objective.

When at last we arrived over Long Island we were tremendously happy. Of course when we hopped off we had gone with the greatest confidence that we would make it and when we did we were greatly moved, not only by accomplishing the flight but even more so by the great reception which was given me here this evening.

PREPARATION COUNTED

After all, it wa. not the flight itself so much as the preparations that counted. Anyone can get in a plane and attempt to fly across the Atlantic, but it is the preparation which determines success or failure. We did not hesitate to make our decision to leave not later than the 1st inst., because we know that we had done all that anyone could do for the trip. We had overlooked nothing. Finally we did the best we could with an emergency crew, heavily mobilized and on Sunday night the plane was taken from the airdrome of Villacoublay to the airdrome at Le Bourget, where it was put in the care of expert mechanics.

The food we were to carry was contained in two small aluminum boxes.

We waited for the dawn with great impatience. The fog at that time was so thick that we could not see farther than two kilometers. The landscape was a gray blur and the air was wet with the mists. That made us restless. We could not leave and the hours began to drag. We simply had to wait for that fog to lift.

LOOPHOLE SOUGHT

With the aid of our friend Viau, the meteorologist, we made a weather map, based on telephone reports from every point on the French channel, to learn if there was some little loophole in that blanket of fog through which we might steal our way. From American sources as well as from the French weather bureaus we knew that, except for the fog near us, conditions were uniquely in favor of a westward flight.

Meteorological conditions were not as perfect for the flight as we had been led to expect. There were extensive areas of low pressure carrying unfavorable winds but not along the entire route. Conditions in France were far from good. There was considerable fog in the north part of my country and we ran into dense banks of it again in the south of England. However, we had made up our minds to leave on September 1, come what might.

We reached this decision on Sunday. We met some trouble getting ready for the flight because there was the Sunday holiday and not many men were available.

ALL DOORS CLOSED

We had to find that loophole if we were to get the advantage of those conditions. We telephoned to Nantes, to Brest, to Cherbourg, to Havre, to Dieppe and even to Calais, but all the doors were closed and we had to wait. About 10:30 a.m., however (French time,) there was a slight improvement. Twenty-four minutes later we took the chance. We took off in the fog and mists.

We felt certain that if we could get out of range we would reach New York before the following night. Our struggle with the elements had now begun. Sixty square meters of cloth fabric had to lift 6300 kilos, our total weight—had to carry that tremendous load through valleys, over hills, past all kinds of projections and towering heights.

But we forged ahead, most carefully; our weight was too great to ascend to a really safe altitude. Finally we reached the English Channel just north of Rouen. At the same time that we left the dangerous stretch of territory behind and got out of the fog over the water the air began to clear. Now we could fly above the clouds.

HIDE AND SEEK

We went up to 700 meters, then to 800 meters, but this did not last for long. We encountered a threatening storm area, black and menacing, that barred our way and we were forced to drop again. It was a game of hide and seek—the storm reached for us and we dodged out of its way—until we reached the coast of Ireland.

At Cape Valencia, our speed in spite of temporary adverse winds was more than 200 kilometers an hour. We then saw the Atlantic rolling under us. We were leaving the Old World behind. We went on hour after hour.

A few hundred miles west of the Irish coast we ran into a bank of cirrus clouds, indicative of more storms to come. We were ready for a fight with ocean and winds. The visibility lowered and we had to swing further northward than we had planned. For a time it seemed as though we might have to go to Iceland and go inland there. That was not a pleasant prospect.

CLEAR PATH FOUND

Again we started playing hide and seek. I shifted our course to the north, then southward. Everywhere the clouds marshaled their forces to block our way. Finally after innumerable changes of direction we found a clear path. Not only did we escape the storms for a while, but found favorable winds, too, to carry us beyond. This good fortune lasted most of that day and into the night.

Of the night there is little to be said. The fog blanketed the ocean with startling swiftness. We could not see the water beneath nor the stars above. Never have I known darkness so complete. It became monotonous. Only the song of the motor and the tedious watch of the instruments. We yearned for daylight and relief came to us when we saw it.

We computed our position as 35 deg. north, 46 west at the coming of the dawn. This indicated to us how capricious the weather had caused us to make our path.

Our next objective was Nova Scotia.

MORE CLOUDS

And again we had to search for a clear path around new storms. We dodged through areas of cloud, seeking favorable winds. We did not know whether the last of the journey would be smooth. We knew that we must find the best route to Nova Scotia. That was one of the danger points.

It was then that we began the long dodge of 100 miles to get into clear weather and when at last we had found it, the very motor seemed to rejoice. We tore along the coast at top speed, certain that we had conquered the Atlantic.

There were many exciting moments during our trip and at times I could not be sure from one minute to the next—now that it is all over—which was the greatest thrill. I think, however, that it came after we first sighted the coast of North America.

FOLLOWING COAST LINE

As you know the coast of Nova Scotia is full of bends and turns, fills and rivers, promontories and little gulfs. When we reached the coast we were determined not to lose sight of it again. In order to keep it in view we had to follow all these devious turns and that was a job. At the same time we had another problem. The sky was overcast, it was raining and we had to fly below those rain clouds. Sometimes they were extremely low, which made it necessary for us to fly as close to the water as ten meters.

We came to one bend and turned it. We flew on skirting a precipice. Suddenly there loomed up out of the mist another precipice on our port side. We were caught between the steep banks of a river — what river I do not know. It was a tight place. Bellonte was at the controls at that time and he had to think fast. Fortunately having flown thousands of miles the ship was light. Bellonte gave her the gas and shot upward.

CLOSE ESCAPE

It is not pleasant to think how close we came to those cruel, jagged rocks. We went up fairly high and began to fly steadily by instrument. Some time passed before the clouds and the rain cleared somewhat and then we were over what I called the Gulf of Maine. We came lower down a little later, through a new bank of fog, and headed down the coast until we were over a large city.

We were so interested in trying to determine what city it was that it never occurred to us that this was the first great city we had passed since leaving Paris. Only a few minutes later we passed another city and now there was no doubt. We identified it as Boston. We continued the flight without further incident before landing at Valley Stream.

This is the second time that I have been in New York and though my first reception here was very warm it could not of course compare in any away with the reception I received tonight. It touched me greatly. I was also very much touched to find that Col. Lindbergh had come to greet me with Mrs. Lindbergh.

COSTE MEETS PRESS IN BED

Flyer Thanks America for Warm Welcome Before Seeking Much-Needed Sleep

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—Capt. Dieudonne Coste sat up in bed, clad in orange-striped pajamas, to receive reporters who visited him tonight at the hotel to which he and his companion, Maurice Bellonte, were whisked from Curtiss Field.

In a soft voice, with a slight smile, he motioned toward the bed next him where Bellonte slept the sound slumber of the exhausted.

"Quiet, please, quiet," he said. Though Coste had not closed his eyes for more than forty-five hours and obviously was very tired, he expressed his pleasure at the reception America gave him.

"Will you boys of the newspapers," his interpreter translated as he spoke, "give this great American people my thanks for their graciousness.

"Lindbergh was there at the field and nothing gave me greater pleasure than to see him and talk to him. I am very happy to arrive here."

LEGGE CITES ADVANCE MADE BY AGRICULTURE

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 2. (AP)—A distinct step forward has been made by agriculture, said Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, in an address here today, in securing recognition of the fact that agriculture as an industry is entitled to the same consideration at the government's hands as other industries have received.

"Perhaps the soundest advice we can give to agriculture is contained in the one word, 'organize,'" he said.

Why should a school child have a Waterman's?

Any writing teacher will tell you quickly enough! It's just this—the better the pen, the better the handwriting. Don't handicap your child—give him the best.

Waterman's pens write better. Ask any bookkeeper, or other steady users of pens. He'll tell you that the way a fountain pen writes depends on two things—the pen point itself, and how the ink flows to the point.

Waterman's make their own gold pen points and have done so for 47 years—no wonder they are better. Then, every Waterman's has the patented spoon feed which brings the ink to the pen point just as it is needed—no skimping, no blotting.

Every Waterman's has these features—writes better. Select the one that suits your purse and your child's hand. It will amply repay both of you for years to come. There is a wide choice of Waterman's pens suited for school use. Those illustrated are $4 and $5. Others both higher and lower in price. All are fine writing instruments. Always use Waterman's Inks—for school and general correspondence Waterman's new Blue Ink is especially good—a clear, bright blue, easy to read and easy on the eyes.

Every Waterman's is guaranteed forever against defects. Service Stations are maintained at the addresses below for the purpose of making good our guarantee and for servicing our pens as required.

FEDERAL AGENT SHORTAGE TOLD

Prohibition Data Showing Lack of Aides Given

Eleventh District Has One Officer in 2550 Miles

Woodcock Prepares to Make Plea Before Congress

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—The eleventh prohibition enforcement district, comprised of California, Nevada and Hawaii has one Federal enforcement agent for each 2550 square miles of area and 56,773 units of population.

These figures were made public today by Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, new prohibition enforcement chief, as a part of a tabulation covering the entire country which Woodcock has prepared in support of the plea he plans to make to Congress next winter for 500 additional Federal agents.

For the nation, the tabulation shows one Federal prohibition agent for every 2032 square miles and each 71,773 units of population.

There are 1737 of the agents, all told, and they cover 3,532,737 square miles of territory having a total population of 124,669,197. The enforcement budget for this force amounts to 7,555,347 for this year, which is only a little over $2 per square mile.

BACKING ASSERTIONS

Woodcock believes these figures back up his assertion that the Federal enforcement force is "pitiably inadequate" to handle the job assigned to it.

The statistics show New York to be most heavily policed from a Federal prohibition standpoint. Compared to other States it is overrun with government agents. New York and Porto Rico comprise the second enforcement district. In that district there is one agent to each 163 square miles and every 48,320 of population.

Next to New York the third district, comprised of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware has proportionately the most Federal prohibition agents, the number being 209 for 85,720 square miles, or one agent for each 287 square miles and every 66,543 persons in a total population of 13,907,209.

The table as a whole indicates that Federal enforcement is most rigid in the East.

In the sixth district embracing Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, there is one agent for each 1128 square miles and each 103,817 units of population.

OTHER DISTRICTS

Statistics for other districts follow:

First district—Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island: One Federal officer to each 720 square miles and each 97,850 units of population.

Fourth district—Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and District of Columbia: One agent to each 919 square miles and each 63,091 units of population.

Fifth district—Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas: One agent to each 2656 square miles and every block of 84,691 inhabitants.

Seventh district—Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana: One agent to each 1057 square miles and each 97,814 of population.

Eighth district—North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa: One agent to each 3668 square miles and 77,804 of population.

Ninth district—Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas: One agent to each 2696 square miles and each 96,536 units of population.

ASKS FOR 500 MORE

Tenth district—Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico: One agent to each 6734 square miles and 41,735 units of population.

Twelfth district — Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Alaska: One agent to each 9044 square miles and each 38,232 units of population.

Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware rank third in the cost of enforcing prohibition. New York is first with a budget of $1,807,520, or 3 cents per capita. The fifth district, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, is second with a total of $979,850, or 2.07 cents per capita, and Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware are third with a budget of $903,955, or 6 cents per capita.

Col. Woodcock feels these figures should convince Congress that a request for 500 additional enforcing agents is reasonable. He stresses the fact that while New York has 293 enforcement agents and Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware 209, some of the districts have as low as sixty. Taking the country as a whole he averages the number of square miles per officer at 1842 and the average population per officer as 65,097.

HONESTY BEST DRY POLICY

Prohibition Enforcement School's First Lesson Based on Old Copybook Maxim

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—The school for prohibition officers planned by Amos W. W. Woodcock, chief of prohibition enforcement, was opened today with twenty-four picked officers from various parts of the country in attendance. These men will receive instruction for thirty days and then will be sent out to instruct other agents.

As the first lesson of the course here with the rights of innocent persons," he declared. "We don't want them to go beyond the law. We want them to do their work in a professional way. We want them to exercise an honesty that is not outward but of the spirit and soul. We want them to be agents who get pleasure and delight out of being honest."

Mr. Woodcock promulgated a policy of strict honesty as the basis of enforcement and asserted that the old days of disorderly, rough and tough prohibition agents are gone forever.

Intellectual and moral honesty were urged upon the men and they were instructed to keep shy of "border line cases."

"Don't urge agents to make border line cases," he said. "We are not interested now in test cases. The law is sufficiently clear cut to go forward and make straight cases for a year at least. The law and court decisions now make it clear how far agents can go and how far they cannot go."

"I don't want agents to get into habits of slipshod mental processes," declared Col. Woodcock, "so they will answer in court the way they think a lawyer wants questions answered. That isn't honest. It isn't decent."

An "earnest and at the same time sane and sensible" appeal for improvement of the morale of the prohibition service was made by Col. Woodcock.

"We don't want agents to intrigue with the prosecutor or make deals. We want them to be honest with the court. We want them to be honest with the people. We want them to be honest with themselves. We want them to be honest with the Government. We want them to be honest with the defendant. We want them to be honest with the witnesses. We want them to be honest with the jury. DROUGHT PERIL PRESSES AGAIN

Secretary Hyde Expresses New Apprehension

Rains in Great Lakes Area Still Withheld

Weather Bureau Records Dry Spell as Worst Yet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(Exclusive)—Apprehension over the spread of the drought area northward over Northern Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan was expressed today by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, chairman of President Hoover's Federal relief committee.

After studying reports from county agents and that of the United States Weather Bureau Secretary Hyde declared that nearly all of the western part of the Great Lakes area is suffering from lack of rainfall during the last thirty days with serious damage to a few growing crops.

"The drought is not over yet," said Mr. Hyde. "It seems that a new drought may be starting in the area north of the belt so hard hit in July and the first part of August. Fortunately a large part of the production of wheat and small grains is harvested."

The rising prices of corn, live stock and other commodities due to the drought partly has compensated farmers in the Central States for their losses, Mr. Hyde said.

Secretary Hyde had before him a Weather Bureau report showing that none of the States in the new drought area had more than half the normal rainfall during August. During the month Illinois had only 49 per cent of the normal precipitation; Indiana, 34 per cent; Iowa, 7 per cent; Michigan, 25 per cent and Wisconsin, 25 per cent. The Secretary compared these percentages with those of August, 1901, the year of the worst drought heretofore, showing them to be lower for all the States except Iowa.

"The Weather Bureau tells me the 1930 drought, from the standpoint of the area affected and the amounts of rainfall, is the worst on record," the Secretary commented.

GANDHI HOLDS PEACE OF INDIA

Government's Offer Given Leader Today

Moderate Nationalists will Urge Acceptance

Terms Characterized as Fair Compromise

(Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune.)

BOMBAY, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—Upon the shoulders of India's "holy man," sitting behind prison bars working away at his spinning wheel, now rests the responsibility for peace or a continuance of revolution in India.

The two peacemakers, Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar, moderate Nationalists, arrived in Bombay this morning and proceeded to Poona tonight. Tomorrow they will present the government's final proposals to Mahatma Gandhi at the Yeravda jail, and by tomorrow night, or Thursday, the world will know whether the first nonviolent revolution in history will be called off or continued.

Breaking the silence he has maintained since the peace parleys began, Mr. Jayakar in an exclusive interview this afternoon outlined the negotiations. He placed the entire responsibility for the future squarely with Mr. Gandhi and revealed that the British are now willing to grant "peace with honor," which has been nationalism's war cry.

FAIR COMPROMISE

"Everything is now up to Mr. Gandhi," said Jayakar. "It is his to say whether there will be peace or war. With such responsability he will, I hope, choose peace.

"The terms we are bringing him are not those which the conqueror could expect to receive. They are not all the Nationalist Congress asked for. But they are a fair compromise, and as an Indian patriot I think they represent peace with honor, and should be accepted. The government has never been prepared to go so far to meet the Nationalists' demands as now, and unless they are accepted I am afraid we will never get more favorable terms unless we emerge from the struggle as clear conquerors.

"I hope that Mr. Gandhi will accept them and I am going to plead with him with all of my ability to do so."

TERMS OF OFFER

Mr. Jayaker is himself a leader in the Indian Nationalist party, as opposed to Mr. Gandhi's Swaraj party in the legislative assembly. He led the boycott of the Simon Commission and stands for independence under dominion status. But he disagrees with Gandhi's method of attaining it.

It is learned from another source that the government's proposals demand first the immediate calling off of the civil disobedience campaign; second, the end of the boycott on British goods, and third, participation of the congress in the London conference. The government in return, is pledged to accept as a basis for the round-table discussions the "substance of independence," with safeguards allowing transitory British control of army, foreign affairs and civil service.

The government agrees also to release all political prisoners.

ARMORY RAIDERS BELIEVED CAPTURED

CALCUTTA (India) Sept. 2. (AP)—After a sharp battle police today arrested several men believed to be leaders in the raid on Chittagong last April 18.

The raiders, 100 in number and well armed, killed seven men, burned and looted the Chittagong police armories and escaped into the hills pursued by the Gurkha troops under British officers. Several times officials believed capture of the leaders was imminent but not until they received news the fugitives had taken refuge in Chandernagore, a French possession, did they make definite progress.

Obtaining special permits from French authorities, the police besieged a house where the men were hiding. Much shooting ensued, but no report of casualties has been received here.

Malta Fever Fatal to Man Prominent in Coast Athletic Circles

SPOKANE (Wash.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Dr. Martin Fuller Angell of Moscow, Idaho, prominent educator and widely known in Pacific Coast athletic circles, died at a hospital here today.

Dr. Angell, who was 52 years of age, was dean of the college of letters and sciences at the University of Idaho and for two years was executive dean of the southern branch of the university at Pocatello. For several years he had been secretary of the Pacific Coast Conference.

He had been ill for several months of what was diagnosed as undulent, or Malta fever.

CANADA TRADE PACT WITH BRITISH URGED

TORONTO, Sept. 2. (AP)—A reciprocal trade policy between Great Britain and Canada was urged by Lord Melchett, member of the House of Lords and widely known industrialist, in an address last night before an influential group of Canadian business men at York Club.

If Canada is to sell her wheat to Britain she must be prepared to buy British goods in return, the speaker declared. The British Empire, he added, is potentially the greatest economic unit in history, but strength is being wasted through the individualistic trade policies of its dominion.

Mounting of 18-k. white gold with eight fine diamonds. Priced at $55 to include transfer of your stone.

THE STONE itself is the most valuable part of your diamond ring. But, because its setting was made years ago, your diamond ring is out-of-date, old-fashioned. Its contrast with the new styles makes it almost ugly and so you put it away and lose the satisfaction that comes from the wearing of a beautiful and valuable diamond.

Why not dress it up in a new, modern mounting? It is our experience that no purchase made in a jewelry store affords as much unexpected delight as the transfer of a diamond from an outmoded to a modern platinum or gold setting with small diamonds. By this means you get all the value of a complete new piece of jewelry at the cost of the setting only. And because of your familiarity with the unattractive old ring, from which the diamond was taken, the contrast of the brilliant new effect is intensified.

The Slavick organization makes a specialty of fine diamond mountings. A standing order with the foremost designer in all America brings us every new creation the moment it is finished. A most interesting variety of settings for diamonds of all sizes is now at your command. May we show you an appropriate setting for your stone?

Slump in Mail Aids Idleness

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—Arch Coleman, assistant Postmaster-General, today attributed unemployment conditions among substitute carriers and clerks to an "unusual slump" in mail volume.

"Mail in the last three months has fallen off as much as 20 per cent in some cities," Coleman said. "The offices in New York and Chicago have fallen off about 15 per cent this August as compared with August a year ago, an unusual discrepancy. As a result, substitutes are working on an average of three or four hours a day instead of five to seven hours a day."

Akron Entry in Balloon Race Farthest from Start

Official Announcement Not Yet Made, However

Belgian Entry Appears Safe in Second Place

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2. (AP)—Officials of the nineteenth annual Gordon Bennett International Balloon Race here believed tonight that the United States had won the event, when they received an Associated Press report that Ward T. Van Orman of Akron had landed the Goodyear VIII near Canton, Mass., at 9:15 p.m.

This belief was based on measurements on the meteorological map at the municipal airport, which gave Van Orman's distance from the airport where his balloon and five others started late yesterday as 550 miles.

BELGIANS SECOND

Capt. Ernest Demuyter, pilot of the Belgian entry, the Belgica, landed near Adams, Mass., which was calculated on the map to be 435 miles from the starting point.

The distance the Barmen, the German entry, piloted by Dr. Hugo Kaulen, Jr., and Carl Goetze, Jr., covered was calculated as 625 miles. It was forced down at Pittsfield, N. Y.

It was calculated the City of Detroit, one of the three entries from the United States, traveled 400 miles when it came down in a brick yard at Coeymans, twelve miles south of Albany, N. Y. The pilot was E. J. Hill and his aide Arthur Schlosser.

NEXT TO LAST

Roland J. Blair with his aide, F. A. Trotter, who won the 1930 national balloon race, flew their City of Cleveland, the other American entry, 350 miles according to the calculations. Blair, in a long-distance telephone conversation tonight with race headquarters, said he tried to bounce his balloon on the ground and send it up again to gain altitude. The bag was torn on a tree, technically disqualifying it. Its landing was near Copenhagen, N. Y.

The French entry, Pierre Fiabach, was able to reach only 160 miles, according to the calculations. It descended at Smithville, Ont.

NINTH FOR AMERICA

If Van Orman is declared the winner this will be the ninth time that Gordon Bennett cups have gone to an entrant from the United States. This will be the third race that Van Orman has won. The 535 miles which he is estimated to have traveled is somewhat lower than the average mileage attained by the Gordon Bennett racers. It was a longer flight than he made last year to win the eighteenth annual race, when he flew from St Louis to Troy, O., a distance of 341 miles.

Having started at the Cleveland Airport at 3:30 p.m., the Goodyear VIII was in the air twenty-seven hours and fifty-five minutes.

FIRE FIGHTERS GET TRYOUT

Blaze Next Door Interrupts Oakland Convention of Coast Chiefs

OAKLAND, Sept. 2. (AP)—Some 2000 visiting fire chiefs had to go to work today when fire broke out next to the hall where they were holding their convention.

The firemen were listening to a lecture on fire fighting and prevention at the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs.

Theory suddenly changed to actuality when some one shouted "fire."

Thousands on Sacramento Grounds Fourth Day

Southland Counties Capture Sweepstake Prizes

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—California's seventy-sixth annual State fair rolled through its fourth day with thousands of visitors inspecting the exhibits, live stock and blooded horse flesh, and with dinners and luncheons held by the Soroptimist and Ad clubs. State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson was the speaker at the Ad Club luncheon.

The fair attendance is holding up much better than the directors had anticipated after last year's record-breaking fair. Close to 200,000 persons have visited the exposition thus far and there are still five days remaining.

"After the record-breaking fair of last year," said R. A. Condee of Chino, president of the board of directors, "a natural falling-off in attendance was anticipated. From the figures for the first three days, however, it appears that the attendance this year will compare favorably with the best records in the exposition's history. The directors are immensely pleased."

The Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, co-operating with the fair directors, today made preparations for the reception to be given Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Mrs. Rolph, who have accepted the invitation to be the guests of Gov. and Mrs. Young at the fair on Thursday.

Ventura and Santa Barbara counties were awarded first prizes in the sweepstakes for avocados and walnuts, respectively. Orange county was second, and Santa Barbara county third for avocados, and Ventura county was second for walnuts and third for beans. San Luis Obispo county was third for almonds and plant vegetables. Orange county won first prize for citrus fruit, San Bernardino county second, and San Diego county, third.

STOCKTON SISTERS SHINE IN SPELLING BEE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2 (AP)—The free-for-all spelling bee at the California State Fair brought out two sisters of Stockton as good spellers when Mrs. Helen Benoyer handled 100 words correctly for the first prize of $200 and Miss Ruth Lonsdale spelled ninety-nine out of 100 correctly, tying with Mrs. Bertha Landis of Lincoln, Placer county, for second place. Second prize is $100 cash.

Miss Lonsdale and Mrs. Landis were to compete again in a written match. Mrs. Benoyer won in the 1926 and 1927 spelling bees, while her sister, Miss Lonsdale, is a "novice." Mrs. Landis is a winner in a former contest.

The entry defeated in the written contest will take third honors yielding a cash stake of $75.

Alexander Winton takes Bride In New York Week After Losing Third Mate

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—Alexander Winton, 70-year-old Cleveland automobile magnate, and Mrs. Mary E. Avery, 47, a concert singer, also of Cleveland, were married today at the Marble Collegiate Church. It was Winton's fourth marriage, and his bride's third.

Winton's third marriage to Mrs. Marion Campbell Winton, composer of light opera, ended in Cleveland two weeks ago, when she was granted a divorce.

ARGENTINA WAR MINISTER QUITS

Other Members of Cabinet Expected to Resign

President Still Ill with His Temperature High

Force of Marines Visits Port; University Raided

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 2. (AP)—Gen. Luis Dellepiane, Minister of War in the Cabinet of President Yrigoyen, today sent his resignation to the President, saying he is unable to continue direction of the country's military forces.

La Nacion's political experts believe the resignation will be followed by those of other members of the Cabinet, among them Jose Abalos, Minister of Public Works; Vice-Admiral Tomas Zurueta, Minister of Marine, and possibly others.

Conflicting rumors continue to circulate in the city. Meanwhile officials at the Government House are uncommunicative. President Yrigoyen's illness continues and his temperature remains high.

A force of marines disembarked in the port early today, but returned to their ships after dawn. Police raided the University Popular (the People's University) and searched for firearms, but without success. The raid caused general surprise and intensified rumors of student activity in political circles. None of the students was arrested, however.

The destroyers Lariuja and Mendoza anchored in the port, bringing the strength of the fleet to eleven vessels.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Bloody days followed restless nights in comfortless cells, where vermin and rodents joined forces to banish rest. When the games began there had been twelve inmates in the cell occupied by Tarzan, but now three empty rings dangled against the stone wall, and each wondered whose turn would come next.

The one hope they had was in Tarzan, who had promised to lead them all to freedom when the auspicious time came. It seemed a mad hope, but Tarzan inspired faith. In conversation with Praeclarus, he tried to figure some way in which they might obtain the keys to the cells that Praeclarus had hidden away.

Their conspiratorial conversation was interrupted by the approach of a detachment of the palace guard. The jailer unlocked the door and a man entered with two torch-bearers behind him. It was Festus. "I have come to invite my good friend, Maximus Praeclarus, to my wedding," he said.

If he had looked to surprise Praeclarus into an exhibition of anger, he failed, for the young patrician ignored him completely. The prince was infuriated. Stepping forward he slapped Praeclarus in the face and then spat upon him, but in doing so he came too close to Tarzan and the ape-man seized him by the ankle.

These artists will appear at 1:30 to 2:30 this afternoon at the show and their music will go out by remote control to radioland. Other stars of KNX will include the Musical Calangis Family, Theodore Kittay, Jack Carter, Ray Golden and Ethel Kay, Bill Hatch and his Novelty Violins, Peggy Matthews, Horse Fly and His Wranglers—and last, but not least—KNX's newest and most versatile artist, Gene Byrnes, late of KHJ. Gene can wield a mean set of fingers on an organ, compose music, comedy skits and drag a chuckle out of a funeral.

From 4:30 to 5 p.m. KFOX's Three Vagabonds will entertain; then at 7 p.m. Len Nash and his Country Boys. At 8 tonight Horse Fly and His Wranglers, while Gus Arnheim and His Musical Cocoanuts of the Cocoanut Grove—from 10 to 10:30 p.m.

TIMES GUESTS OF HONOR

The Times Booth, No. 39, at the Radio Show tonight will have as its guests of honor Harry Carr, editorial staff writer; Alma Whitaker and Frank Roche of The Times staff; Jennie Burkee, instrumentalist; Norma Gregg, soprano; Leon Sainsper, baritone; Louise Miller, studio accompanist, and the following participants of the former Children's Hour: Patricia Eccleson, "Daffodil," Vyola Von, "Wild Rose," Nona Lee, "Sunshine Fairy," and Patricia Craig. A welcome will await friends of The Times booth.

THEY TELL US THAT—

Gene Byrne, late of KHJ and now of KNX, will be heard daily at 4 o'clock in a half-hour recital on the pipe organ, and on Tuesday and Thursday mornings in a program entitled "Scraps fro mthe Wastebasket." His characterizations, "Discount Standard MacWebster," threatens to break loose shortly and stampede the King's English as it did on the Merrymakers programs.

KHJ's Romantic Forty-Niners tonight dedicate the period to the old Pony Express riders; you can see and hear everything but the dust on the trails.

Since Wesley Tourtellotte and Elvia Allman of KHJ walked down the marital aisle—the watching hour of midnight brings delightful organ compositions with no less delightful vocal solos by Elvia.

Jose Rodriguez, KFI's program manager, phones to say Dane Rudhyar, is a foremost exponent of the philosophy and technique of the modern school of music. His subject over KFI at 8:30 tonight will be "The Romantic Issue."

For the movie fan—Mary Doran appears tonight at 8:30 over KHJ; then Bessie Love and Gus Shy at 7:30 on KHJ's California Melodies period.

KFWB romps up with the sun at 8 this morning—its Breakfast Club Frolic. "A Morning in Gay Madrid" is the title of the program—a brilliant Spanish program is promised. What better to open one's eyes than Iberian music and song.

"Bill" Tilden, America's tennis ace—KECA, at 8:30—interviewed by Grantland Rice.

KTM's Bill Sharples at 8 tonight —attempts "A Program for Everyone." A most commendable effort.

Play a little game this week—everyone in the family visualize what some radio artist to whom you have listened but never seen, looks like. Then visit the Radio Show—you may see them there.

WITNESS ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Man Who Testified for Police Slayer Arrested as He Leaves Court

Accused of giving perjured testimony in behalf of Juan Reyna, on trial before Superior Judge McComb for the murder of Verne Brindley, Los Angeles police officer, Jesus De Leon was arrested by deputy sheriffs yesterday as he left the courtroom. The arrest was made at the order of Ugene Bialock, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case.

De Leon was released later on his own recognisance by means of a writ of habeas corpus.

According to Bialock, De Leon testified that he has seen Reyna twice on the streets of Los Angeles since the murder, when, in fact, Reyna has been confined in the County Jail at all times. He also testified that the defendant, Reyna, was knocked down by police officers and taken to Central Station in a patrol wagon, when, in fact, the prisoner was transported in a gray touring car.

The complaint charges that Reyna, after being arrested on a traffic charge, shot Brindley with the officer's own revolver as he was being taken to jail. L. E. Williams, another officer, was wounded.

Reyna, represented by C. V. Rude, contends that he shot the officer only after he had been beaten over the head with revolver butts until he was irresponsible.

Maywood Mayor and Councilman Lose in Recall

Maywood recalled its Mayor and one Councilman at an election held yesterday, when Oscar E. Johnson was named the new chief executive supplanting William E. Heath. Councilman Fred H. Brewer also was recalled and Earl E. Horton was elected in his stead.

A straw vote, taken on Sunday dancing, showed 644 votes for and 388 against.

Mayor Heath, on the proposition of being recalled, received 686 votes favoring his retirement and 385 votes favoring his continuing in office. Johnson received 663 votes, some refraining from voting on but one proposition, the retirement question, and not voting for a new Mayor. Horton received 662 votes for Councilman. Opponents of Heath charged inefficiency.

Officer Denies Murder Guilt

Luther R. Weyant, Los Angeles police officer charged with the murder of Willie Teems, yesterday pleaded not guilty before Superior Judge Wood. His trial was fixed for the 19th inst. in Superior Judge Aggeler's court.

The complaint accuses the officer of shooting the youth as he was fleeing from officers who raided a dice game in a vacant lot near Watts. The shooting occurred on August 2, last.

BOTULISM KILLS GIRL, OTHERS ILL

Torrance Family, After Eating Home-Canned Fish, Stricken with Disease

Five members of one family living in Torrance, it was learned yesterday, contracted botulism from eating home-preserved tuna fish last Friday, and one of the victims, Josephine Lupo, 18 years of age, died at the Torrance Memorial Hospital on Monday, while her mother is seriously ill at the hospital.

The girl was the daughter of Paul Lupo, a farmer living at Vermont avenue and Carson street in Torrance. Two weeks ago a friend presented the family with some tuna, which the mother preserved in jars. Last Friday the first of the jars was opened and its contents shared at a meal eaten by Lupo and his wife, their daughter, their son Joe and Mrs. Lupo's father.

It was not until Sunday morning that the symptoms which began to be manifested particularly by Mrs. Lupo and her daughter were thought to be serious enough to call in a physician. Then Dr. J. S. Lancaster of Torrance was called and he immediately had the girl, her mother and the latter's father removed to the hospital. The illness of Lupo and his son never developed seriously enough to cause them to be sent to the hospital.

There a temporary diagnosis of botulism was made which was confirmed when Dr. Lancaster called in Dr. Smiley, the local county health officer, and the remaining eight jars of the tuna fish were taken to the county health department laboratories and there the spores of the dread disease were found in all of them.

DAMAGE SUIT AIMED AT PHYSICIAN BEGUN

Trial of a suit for $50,000 damages, instituted by Charles E. Barker against Dr. F. W. Siegmund, began yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Tryon's court. Barker, 18 years of age, brought suit in the name of his sister, Dorothy Foster, his legal guardian. The youth asserts that, on August 23, 1929, he suffered serious injuries to his foot when his car was in collision with an automobile driven by the physician at Berendo and San Marino streets.

BERKELEY, Sept. 2. (Exclusive.) Succumbing to a heart attack while being questioned by detectives, Dr. Robert Bruce Hatt, 47 years of age, dropped dead in the police station today. Dr. Hatt, a chiropractor, was accused of performing illegal operations.

INTERNATIONAL LAW HOPE FELT

John W. Davis Gives Talk at World Gathering

Long Time Expected to be Needed for Task

Difficulty Shown by Variety of Laws in States

NEW YORK, Sept. 2, (AP)—John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain and Democratic Presidential nominee, told the International Law Association at its first session today that establishing rules of international conduct is a long and arduous but not impossible task.

"The obvious motto must be 'festina lenta' (make haste slowly.)" Mr. Davis said. "Indeed, any other course transcends the bounds of the impossible. As the program for this meeting exemplifies, the attack must be made in detail and not by a charge all along the line."

EXAMPLE GIVEN

Pointing out the difficulties incumbering the patch to codification of international law, Mr. Davis gave the example of the forty-eight United States. Despite their unguarded borders, their similarity of language and of thought, only two uniform laws of forty-four proposed by the national conference of commissioners on uniform State laws have been adopted by all the States, and these have been so amended and interpreted as to destroy in large part "the uniformity so hardly won."

If the United States in thirty years can show only these two laws —the law of negotiable instruments and the law of warehouse receipts —as the fruit of co-operative legal effort, he said, how much longer must be the road to international agreement on legal matters.

JUDGMENTS AWAITED

Mr. Davis said that in the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague the world has a tribunal "whose pronouncements may be counted on through the years to build a body of legal precedents none the less compelling because they have the flexibility of judicial formulation rather than the rigidity of legislative enactment."

The first act of the conference today was the signing by Lord Blanesburgh of the report for the year, which contained the results of the elections made by the executive committee, including that of Chief Justice Hughes as honorary vice-president.

There are 150 delegates from twenty-five countries in attendance. The conference continues until next Tuesday.

ANDREE'S BONES TAKEN ASHORE

were followed by the county Sheriff and representatives of the city.

GUESSES OFFERED ON REASON OF TRAGEDY

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3. (AP)—The question of what caused the failure of the Andree expedition is being debated throughout Scandinavian scientific circles since the discovery of the explorers' bodies on White Island.

The opinion among those best qualified to hazard a guess is that it was due to leakage of gas from the balloon.

Eyewitnesses to the departure from Dane's Island, Spitsbergen, agree the balloon was injured as it left the temporary building in which it had been inflated and though the drag lines parted at the very start the balloon sank so low the gondola touched the water a few minutes after setting free.

DAMAGE INDICATED

This was in spite of the fact that the weight of the rope lost was more than half a ton. Normally the balloon should have shot up in the air.

Notes left by Andree himself indicate the balloon was probably damaged during a storm on July 7, or four days before the start. He wrote in his diary, sent back before the start:

"It seems to me that after so much delay we are entitled, if not obligated, to make our departure."

The year before he had felt much humiliated by the necessity of returning without making a start, because of the unfavorable winds, and it is probable he had made up his mind to get off regardless of circumstances. In his determination to start, his two companions and the alternate, Capt. Svedenborg, fully shared.

Prof. Nils G. Ekholm, who was a member of Andree's party that was to have left in 1896, told the Swedish Geographical Society on November 19, 1897, four months after the departure of the expedition, that Andree's balloon could not have reached the northern coast of Alaska or eastern Siberia in less than twelve days.

DOUBT EXPRESSED

He said it was doubtful whether any balloon could stay up that long.

Dr. Eckholm then advanced the guess the explorers had decided to come down near what then was known as Francis Joseph Land and had some hope of returning on foot with their sledges, as Fridtjof Nansen and other explorers had done.

This guess appears to have proved nearly correct, the bodies being found in the region indicated by Dr. Ekholm.

It was on account of gas leakage that Dr. Ekholm decided not to accompany the expedition in 1897. He had originally stipulated he would go only on condition the balloon would appear to stay afloat five times as long as the minimum period required for the transit to Bering Strait, or sixty days.

His calculation was that it would stay up at most nineteen days, while Andree himself figured twenty-six or twenty-seven days. On this point the two men decided to disagree and parted company.

KANSAS KILLER TO HANG

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Sept. 2 (AP)—Within earshot of the death cell workmen began erecting the scaffold today on which Carl Panzran will be hanged Friday for the murder of W. G. Warnke, foreman of the Federal prison laundry. It will be the first legal execution in Kansas since 1870.

STRAUS'S DAUGHTER BECOMES MOTHER

Princess Vladimir De Rachevsky

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive) S. W. Straus, head of the international banking house bearing his name, became the grand-daddy to a seven-pound princess yesterday when his daughter Harriett, the Princess Vladimir De Rachevsky, became a mother at Miss Lippincott's sanatorium.

The heiress married her Russian nobleman in December, 1929, at Greenwich, Ct. The new princess already has been named Vinaide from her duchess aunt, wife of Grand Duke Boris of Russia—that wing of the family related by marriage to Queen Marie of Rumania.

QUIZZERS URGED TO SIP OWN DOSE

17, the day before the committee concluded its last hearing here.

"Mrs. McCormick was eager to learn if any members of the investigating committee would be the sort of persons to have instigated the search of her files," Dannenberg said. He admitted he sent an operative to North Dakota to learn what he could of Senator Nye. Dannenberg then charged that the committee is not aware of methods employed by its investigators and urged the members to look closely into their activities.

This last statement brought a heated reply from Senator Dale of Vermont, a committee member, who declared that the committee is fully aware of what its investigators are doing and where they are. He complained vigorously of what he said have been efforts to misrepresent the committee's actions and motives and said the members have been pictured as "a bunch of contemptible crooks."

The committee issued subpoenas for eight men and one woman employee of the Dannenberg agency after Mrs. McCormick had issued a statement last night saying she had employed the detectives "in self-defense," and asking: "What is Senator Nye going to do about it?"

BIOGRAPHY ORDERED

Dannenberg testified Mrs. McCormick paid him $1500 as the first installment for a biography of Senator Nye. Asked by the Senator why he was singled out from all the committee members, Dannenberg answered:

"Because you were the only committee member in Chicago when the annoyances of which she complained occurred."

He said John and Earl Dannenberg, C. Clyde Albers and Kenneth Wilson were assigned by him to the work and added a man known as David Groh had approached Wilson frequently. Dannenberg said he believed Groh to be an agent employed by the committee. He stated Groh met Wilson three weeks ago, arranged to get records from the latter, and put Wilson on his pay roll for $42 a week. Wilson, Dannenberg continued, then turned over valueless material to Groh.

GROH NOT HIRED

Senator Nye denied Groh had been employed by the committee.

Dannenberg caused something of a sensation when he testified that, after the ransacking of Mrs. McCormick's Byron home, she found a strange woman in her apartment at the Drake Hotel here, and that "it was her (Mrs. McCormick's) opinion then and now is that the woman represented this committee."

Angered, Senator Dale shouted: "That's a serious charge!"

Senator Nye pressed Dannenberg to reveal the type of information collected concerning him.

"It would be unfair to give it now, since I don't have it complete," Dannenberg said. "After my men have gathered it and I have gone over it, I might form a judgment as to whether it would reflect on you."

Arkansas River Goes Over Bank

CANON CITY (Colo.) Sept. 2. (AP) The heaviest rainfall since 1921 caused the Arkansas River to rise five feet in an hour and a half, flooding basements in half the residential section and sending a flood of water through the business district here tonight.

Starting at the west end of the Royal Gorge, twelve miles west of here, the rain fell without interruption for more than an hour and a half.

DONALD DOWNS DIES OF HURTS

Week's Gallant Fight for Life Ends in Defeat

Youth Who Lost Arm in Trail Slide Succumbs

Ed Jordan, Victim Still in Same Camp, Improving

FRESNO, Sept. 2. (AP)—After making a gallant fight for his life for more than a week, Donald Downs of Glendale, whose arm was crushed in a mountain slide on Muir Trail last Tuesday morning, died late last night. Downs, one of four injured in the slide, died as preparations were being completed in Fresno to send in another surgeon to perform a second operation.

George Carry, one of Downs's companions who escaped injury in the slide, made a heroic run from the improvised hospital camp to Independence, twenty-five miles over rough trail, in an effort to get additional help when Downs's condition became grave. The injured youth's mother was with him, having gone in on horseback to assist the physician and two nurses in attendance.

Ed Jordan, of Dinuba, who has been cared for at the mountain camp near Mt. Whitney, was improved today despite pneumonia and may be brought out tomorrow.

An airplane carrying supplies to the camp crashed last night near Shepherd's Pass. The plane, piloted by Jack Schneider and carrying as a passenger Floyd Shellabarger, Independence forest ranger, dropped medical supplies at the hospital camp and was returning to Independence when it was forced down. Schneider and the ranger obtained saddle horses and returned to Independence.

Is the price of success beginning to tell?

THE path to achievement is lined with the headstones of men who couldn't stop work. Earnest, unselfish martyrs to the modern fetish of material success.

SPECIAL COURT MULCTS SOVIET

London Arbitration Tribunal Rules on Concession

Gold Field Exploiters Given $64,825,000 Damages

Judgment Collection Hard; Reds Laugh at Finding

LONDON, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—A finding against an absentee culprit by a special court of arbitration awarded Lena Goldfields, Ltd., a judgment for $64,825,000 against the soviet government today for violation of the company's concession for the development of vast mining properties in Russia.

The hearing has occupied nearly three weeks and the soviet authorities were not represented throughout the sessions. Moscow served a notice in advance that it would not recognize any decision reached at the hearing and it now seems a certainty that efforts to collect will wind a tedious way through diplomatic channels.

The company is faced with the problem of getting the money out of the soviet government which, according to today's findings, has repudiated its agreements and refused to recognize the court provided by the contract for the settlement of disputes.

The court was composed of Prof. Otto Stutzer of Freiburg University of Germany, a superarbitrator, and Sir Leslie Scott, appointed by the Lena company. The third seat of the bench reserved for the soviet was not filled.

M'KEE TRUSTS PLAN MERGER

American Capital Concern Makes Offer

Pacific Investing Board Votes Recommendation

Common Stock Exchange to be First Step

As the forerunner of the eventual consolidation of American Capital Corporation and the Pacific Investing Corporation, an offer has been made to stockholders of the latter company to exchange two and four-tenths shares of American Capital Corporation Class B common stock for each share of Pacific Investing common stock, according to letters sent to stockholders by Henry S. McKee, president of the two Los Angeles investment trusts.

There has always been a community of interest between the two corporations with the five directors of Pacific Investing constituting five of the seven members of the board of the American Capital Corporation, the letter stated in pointing out that economies of operation should be affected in the ultimate merger. The position of a $30,000,000 corporation, which would be the approximate resources of the two companies, in the capital market will be much stronger than that of two concerns of one-half that size.

The exchange of stock as now recommended by the directors does not affect in any way the asset protection or earning power, the protective provisions, rights or privileges of either the debentures, first preferred, second preferred or stock purchase warrants of Pacific Investing Corporation, according to the latter.

An added advantage in favor of the proposed exchange is that the market for American Capital Corporation Class "B" common stock is broader than that for Pacific Investing common stock and relatively higher, the stockholders were informed.

When Pacific Investing Corporation was organized three years ago, it reached the limit of size sooner than was expected and as further growth was limited by the corporate structure, two years ago the American Capital Corporation was formed with a capital set-up capable of sound enlargement with the merger design in view.

Directors of Pacific Investing Corporation are all depositing their Pacific Investing common stock for exchange under the plan and shareholders who accept the offer are requested to deposit their stock with the Bank of America of California, corporate trust department, Los Angeles.

Plan to Revive Celotex on Way

Details of the reorganization of the Celotex Company as outlined in a letter now being mailed to stockholders include the formation of a common stockholders' voting trust, establishment of a revolving credit plan, formation of a finance committee, changes in the personnel of the directorate, rights to stockholders to purchase approximately 55,300 common shares at $10 a share, the waiving of pre-emptive rights of preferred and common stockholders to subscribe to additional common shares and the granting to the interests which have arranged the credit and the underwriting of the company of five-year options to purchase 100,000 common shares or voting trust certificates, at $15 a share.

Stockholders have been called to a special meeting to vote on the proposals on the 24th inst. Stockholders asking for the deposit of other stockholders' shares in the voting trust agreement, state, in their opinion, the company is being operated on a sound manufacturing and merchandising basis. It is planned to list the voting trust certificates on the New York Stock Exchange. The preferred stock dividends ordinarily payable October 1, next, were passed. Earnings for eight months to June 30, last, were $114,409 after all charges and after excluding $103,818 nonrecurring income accruals.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAIL EARNINGS DECREASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive) Lehigh Valley Railroad reported today June quarter net income of $856,963 after all charges, equal after preferred dividends to 70 cents a share on 1,210,034 common shares, against $1,987,729 in the June, 1929, quarter, or $1.64 a common share. The half-year's net totaled $839,611, or 69 cents a share, against $3,863,587 in the first half of 1929, or $2.63 a share.

DEAL FOR EL PASO LINE ON

Western Air Express May Sell Los Angeles-El Paso Route to Aviation Corporation of Delaware

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Virtually assured, in partnership with T.A.T.-Maddux, of the Los Angeles-New York air-mail contract, the Western Air Express Corporation is now understood to have entered into negotiations with the Aviation Corporation of Delaware for the sale of its Los Angeles-El Paso route.

Terms discussed, according to well-founded information, involve a substantial cash payment by the Aviation Corporation for the El Paso line. This news will undoubtedly be construed as a bullish development on Western Air, since it is believed the company's cash position needs replenishment in order to finance contemplated extensions and improvements.

POSITION IMPROVED

If this deal goes through, Western Air Express also will be freed from the burden of operating the Los Angeles-El Paso line as purely a passenger transport line. From the manner in which the bidding for the new transcontinental mail routes was carried on, it appears that Western Air had the option of bidding on only one of the two routes in conformance with the government's program of splitting up the transcontinental business.

Western Air collaborated with T.A.T.-Maddux to bid for the central route in preference to the southern as the shorter and more profitable to operate. Formal announcement of the award of the New York-Los Angeles contract, regarded as the plum of the air mail, is expected this week.

Aviation Corporation, through its subsidiary, Southern Air Transport, now flies between El Paso and Atlanta, and another subsidiary plies between Chicago, St. Louis and Atlanta. The southern transcontinental route, as outlined by the Postmaster-General, requires the transportation of mail from Los Angeles to New York via El Paso and Atlanta.

In alliance with one or two other operators, Aviation Corporation is supposed to be working on a program to meet the government's specifications. This program must consider the purchase of the Western Air line from Los Angeles to El Paso, the only service over this route, and also an affiliation with a line flying from Chicago to New York.

MAY INCLUDE TERMINAL

Presumably the disposition of the El Paso line would also include the sale of the terminal in Los Angeles, a 165-acre field at Ninety-fourth street and Western avenue. This field was acquired by Western Air when the Aero Corporation of California was purchased, and represents an unnecessary investment in real estate since the completion of the Alhambra terminal.

Also acquired in the Aero Corporation deal was a flying school at Ninety-fourth and Western, sales rights on Alexander Eaglerock and Fokker planes, and service for Pratt & Whitney motors. Whether these divisions are included in the proposed sale is not known here.

Aero Corporation of California, founder of the Los Angeles-El Paso route, became a part of Western Air Express in March when the consolidation was formally approved.

It is interesting to note, in connection with the negotiations for the sale to Aviation Corporation, that Graham B. Grosvenor, president, and William D. Loucks, a director of the Delaware company, were elected to the Western Air board in January of this year.

In the field of chemical enterprise, this holding company and its subsidiaries represent one of the world's largest and well-rounded organizations. It controls important raw material sources, and maintains extensive and capable research engineering divisions. Acids, heavy chemicals, alkali, roofing and building materials, dyestuffs, nitrogen, and coal tar derivatives, are among the more important commercial chemical products manufactured by the company. The production and operation of by-product coke ovens and manufactured-gas plants is another important activity. A second unit of the new plant for the fixation of nitrogen from the atmosphere is now under construction at Hopewell, Va., the first unit having been put into operation early in 1929.

In 1929 earnings were the largest ever reported in the history of the company. While the six months' earnings report is not yet available, it is currently estimated on good authority that operating economies and expansion of profitable new lines have offset any detrimental effects of the current business depression and that net income would therefore probably approximate that for the initial six months' period of 1929.

IVEY RETURNS FROM TOUR OF NORTHWEST

Hesbert D. Ivey, president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, has returned to his desk following a four of Alaska and the Northwest. He reports business conditions in Alaska little affected by the general depression in the States, but prospering from a satisfactory fishing season and a good tourist trade. Throughout the Northwest conditions seem to be turning for the better. From observation, and from reports throughout the country, Mr. Ivey expresses the conviction that Southern California business compares more than favorably with other sections.

LAND BANK REVIVAL LOOMS

Plans for Reorganizing Kansas City Joint Stock Institution in Receivership Given Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—Details of the plans for reorganization of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank, which went into receivership in 1927, were made public today, opening the way for the solution of one of the most difficult problems of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau.

The plan, which has the indorsement of the protective committee of the bank's bondholders and of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau, provides for the sale of substantially all of the legally salable assets of the present bank and the establishment of two new corporate structures. A new joint stock plan bank and the liquidation company, to which will be transferred the entire capital stock of the new bank and all of the acquired assets remaining after carrying out the other provisions of the plan.

The plan is submitted by A. C. Stewart, San Francisco capitalist, after consultation with the bondholders' protective committee. Its acceptance is conditional upon the approval of holders of 95 per cent of the aggregate principal amount of the bond obligations of the present bank, or such lesser amount as Mr. Stewart may elect to accept as satisfactory. In view of the fact that the bondholders' committee represents considerably more than a majority of the bondholders, acceptance of the plan is regarded as assured.

According to the terms of the plan it is contemplated that substantially all of the assets of the present bank will be offered for sale. At this sale the committee and Mr. Stewart will bid, and if successful bidders will use the dividends then available on the participating bond obligations as far as possible for the acquisition of these assets. If they so acquire the assets of the bank and then find that the dividends available are insufficient to provide the entire payment, Mr. Stewart will provide at his own expense such cash as may be necessary to supply the deficiency and will thereupon become entitled to the benefits of certain options available to the bondholders to the same extent as though he had deposited under the plan a principal amount of bond obligations equal to the principal amount if any of such obligations which do not participate in the plan.

NET PROFITS HIGHER FOR PAPER UNITS

Crown Zellerbach and Willamette Earnings Up in First Quarter

Gross and net earnings of Crown Zellerbach Corporation and Crown Willamette Paper Company for the first quarter of their fiscal year ended July 31, last, were slightly higher than in the preceding quarter, according to statements of both companies issued jointly yesterday.

Crown Zellerbach Corporation and subsidiaries reported net income after all charges of $758,844, equivalent after preferred and preference dividends to 18½ cents a share on the 1,991,690 common shares outstanding at the end of the quarter. This compares with $750,669 earned in the preceding quarter or 18.1 cents a share on the same capital basis, and represents an increase of $8184.

Gross income before fixed charges aggregated $2,856,876 against $2,675,941 in the preceding quarter, a gain of $180,935 or more than 6 per cent.

Crown Willamette Paper Company and subsidiaries including Pacific Mills, Ltd., reported net profits after all charges including minority interests, of $639,353 against $522,197 in the preceding quarter ended April 30, an increase of $117,155 or more than 20 per cent. Gross profits aggregated $1,840,646 against $1,710,550 in the previous period, a gain of $130,096.

I. Zellerbach, president of Crown Zellerbach Corporation, stated that while gross earnings showed an increase, they continue to reflect the existing adverse general business conditions. He added, however, that indications point to a substantial increase in sales in the second quarter.

Public offering of $2,264,000 first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, Series A, of New York Water Service Corporation, controlled by Federal Water Service Corporation, a subsidiary of Tri-Utilities Corporation, will be made today by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., according to an announcement made yesterday.

The bonds, which will be due November 1, 1951, of which $13,290,000 will be outstanding upon completion of present financing, will be secured by a direct first mortgage on physical properties of the corporation, including properties to be acquired presently, appraised at over $18,170,000, and, in addition by a direct mortgage, subject only to $1,938,200 principal amount of prior lien obligations, on properties appraised at more than $5,355,000.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—The cotton market showed a generally steady tone during the greater part of today's trading, but recoveries from an early decline seemed to attract a little more southern and local selling.

After selling up from 11.18 to 11.42 for the new December contracts, or about 10 points higher on reports of continued slow marketing in the South, uncertainty as to the course of a tropical disturbance reported south of Porto Rico, and rather smaller private crop figures, prices eased off under realizing. The mid-afternoon market was quiet and about 6 to 10 points net lower.

LUMBER REVIVAL FORECAST

Minneapolis Leader in Industry Believes Business Depression Has Reached Bottom

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—While E. L. Carpenter, Minneapolis lumberman, does not believe that business in that industry during the last quarter of 1930 will equal that of the corresponding period of 1929, he is convinced that the worst of the business depression is over.

"I am of the opinion that we have about reached the bottom of the present economic reaction and that business conditions may be expected to improve from now on," says Mr. Carpenter. "The forces that are making for business recovery are in the ascendency but the recovery will be more gradual than many hope and believe, for the following reason:

"We have both in Canada and the United States, an accumulation of wheat from the harvests of a year ago. The prices of wheat and food grains generally are low, as are the prices of many of the standard commodities. In my judgment, because these low commodity values, we can hardly expect a return to normal business activity before the middle of next year."

Another well-known lumberman of the Middle West gives the "severe reduction" in residential construction as one of the outstanding tribulations" of the industry. Contracts for this class of building, reported for the first seven months of 1930, compared with the same period last year, showed a decrease of 49 per cent.

Stocks in the hands of retail lumbermen are reported as very low. Any business that is developed will show itself in an immediate demand on the manufacturer. Many retail yards are closing out old lines and cutting overhead to the bone. "Deadwood" is being eliminated.

The forces that are holding back the recovery of the lumber business today are: The low volume of residential construction, the difficulty of financing this class of construction in certain sections, the unsatisfactory agricultural conditions, and, in addition to this, the very great difficulty of "keeping the production of lumber leveled off with the demand."

One well-known lumberman, asked his opinion on the situation in lumber, expressed it as follows:

"We feel that we reached the bottom of the trough in July, but are somewhat uncertain as to just how wide the bottom of the trough is. It is now so late in the year that we are not expecting much from the remainder of it, except a gradual betterment in the way of increasing confidence, which we believe will result in considerable improvement, beginning in the early part of next year."

Equities Trust Issues Report Telling Status

American Equities Company reported yesterday book value of its common stock as of June 30, last, at $25.94 a share, against $25.86 a share on December 31, 1929, and after giving effect to the difference between cost and market value of marketable securities held, a book value of $25.27 a share, against $25.18. The trust was organized in August, last year, under the sponsorship of E. H. Rollins & Sons.

Total assets of American Equities amounted to $39,029,297, against current liabilities of $1,261,606. Cash, call loans and short-term loans accounted for $7,012,128 of the assets and marketable securities at cost, $6,561,386 which on June 30 had a market value of $6,580,774. Principal changes in these holdings, the report points out, represent purchases of preferred stocks and bonds as a temporary employment of the company's funds. Permanent investments, representing securities of corporations in the formation of whose policies American Equities participates, amounted to $15,652,242.

Net profits for the period August 21, 1929, to June 30, last, amounted to $944,664 after all charges, including organization and operating expenses, interest, and Federal income tax provision and for the six months ended June 30, $407,426 after similar charges. Gross income totaled $1,353,485 and $576,290, respectively, for the two periods.

Sparks Radio in Step to Merger

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—Sparks Withington Company has called a special meeting of stockholders for the 13th inst. to approve acquisition of Carbon-Phonocraft Corporation of Jackson, Mich., on the basis of an exchange of one share of its common stock for each three and one-half shares of Carbon stock now outstanding. A total of 228,861 shares of Sparks Withington will be necessary for the exchange.

Carbon Phonocraft Corporation is a manufacturer of radio tubes and combination radio and electric phonograph units. Sparks Withington has for some time purchased a large proportion of its radio tubes from Carbon and Carbon, in turn, has used Sparks Withington radio sets in its combination machines. Combined net earnings of the two companies for the year ended June 30, last, would have amounted to $2,432,069 after all charges including Sparks Withington preferred dividends.

INVESTMENTS
for Institutions

THE low current rate of call money...which has stood between 2% and 3% for several months...has directed the attention of banks and similar institutions toward high-grade bonds. These securities are already reflecting sharply the increased institutional buying.

For the consideration of this class of investor, we are prepared to submit a diversified selection of high-grade municipal, public utility and industrial bonds in both long and short-term maturities. These issues combine a high degree of marketability with a rate of return materially greater than that offered by call loans or commercial paper.

We shall be pleased to prepare recommendations for investments of any desired amounts without obligation.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—Resumption of trading in the bond market today was enlivened by wide movements in the Latin-American issues, strength of the Mexican issues and some of the Argentine issues contrasting with weakness in some of the Brazilians.

The advance of last week appeared to have lost some of its vigor, but there was again a good demand for high-grade domestic rails, telephone, electric power and industrial bonds. The day's turnover was $8,070,000, par value.

Most of the Mexican government issues mounted 1 to 3 points, to new highs, and National Railways of Mexico 4½s, which fell due four years ago, rose 2¾ to 18½. Speculation in these issues appeared to be based on private advices from Mexico indicating the recently negotiated Mexican debt agreement is meeting with approval in Mexico City.

In the Brazilians, State of Sao Paulo 7s of 1940 sank a point, and the 6s of 1968 more than 2 points, to new lows. French government 7½s rose ½ to a new high, while the German republic government 7s edged about as much to a new low.

The Warner Brothers debentures were well bought, in sympathy with the stock, and closed up 3 points. Telephone convertible 4½s of 1939 and the 5s of 1960 were inclined to ease, but Texas Corporation 5s were firm.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. Ex-dividends (transactions of the day) are omitted when the same as the bid, and both bid and close when same as last.

A 6% Investment
The Most Conservative Investor May Own

In these days of cheap money, many conservative investors have despaired of obtaining a security yielding a full 6% that would meet their strict requirements.

First Mortgage Assignments issued by this company constitute an investment which banks and institutions are purchasing in large blocks. They are equally well adapted to the conservative investor seeking a maximum of safety and dependability.

These Assignments represent actual proportionate ownership in a group of selected first mortgages deposited with a Trustee. Payment of principal and interest on these deposited liens is insured and guaranteed by this company.

These Assignments are issued in any amount from $100 up in 3 to 5 year maturities. Let us give you full information regarding them without obligation. Send name and address below.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Quotations on Local Stock Market Hold Steady Levels with Listless Trading

Reopening after a three-day holiday the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday ushered in the month of September without any particular demonstration. On the contrary, traders stood pat as though awaiting some definite development or initial action by the New York Stock Exchange.

While conditions may not warrant any bullish tactics, the stability of prices, coupled with the desultory dealings, indicated a reluctance on the part of traders to part with their holdings and a strong technical foundation to the market that can be capitalized when and if the industrial situation warrants a security price upturn.

But with one or two exceptions the leading issues held within a range of 3-8 point and the day's market valuation of all transactions barely crossed the $300,000 mark. Transamerica, with sales of more than 5000 shares, far outclassed the activity of all other stocks, the combined turnover for which was 5960 shares. The stock closed unchanged at 23 1-4.

◆ Pacific Finance on the transfer of 100 shares dropped off 1 1-4 points to 22 1-2, while Goodyear Tire preferred spurted 1 1-2 points to 96 1-2. Emsco fell off 1-2 to another new low at 13 and Los Angeles Investment Securities, an inactive, slumped 2 1-2 points to a new bottom at 23 1-2. With the exception of Mortgage Guarantee, another inactive, which yielded 2 points to 170, and Claude Neon, which dipped 1-3 to 34, there were no other changes of importance.

Oils were practically steady. Rio Grande, up 3-8 to 16; Shell, up 1-8 to 14 1-2, and Pacific Western, with Union Associates and Macmillan, showing a small fractional reaction, were the only changes in the group.

Sales totaled 10,960 shares, valued at $301,325; previous day, 33,101 shares, valued at $823,653.

Heavy Selling Tumbles Wheat to Low of Year

Cash wheat was 2@3½c a bushel lower. Friday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 1@1¼c down and provisions were firmer, because of corn buying, despite breaks in

HARBOR TRAFFIC GAIN IN OFFING

Local Matson Line Manager Makes Forecast

Antipodean Rail Cargo Shift to Port Sighted

Golden Cloud Departs with First Transshipment

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Los Angeles stands to capture the lion's share of transcontinental freight destined for the Antipodes in the opinion of Joseph B. Banning Jr., local manager of the Matson Navigation Company.

"Heretofore the bulk of such shipments have gone out from our rival ports to the north. Now," explained Banning, "we are able to save four to five days' time over San Francisco, through routing the freight through Los Angeles and dispatching it on our Oceanic & Oriental Line freighters, which make this the last Pacific port of call."

The first impetus to this new trade was given yesterday when the O. & O. steamer Golden Cloud departed here with a capacity cargo for the Antipodes. Of this, more than 4000 tons were for New Zealand alone, including many carloads of freight which had been shipped across the continent to Los Angeles.

Despite Australia and New Zealand's new tariffs, the Golden Cloud is declared to have taken the largest shipment of radios ever dispatched from this port, much of which was manufactured in Los Angeles. Incidentally a large package was sent from Chicago by air mail to make the steamer connection here.

Mr. Banning also announced the booking of forty to fifty Southern Californians for the Matson flagship Malolo's second around-the-Pacific cruise, sailing from San Francisco the 20th inst., and to end there December 19. The liner will visit nineteen ports in twelve countries in the Orient, ranging from Japan to Australia and New Zealand and the South Sea Islands. Several economists, bent on studying conditions in the Orient at first hand, will be among the travelers booked by the Los Angeles offices.

CAPT. SANDBERG DUE ON VISIT TO HOME PORT

Capt. Samuel Steele Sandberg is due on the Lark from San Francisco this morning for a ten-day visit in his home city, the second visit since he was appointed commissioner of the United States Shipping Board two years ago and took up residence in Washington.

He came west ten days ago to participate in the Harbor Day celebration at San Francisco, and since has been on a tour of the Northwest. During his stay here he is expected to be the guest of honor of several local maritime organizations, including the Bilge Club at San Pedro, of which he became a charter member while traffic manager for the Los Angeles Harbor Department.

Realization of one of his projects, championed ever since he went to Washington, came two days ago, when the Pacific-Atlantic steamer Jefferson Myers sailed from here to inaugurate America's only ship line between the Pacific Coast and United Kingdom.

Capt. Sandberg recently has been reported President Hoover's probable choice as a successor to Chairman O'Connor, should the latter carry out his intention of yielding the chair.

Maj. H. A. Spencer will leave tomorrow to head the Angel Island quarantine station at San Francisco, after six years at San Pedro as head of the United States Public Health Service. He is succeeded here by Maj. E. E. Trimble, transferred from the marine hospital at Detroit, who assumed his new post the 1st inst.

Los Angeles Harbor will greet the whaling industry's most modern and costliest factory ship on the 12th inst., when the new Norwegian twin-screw motor whaler, Sir James Clark Ross, arrives here en route from Norway to the Antarctic whaling grounds in the Ross Sea.

The 20,000-ton craft has just been completed for the Ross Sea Whaling Company at a cost of nearly $4,000,000 to replace an older vessel of the same name, which last season made her farewell visit here. The new craft, exceeded in size only by the new whaler Kosmos, is equipped with the latest whaling machinery, which reduces to useful products every portion of the whales captured. All of her auxiliary equipment is electrically driven.

She will take aboard at this port 112,000 barrels of fuel oil, for her own use and for the fleet of small "killer" ships which capture her whales, in addition to a large consignment of food stores, according to A. Grove-Knutsen, owner's agent. The Sir James Clark Ross is in command of Capt. Oscar Nelisen, who was in command of the C. A. Larsen when she sailed from this port two years ago with Admiral Byrd and his party.

Hamburg-American Line's motor ship Portland will depart the port tomorrow afternoon with forty-five passengers and 7000 tons of Pacific Coast products aboard for Rotterdam, Hamburg, London, Bremen and Antwerp, it was announced yesterday by W. P. Montague, district manager.

Among her passengers will be Mrs. Mildred Allport, wife of the United States commercial attache at London and Paris, with her two sons, en route to Germany.

L. A. Hancock's thirty-four-foot yacht cruisette Sunny Boy was towed back to Los Angeles yesterday for repairs, following her grounding on a reef at Bird Rock Island, near the Isthmus of Catalina Island. The craft struck the reef late Saturday night. Pumps were manned and flares shot into the sky, attracting the speed boat Catalina Flyer, which took off the yacht's personnel and towed the craft to Avalon, whence it was brought here. Numerous other craft have experienced grief on the same reefs, prompting an inquiry yesterday into the feasibility of marking the channel entrance by buoys.

Tommy Jacobs's $20,000 in silver, which went down in the ship's safe when the gambling ship Monfalcone burned and sank off Seal Beach last week-end, still lies on the ocean's floor. Two divers for Merritt, Chapman & Scott yesterday examined the sunken wreck from the little motor tug Sister, and will go out again today in the hope of salvaging the safe. The ship then will be blown up, as the stern post now rests only twenty feet below the water's surface and is regarded as a menace to navigation. The local hydrographic office has sent out warnings to mariners to keep clear of this vicinity until the menace is removed.

CHARTERING MOVE LOST BY 'FACISTS'

Injunction Given to One of First Members Results in Defeat for New Order

ATLANTA, Sept. 2. (AP)—An injunction obtained by J. T. Lee, who said he was one of the first members, today blocked an application for a charter for the "American Facist Association and Order of Black Shirts," and restrained the applicants from proceeding with the disbursement of funds.

The injunction was directed against R. A. Gordon, R. S. Gulledge, H. J. Gewinner and Walter A. Sims.

The injunction was signed last night by Judge Thomas of Fulton Superior Court and set for hearing the 12th inst.

Lee, who seeks a receivership for the organization, charged the defendants incorrectly spelled the name "Facist" and "are ignorant even of the correct pronunciation of the name they are seeking to use for their own selfish gain."

Reports recently were published by the Atlanta Constitution that the organization, which has white supremacy as one of its asserted objectives, faced a Federal grand-jury investigation of threats against employers of Negro labor. "The Black Shirt" official publication claims a membership of 27,000.

SCOFIELD CASE HEARING NOISY

Mayor Attacked for Removal of Commissioner

Porter Absent from Council Committee Meeting

Heated Clashes and Bursts of Oratory Occur

The much-advertised hearing of the City Council's Water and Power Committee on Mayor Porter's summary removal of Water and Power Commissioner E. M. Scofield, before a packed and noisy crowd in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, squibbed away into an adjournment meeting for Scofield, a detailed attack upon Porter, a recriminator between Councilman Cook and Harlan G. Palmer, former Water and Power Commissioner, and a two-hour outburst of oratory.

In the end nothing was done by the committee, Councilmen Jacobson, chairman; Cook and Williams, on the Scofield dismissal or on the appointment of Dr. John R. Haynes, who, with Scofield, has been a consistent champion of the Bureau of Power and Light over the Bureau of Water Works and Supply.

MAYOR ABSENT

Mayor Porter was not present and many thrusts by Scofield's supporters were based upon this absence. At Mayor Porter's office it was stated that he would not be back until late in the afternoon. Members of the committee saw to it that Porter was notified of the session.

Doubt of Porter's sincerity in ordering Scofield's removal was voiced by Charles Fieder, an employee of the Power Bureau and an active agent of an electrical union. He said he believes Porter still wishes to keep Scofield, but is being forced into the dismissal by "influences." He urged the committee to uncover those "influences," but gave no aid toward the job.

CHARGE BY PALMER

Palmer declared that Scofield "will not pay the price for the Eaton ranch which Porter, and some one close to Porter, would like to see paid, a price not justified by the valuation of similar property." Palmer later declined to amplify this charge. The Eaton ranch lies above Bishop in the Owens River Valley and must be purchased from the May 20, $38,800,000 water bonds for a right of way and reservoir for the Mono Basin water.

Earlier in the day Mayor Porter said to newspaper men: "I will not be held accountable for the expenditure of 1 cent of the $38,800,000 bond issue as long as Scofield remains on the commission."

Palmer, constituting himself as attorney for Scofield, said that so long as the Mayor sent in no reason to back up the removal Scofield had nothing to answer and would not address the committee. Scofield sat in the front row but made no speeches.

CROWD NOISY

The crowd became noisy when Palmer and Cooke clashed. Cooke, a little while before, explained the functions of the Mayor and Council in respect to appointments and removals and said Scofield is not on trial, his character not assailed. He indicated his opinion that the Mayor should have a free hand in appointing and dismissing members of his official family. He concluded by saying that if he were not wanted in a certain place he would get out, "and gladly."

Thereupon Palmer made an attack upon Cooke, saying that that very morning he had heard, in Hollywood, two men lamenting that Cooke now was "a tool of the enemies of the Power Bureau." When Cooke sought to point out to Palmer that he erred in picking a time and place for a political attack, the crowd broke into a hubbub and drowned him out, with Chairman Jacobson nervously seeking to pour oil on the troubled waters.

BUREAU CRITICISED

After the noise subsided Cooke went on to explain that he is a free agent and reserves the right to his own opinion upon the schemes put forward by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners. He said there has been much mismanagement and political intrigue in the department.

Prior to this episode Chairman Jacobson said he had heard that Power Bureau employees were to "pack" the chamber. He asked for any employee of the bureau to stand up. Nobody rose.

Councilman Williams dug up some pre-election promises of Porter's, in which he said he was for the elimination "by legal means" of

WESTERN FIGURE CALLED BY DEATH

H. H. Clark

H. H. CLARK, MINING MAN, PASSES ON

Lower California Land Company Manager and Former Miner Dead

Death yesterday closed the career of H. H. Clark, one of the best-known mining men of California and Nevada and for the past sixteen years a cotton grower and manager of the Colorado River Land Company. Mr. Clark died in the Hollywood Hospital following a week's illness from pleural pneumonia. He was 72 years of age and was born in Illinois.

Mr. Clark's first mining ventures were made during the Alaska gold rush of 1899, when he joined in the search for gold after the discoveries at Nome. He prospected through nearly all of the frontier towns of that territory and after several successful enterprises went to Nevada in 1903 after the Tonopah discoveries. Following the 1906 strike at Bullfrog, Mr. Clark was one of the first men at the new camp and shortly became a part owner in the National Bank mine.

Associated with him in the National Bank mine were two of his life-long friends, Dr. L. E. Benson of Los Angeles and the late United States Senator William M. Stewart. Senator Stewart was one of the most colorful figures in the mining history of the West and in his youth had been a partner of Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain.)

The yield from the National Bank mine and other properties which the group held at Bullfrog and Rhyolite, Nev., gave the three men wealth, but most of Mr. Clark's resources were swept away in a San Francisco bank failure and he again turned to the mines to recoup his losses.

Mr. Clark was a member of an ill-starred expedition sponsored by a group of California capitalists to Bolivia in 1912. He went there with a party of thirty other mining men to investigate reports of a fabulously rich placer deposit. The purported discovery proved to be a hoax and its subsequent exposure created a furor throughout the mining world.

Returning to California Mr. Clark purchased a large tract of land in the Imperial Valley which he planted to cotton and the success of his venture there led to his selection as president of the California Cotton Growers' Association. Eleven years ago he was given the post of general manager of the Colorado River Land Company in charge of that organization's large holdings in Baja California, and has been credited with a large share

COUNCIL VICTOR IN STREET SUIT

Supreme Court Upholds City Ordinance

Assessments on Widening Third Held Valid

Improvement Description Declared Clear

City authorities regularly pursued their authority in the initiation and attempted consummation of the Third-street improvement project, according to decisions just handed down by the State Supreme Court in appeals taken by John P. Allen and by J. F. Johnson and others against the city. Copies of the decisions were received yesterday by Hugh Coultis, deputy clerk, in charge of the Los Angeles office of the tribunal.

Justice Shenk dissented in both cases, declaring the desirability of providing more adequate street facilities cannot alone justify overriding the rights of the property owners in the assessment district. Under the law as laid down by the majority, the justice said, the property owners are helpless in the face of glaring violations of their constitutional State rights.

TWO ARGUMENTS OFFERED

The two cases were presented in the same records and the same briefs. Johnson, however, advanced an argument not raised by Allen, attacking the modified and corrected assessment on the ground that it was adopted without opportunity for him and others to be heard after the modification had been made.

Allen based his appeal on two main contentions:

(1.) That the general description of the district in the ordinance of intention and in the general notice of the Board of Public Works was fatally misleading and defective;

(2.) That the project was a part of the so-called Major Traffic Plan and was a matter of city-wide interest and benefit to such an extent that a local assessment for any part of the costs and certainly for nine-tenths of such costs was a gross abuse of discretion by the City Council and that it rendered the assessment invalid.

COUNCIL UPHELD

The court found that the description was not misleading or defective.

As to the second objection, the tribunal decided that the action of the City Council in fixing the limits of the assessment district and in fixing the amount of the expenses of the project to be borne by the city as a whole was purely legislative. There is no showing, the opinion reads, that the members of the Council acted through fraudulent motives or from any desire to oppress the property owners of the district.

It was asserted that it would be well within the power of the City Council to make the cost of the entire proceeding rest upon the shoulders of the property owners of a given district, especially benefited thereby.

The amount of compensation and damages to property owners for opening and widening Third street from Figueroa street to Vermont avenue, was given as $2,438,156.81, which sum the city paid $164,033, leaving $2,264,123.81 to be raised by local assessment.

The city initiated the project by ordinance on September 1, 1925. Suits were filed in the Superior Court last year.

Five Appointed by Prosecutor

Five appointments to vacancies created by registrations since he assumed office were announced yesterday by City Prosecutor Johnson. Margaret Gardner, attorney, was appointed a deputy prosecutor and assigned to the failure-to-provide department. According to Johnson, she was connected with the Prosecutor's office under J. M. Friedlander, resigning to serve in France with the Red Cross during the war.

Merle Allen, former special investigator for Mayor Porter, was restored to the pay roll by Johnson, who appointed him an investigator yesterday. Other investigators named are Alexander Fry and Thomas A. Watt. Charles Wilde, former City Clerk, was appointed a clerk, filling the vacancy created by the promotion of Thomas Carr from clerk to investigator.

FIESTA OPENING AWAITED

Two-Day Celebration of City-Founding Anniversary will Open Tomorrow at Sundown

With everything in readiness except the last-minute details, the stage is all set for the two-day birthday celebration of the city of Los Angeles, which will mark its formal founding 149 years ago, September 4, 1781.

Beginning tomorrow at sundown, or at approximately 6:25 p.m., the ceremonies will be opened in the Plaza with the re-enactment of the original founding services, after which Mayor Porter will issue a brief proclamation turning the occasion into an old-time fiesta, wherein the spirit of carnival will prevail as in the days of the dons. Miss Mildred Costello will reign as queen of the fiesta.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT

The second day festivities are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and will be featured by a parade seven or eight blocks long, depicting events from the time the first white man, Juan Bautista De Anza, came here through the covered wagon period. Sponsored by the Plaza de Los Angeles Association, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and various civic and business organizations, the birthday celebration has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Christine Sterling, of the Plaza Association, and Phil Whiting, with the co-operation of various motion-picture studios, schools of dancing, entertainers and members of pioneer families.

FOUNDING CEREMONY

The founding ceremonies will be historically accurate. As it happened in 1781 when Gov. Felipe De Neve led the original group of forty-six settlers in from the Mission San Gabriel to the clearing in the cottonwoods, which was approximately the site of the present Plaza, so tomorrow at sundown, a group of persons will impersonate the first Angelenos and gather around an altar in the Plaza to hear the dedicatory words which were spoken by De Neve and the padres. A flower-covered ramada in replica of the original will be erected there and the altar will be covered with a lace cloth such as history describes for the first ceremony.

NOTABLE CHARACTERS

Gov. Felipe de Neve will be impersonated by Eugene Plummer, 78-year-old native Californian whose life has been linked with the romantic past of the State. Felipe La Vies, a Franciscan father from St. Joseph's Church, will impersonate the padre.

A thirty-foot stage will be erected on Los Angeles street facing the Plaza, and here a series of entertainments of Mexican and early California character will be in progress throughout the evening. Special features will be a group of old

SURF HALTS SALVAGE OF LOST BARGE

Divers Report Safe in Ruins of Monfalcone on Sea Floor to be Open

Efforts to salvage money left in the safe of the burned gambling barge Monfalcone, which is sunk in seventy-five feet of water, were hampered yesterday by a heavy surf.

Two divers who explored the wreck, Charles Smile and William Lahti, reported that the ruins of the boat rest on sand. Tackle carried by the tug Sister was not powerful enough to lift the safe with the heavy sea running. A buoy was left to mark the spot and salvage work was postponed until better conditions prevail.

Tommy Jacobs, one of the owners of the Monfalcone, announced that the divers had reported that the safe was open.

Jacobs left for San Francisco yesterday to complete arrangements for a steel craft which he plans to place in service as a gambling and pleasure barge.

Registration of Voters Open to October 4

Registration of voters, closed for thirty days prior to the primary election on August 26, last, now is reopened, Registrar of Voters Kerr announced yesterday.

All persons who have not registered since the opening of registration on January 1, last, and who desire to vote at the State general election on November 4, next, must register on or before October 4, Kerr states. On this latter date registration will close, pending the general election, he said. Individuals who have registered but who have since moved must reregister to be eligible to vote.

Qualifications for persons registering call for American citizenship, a residence of one year in the State, ninety days in the county and thirty days in the precinct prior to the day of election.

CHINESE TRADE STATUS STUDIED

Senate Subcommittee Here to Make Survey

Public Hearing to be Opened Within Few Days

Drop in Exports Declared of Concern to Southland

Three United States Senators, Pittman of Nevada, Swanson of Virginia and Shipstead of Minnesota, are in Los Angeles to study commercial relations between China and this country. By next week, they said yesterday, they will have opened a public hearing to take testimony of local Chinese trade experts. Meanwhile they will assemble a witness list with the aid of the Chamber of Commerce and others.

Senator Pittman is chairman of the group which is a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. It is charged with investigating commercial relations with China. Raymond Walsh of Washington, D. C., is with the party as secretary.

"In the last six months our exports to China have fallen off 40 to 50 per cent," Senator Pittman said. "China's total exports have dropped 30 to 40 per cent and of that shrinkage our country has experienced about 40 to 50 per cent. We normally have a total commerce of $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 with China each year.

SOUTHLAND AFFECTED

"So when this condition came to our attention I introduced a resolution in the Senate for an investigation to see what could be done about it. It seriously affects American business. Southern California particularly is interested because China gets nearly all its fruit from this country. We provide it also with nearly all its automobiles, flour, wheat and raw cotton. Our textile mills and those of Great Britain provide China with its cotton textiles. So it may readily be seen what heavy losses in exports mean to this country.

"We have heard from witnesses before the committee at its hearings in the East that the three principal reasons for disturbed trade with China are Chinese wars and internal strife, low prices on Chinese commodity exports and the depreciated price of silver.

TREATIES CONSIDERED

"We are inquiring to ascertain whether new commercial treaties with China or new international agreements between China and nations similarly interested with that country might improve the situation. In any event, Chinese affairs will be much before the world in the next few years and we wish the Senate foreign affairs committee to have information before it. We are charged with acquiring the commercial information."

"China," Senator Swanson said, "is the one country now in all the world that is in turmoil. It is necessary that something be done by China, possibly with the help of the powers, to stabilize this disturbing element in world affairs.

"The backbone of Chinese commercial medium is about 800,000,000 ounces of silver. A few years ago silver was worth $2.66 an ounce. Today it is worth but about 34 cents an ounce. This depreciation has greatly affected China's purchasing power. Distributed among its entire population, the per capita of silver would be but a fraction more than two ounces."

THOUSANDS STARVING

Senator Shipstead remarked:

"There are about 20,000 Chinese dying of starvation each day. We in this country have a surplus of foodstuffs. It would be of mutual benefit to work out some means of getting together on this matter. It is but typical of many other matters."

The Senators arrived yesterday from San Francisco where they heard testimony. They intend to be here, Pittman said, "ten days or so." They will go to Seattle from here.

The party is at the Ambassador. Senator Swanson is accompanied by Mrs. Swanson.

VISCOUNT WILL SPEAK

Viscount Hans Nordewin von Koerber, chairman of the department of oriental studies at the University of Southern California, is to be guest-speaker tomorrow noon at a joint meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Society of Civil Engineers, to be held at the City Club.

EX-ACTRESS TO QUIT RICH YOUNG MATE

Muriel Cudahy

MRS. CUDAHY TO FILE SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Packing Family Scion Charges Cruelty and Incompatibility

A year and six weeks' married life with Michael Cudahy, scion of the meat-packing family, was enough for his 20-year-old motion-picture wife, Muriel Cudahy, and she has decided to call it quits.

She announced yesterday that the first legal step to untie the marriage knot will be made this morning with the filing by her attorney, William J. McNichols, of a divorce complaint in which Cudahy is charged with cruelty and incompatibility.

But the action is the culmination of an agreement to disagree, it was stated by Michel's wife, blond and comely, and by his mother, Mrs. Edna Cudahy, with whom he is residing at 1844 North Vine street, Hollywood.

"We are good friends—he's a dear boy," said the wife.

"She's a sweet girl—there are no ill feelings on Michael's part," said the mother.

It is pointed out in the complaint that the couple were wed in Riverside July 6, 1929, and separated August 20, last.

The latter date was at the time Cudahy was released from Hollywood Hospital where he had been treated for a nervous breakdown.

In her complaint Mrs. Cudahy charges that her husband treated her cruelly during their entire married life; that he scolded and nagged her and on one occasion refused to speak to her in the presence of relatives and friends.

On another occasion, the wife asserts in the complaint, Cudahy refused to appear or escort a party of guests the couple had invited to attend a show.

Mrs. Cudahy requests in her complaint "a reasonable attorney fee."

It was learned from the mother and McNichols, however, that an "agreeable" financial settlement has been made outside of court.

Their marriage was the first for both. They eloped two years before their marriage, but Michael was returned home by deputy sheriffs on request of his mother.

He met his wife at a motion-

The Lancer

ONE place I get a real thrill out of the radio—San Pedro. A tenor will be in the midst of warbling "Who Would Love If I Didn't Love You?" when, sharp and menacing, comes a sputter of dots and dashes—slashing through the moron tune like little knives.

The warships are talking—to whom and where? I always imagine the message going out over the sea to some gray fighter with the tropic sun gleaming from her guns and the great gray hull nosing down into the wash of the tropic sea.

If there were more warships and fewer tenors I would like the radio better.

SNOWPLOWS FOR SHIPS

This morning I found an old book floating around in the bay. It proved to be a manual of instruction for ships yeomen, instructing them how to file papers and index navy property.

Among the things to be indexed were carriage horses and snowplows. If you are thinking of buying a navy don't forget to get a snowplow.

ANN HARDING

Ann Harding, the movie actress who is to be queen of the Biltmore end of the Los Angeles fiesta, is an interesting girl.

Her father is a famous artillery officer—whose name is not Harding, by the way. She says, as a little girl in the army posts, she used to go horseback riding with the soldiers. And these rides always ended with the nag sliding down over the edge of a precipice feet first—the ground being too steep to walk. Miss Harding says she was always scared half to death; but was more scared to confess that she was afraid. In the artillery it just isn't on the cards to be afraid.

SCANDAL

The name Harding brings to mind these books with which the market is being flooded; the one which states circumstantially that the President was poisoned—the other scandal about his supposed "other lady" and an illegitimate child.

Washington correspondents of standing and reliability tell me that there isn't a shred of truth in any of these books. Both Harding and his wife being dead, there is no one to defend their names.

Inasmuch as this is part of the history of this nation, it would seem as though some defense were needed.

TENDERFOOT TALK

Lee Shippey evidently has a mad with the late Helen Hunt Jackson because she gave the hero of "Ramona" an Italian name.

Alessandro for a California Indian was a silly name, sure enough, but it has spared us the pain of hearing the tenderfoot public trying to pronounce Alejandro, the Spanish equivalent. You know what they would have called it—Allie-jan-dro.

DESERT WELLS

One of the water achievements of Chester Allison, the engineer who has proposed a new route for the Boulder Dam water, is a new way of drilling wells in the desert. He makes the wells yield several times the normal amount of water by forcing tons of sand and cement down the pipe hole, creating an area of loose filter.

WATER CONCLAVE CALLED

Conservation Association on the 10th inst. will Report on Survey of Basin Resources

After months of intensive effort, details of the complete survey of actual underground water conditions in the Los Angeles basin area have been completed, according to W. S. Rosecrans, president of the Los Angeles County Conservation Association. Committees which conducted the survey will report at a general conference at the Chamber of Commerce Building the 10th inst. at 2:30 p.m.

In discussing this meeting, Mr. Rosecrans said: "Last January the Los Angeles County Conservation Association called a meeting of civic leaders, individuals and officials interested in water conservation to consider a means of determining the actual conditions of underground water in the Los Angeles Basin, to the end that practical means of natural and artificial replenishment might be developed, should such action be found desirable. The meeting, attended by representatives of every water-consuming unit of the basin, gave the association's survey plan its unqualified indorsement.

"During the past six months the Los Angeles County Conservation Association has been actively engaged in arranging for a study of the conditions. Committees have been appointed and have functioned to good effect in developing the situation. The plans have been adopted by officials, public bodies, water companies and individuals, and the State of California has appropriated $10,000 to begin necessary studies.

"Directors of the association feel that the time again has come to call together those who have been interested in the plan, that it may be possible to acquaint them with the progress made. It also is necessary that committees be organized at this time, and local subcommittees be instructed to co-operate with the State Division of Water Resources in the various subbasins surveyed."

CROWDS AT RADIO SHOW HEAR "CRAZY INVENTOR"

"Just a crazy inventor," in 1909, Melvin S. Wood of Gardena yesterday was one of the principal speakers at the National Radio Show in Ambassador Auditorium. He delivered his talk from the American Amateur Radio Relay League's booth, where scores of home-made radio devices are on exhibition.

Wood, whose experiments in sending an electrical spark through the air had aroused the ridicule of his neighbors, prophesied that in another ten years this country will be familiar with "box cars of the air," great freight planes without a human aboard and controlled entirely by radio.

"Such planes," he said, "will take off, soar across the continent and make their landings in higher speed and with greater accuracy than aviation yet has attained.

"My neighbors called me 'crazy' twenty-one years ago, when I sat up all night trying to get a message through to San Francisco, and three years later when I attempted to broadcast the human voice for a distance of three miles, they repeated all they had said, with additional emphasis."

Wood spoke from a booth at which messages to any part of the world were accepted and sent free of charge. Radio fans and dealers took advantage of the opportunity, confident that other short-wave length operators would pick up the dis-

SCHOOL BELL CALLS ARMY

Board of Education Chief Clerk Places First Day's Attendance Figure at 236,000

Approximately 236,000 children entered Los Angeles school district's 349 schools yesterday on opening of the district's 1930-31, ten months' school year, Chief Clerk Tritt of the Board of Education estimated last night. They are the vanguard of the approximately 450,000 expected to be enrolled before the end of the year. Similarly, nearly 10,900 teachers of varying status also began their work for another school year.

The actual first-day enrollment and teaching staff included 10,721. This is will not be known until some time today and Tritt's figures may be high, it was said in school offices last night, because the school opening this year is a week earlier than last year. The term will end a week earlier, also.

For the school year which ended last June records show an average daily attendance of 222,670 pupils in the entire system, including kindergartens, elementary and high schools. Tritt expects this figure to be increased about 15,000 this year. Total enrollment at the end of the year stood at 404,351. If the increase this year is as great as last year, a record one, the total will reach nearly 450,000. Last year's teach-

Keaton Accused by State Alienist of Feigning Sleep at Insanity Trial to Delude Jur

FLINT'S SLAYER DECLARED SANE

Dr. Parkin Asserts Killer Knew Act Wrong

Salesman Tells About Stock Deal Day of Murder

Evidence in Case May be Concluded Today

With testimony from Dr. Victor Parkin that Frank D. Keaton, slayer of Motley Flint, is legally sane and was sane at the time of the murder, prosecution and defense counsel in the Keaton sanity hearing before Superior Judge Schauer last night announced evidence in the case will probably be completed today.

Dr. Parkin, called as the second prosecution alienist by Dep. Dist. Attys. W. W. Burgess and William Russell, declared under direct examination that Keaton, when he walked into Superior Judge Collier's courtroom on July 14 and shot down Motley Flint as the retired banker was leaving the witness stand, knew the quality and nature of his act and was aware that it was wrong.

QUESTIONING BRIEF

Burgess, who conducted the direct examination of the alienist, was brief in his questions and was concerned with showing that Dr. Parkin had made an extended examination of Keaton and had found him legally sane.

It was with the cross-examination by Defense Counsel Paul B. D'Orr that some color entered into the otherwise rather drab court day when Dr. Parkin charged that Keaton, who has appeared to go to sleep at the counsel table almost every court day since the trial began more than two weeks ago, was "only pretending."

"That man is not asleep," declared Dr. Parkin. "He is just pretending." And then he went on to explain that when a person is feigning insanity they often attempt to assume sleep or indifference or some other emotion or pose to impress the jury.

All of the morning session yesterday went to the cross-examination by D'Orr of Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, the first alienist who testified that Keaton was sane. Dr. Orbison left the witness stand early yesterday afternoon with his testimony unshaken and still declaring that Keaton is now and was at the time of the shooting, sane. Both Orbison and Parkin, however, did say that Keaton is not normal.

STOCK DEAL TOLD

Leo Marsh, a stock salesman from a downtown brokerage house, declared when called as a prosecution witness, that Keaton bought 100 shares of stock from him the morning of the murder. The purchase was made, the salesman said, to cover a short position. He declared that he did not notice anything strange about Keaton, except that he seemed to be staring into space most of the time.

Two more prosecution alienists and two other short witnesses will close the State's case, according to Burgess and Russell, while D'Orr and Thomas Reynolds, for the defense, stated that a very short rebuttal will close for Keaton. One day of argument will complete the entire case, the attorneys declare, and then it will be up to the jury of six men and six women to decide if Keaton was legally sane when he shot and killed Flint.

picture director's home when she was appearing in screen roles as Muriel Evans.

Less than a week after their marriage young Cudahy was arrested in Hollywood for drunk driving. He paid a fine of $5000.

Shortly after this escapade—one of a series that has kept Cudahy in print for several years—the young couple moved to Europe where they resided in Paris for six months.

Cudahy is 29 years of age, and is the grandson of Michael Cudahy, founder of the Cudahy Packing Company.

BLOW FROM TIMBER MAY CAUSE DEATH

Struck by a falling timber, Arthur Quiros, 30 years of age, carpenter, of 307 North Alma street, was probably fatally injured yesterday. The accident occurred at 636 South Hill street. Quiros's skull was fractured. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

FISH LEAPS INTO BOAT AND FAME

Commissioner Wehn Tells Yarn of Large Trout and Swears To It

Fish come home to roost as well as chickens, according to the story told by Police Commissioner Wehn to his fellow-commissioners yesterday.

Wehn, fishing at Lake Arrowhead over the week-end with some friends, told of a fourteen-inch trout on the end of his line, which was held by a friend. The fish jumped into his boat, he said, and Wehn is ready to take oath as to the truth of his yarn.

"I was fishing from one boat and my friend from another," he said. "I had no bites and my friend had several but was unable to land any fish. We exchanged places and my friend caught a trout which ran away with the line, twisted it around a stump and then jumped into my boat."

GOOD TIMES WEEK TO BE CELEBRATED

Civic Bodies will Join with Theaters in Plans for Observance

Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters, announced yesterday the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Business Men's Association and other civic organizations have agreed to join the Fox Theaters in celebrating Good Times Are Here Week starting October 5, next.

Theaters, says Mr. Franklin, are barometers of economic conditions and an increase of one-third in attendance during the last few weeks over that of the period immediately preceding is an indication of the return of normal conditions.

The Good Times Are Here celebration is to be extended to cities other than Los Angeles by the Fox Theaters, it was said.

It is the intention of the Fox Theaters in Los Angeles to invite the inmates of many charitable institutions to attend as guests the performances in some of the theaters. The formal invitation is to be issued soon, it was said.

of the success of that cotton-producing company.

During 1927 Mr. Clark inaugurated a plan to bring German and other Central European farmers to Lower California and colonize them on the irrigated lands of his company.

Although actively engaged in agriculture since the purchase of his Imperial Valley ranch in 1912, Mr. Clark had never lost his interest in mining and recently opened the Log Cabin mine in Mono county, which is now producing.

He numbered among his friends many of the Alaska pioneers of the sourdough days and included in these Dr. L. E. Benson, who visited Mr. Clark a week prior to his fatal illness. Dr. Benson left several days ago for Alaska to take charge of a crew of natives who will round up a large herd of reindeer.

Mr. Clark was a Mason, an Elk and held memberships as well in the Jonathan Club and Los Angeles Athletic Club. He leaves his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Alice Clark Ryan, who live at 2904 Francis avenue.

Masonic services will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p.m. from Hollywood Cemetery Chapel under direction of Reed Brothers, Tapley & Geiger.

BIRD LIKES TO DISCUSS THINGS

Indian Hill Myna's Voice Near Human

Supt. E. H. Lewis of Catalina Bird Park and Jimmy

ALTHOUGH several thousand proud beauties preen their feathers for the admiration of visitors to the Catalina Bird Park, Jimmy, an Indian hill myna, holds the center of the cage as the star. His garb is somber black with two golden wattles. But Jimmy has something more than fine feathers. He has intelligence and can talk. His voice is so human that it is almost uncanny.

Jimmy does not imitate like a parrot, but carries on his own conversation.

"Good morning, how are you!" Jimmy gives greeting if he is in good humor. And if bored he will say, "Good-by, run along."

Jimmy is a baseball fan, and "Go catch 'em" or "watch out" are among his favorite expressions. Jimmy spoke Japanese when he was first taken to the Catalina Bird Park by Supt. E. H. Lewis and had to learn English since.

Mr. Lewis through a check system has estimated that Jimmy's audience has averaged more than 2000 persons a day. Every visitor insists on having a word with Jimmy, who always responds. It is outrage, perched on Mr. Lewis's finger, that Jimmy talks best.

PUPILS ENTER SCHOOLS AGAIN

one elementary school are under course of construction.

In the Los Angeles educational system are fifteen school nurseries at which children under 1 year of age and up to kindergarten age may be left while their parents are at work.

Mrs. E. A. Drake, for the last eighteen years principal of the Ann-street school, yesterday registered nearly 100 new pupils, most of them Mexicans. The total enrollment is expected to exceed 900. A feature of the school is the roof garden at which instruction, medical treatment and food is supplied to children of tubercular parents. The Ann-street school is one of the oldest schools in Los Angeles. The former building was burned down seventeen years ago, but was rebuilt on a larger scale, to accommodate the increased enrollment.

CENT REDUCTION MADE IN SCHOOL TAX

As predicted by Superintendent of Schools Bouelle several days ago when he made public the budget of the Los Angeles City School District for the ensuing year, there is a reduction of 1 cent in the tax rate levied directly for the district, it was disclosed in a report made to the Board of Education last night by its auditor, C. F. Lens. It will be 94 cents this year, against 95 cents last year.

The reduction is made possible by a reduction of $1,026,232 in the local board's budget for the ensuing year. The cut would have been greater but for the reduction of $97,287,115 in the assessed valuation of the property in the elementary school district and of $95,837,640 on the property in the high school district.

Similarly, this reduction in the assessed valuation accounts for the fact that the total tax rate for school purposes will be 6 cents greater this year than it was last year, $1.67 as against $1.61. The increase is due to a rise of 5 cents in the county school tax, and a rise of 2 cents in the charges against the school district for bond redemption and interest.

private power corporations in the city and made a number of comments. Councilman Jacobson seemed to maintain neutrality.

Speech being free, Joe Buchta, secretary to Charles W. Burke, whom Porter once considered for Chief of Police, but who recently called on the Mayor to resign, approached the microphone and in the course of his remarks shouted: "Do you trust Porter to spend that $38,800,000? You all know what he was before he was elected!"

Among those who addressed the committee supporting Scofield were A. F. Southwick, Mrs. Anna McIlvaine, who wanted to see the Mayor brought in; Joseph Mesmer, Clara McDonald, M. O. Graves, Anthony Pratt and J. D. McCarthy.

In closing the hearing Jacobson said the committee will confer with the Mayor before reporting to the Council as a whole, to which Williams objected, declaring the Mayor had had his opportunity to be heard and rejected it.

WAY PAVED FOR LLOYD ADOPTION

Abandonment Proceedings Filed in Court as Prelude to Giving Child a Home

Clearing the way for the legal adoption of Gloria Gabrielle Freeman, 5 years of age, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd yesterday filed abandonment proceedings in Superior Judge Blake's court through their attorney, R. C. Gortner. The Lloyds recently announced their intention of adopting the girl as a companion for their daughter, Gloria Mildred Lloyd.

Accordingly the abandonment proceedings were filed, permitting any person having a legal claim to the child's custody to present them in court. At the end of sixty days, unless relatives come forward and present a valid reason against such action the child will be declared abandoned by the court and then will be eligible for adoption by the Lloyds.

While the petition is pending Judge Blake will permit the girl to remain with the Lloyds.

According to the petition, Gloria Gabrielle Freeman also is known as Gloria Gabrielle Sullivan, the latter name being taken from her foster mother, Mrs. Louise Sullivan of 491 South Marengo street, Pasadena.

The petition states that the girl was born at Hermosa Beach, April 15, 1925.

Planning Board Approves Nine Drill Permits

The City Planning Commission yesterday recommended to the City Council that nine additional applications for oil drilling in Venice be approved. The applicants are A. S. Danforth, F. E. McKenney, George M. Anderson, W. H. Kirk, Louis Blatz, L. B. Simons, Harry O'Day, Leah Emner and G. B. Logan.

The City Council yesterday approved eight separate drilling applications and sent them to the City Attorney for the drafting of the ordinances. The applicants, several of whom have more than one lot, are the Pacific Electric Railway Company, G. M. and O. B. Jones, Ella M. Jester, A. G. Cain, R. and L. Pantages and K. G. Smith.

GILBERT TO LECTURE

William Gilbert will lecture on "The Tale of the Drill," at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow in the Assembly Room of the Rossiyn Hotel Annex. The lecturer promises to reveal interesting facts about the Great San Juan Basin and its romantic geological history.

M'KINLEY'S CONFIDENCE EXPRESSED

Republican Nominee for State Senate Out to Beat Democrat Bryan

State Senator J. W. McKinley, nominated in the recent primary as the Republican candidate for the post of Los Angeles county representative in the State Senate under the new constitutional amendment limiting each county to one Senator, yesterday issued a statement thanking his supporters and announcing the beginning of an active campaign for election in November.

Drawing attention to the fact that the Democratic nominee is Milton Bryan and, hence, that a Bryan-McKinley contest is in prospect, the Republican nominee expressed confidence in the outcome.

His statement follows:

"I wish to express my deep appreciation for the support I received in my campaign for the Republican nomination for State Senator from Los Angeles county.

"The nomination of the Republican party in all probability assures my election in November, although I recognize the merits of my Democratic opponent, Milton Bryan, and shall enter into a friendly, but energetic, contest for a great majority in November.

"I think it will be found that the Senator from Los Angeles county will have the largest State Senatorial district in the United States; one, in fact, that is larger in point of population, wealth, diversity of economic affairs and general legislative interests than many United States senatorships.

"This means, of course, that I shall do all in my power to represent all of Los Angeles county and to merit the confidence which the voters of Los Angeles have reposed in me."

PLAZA AWAITS FIESTA OPENING

California dances, sponsored by Mr. Plummer, and street dancing.

PIONEERS TO ATTEND

In addition to the depiction of early California history in the parade Friday evening a feature of special interest will be the presence of members and descendants of several of the pioneer Los Angeles families.

The line of march will contain a few California Indians, the riding team of the Elks' Club, all in costume, riders in costume from Orange county, the American Legion drum and bugle corps with fifty men on foot in Spanish costume, the Union Pacific Band, old-time carriages, tally-hos, buckboards, covered wagons and floats.

The parade will start from Ord and Main streets proceeding to First street and thence to Spring, south on Spring to Sixth street, west on Sixth to Olive, swinging around Pershing Square and back to Sixth street, east on Sixth to Broadway and back on Broadway to the starting point.

A continuation of the program of the preceding evening will follow in the Plaza to conclude the two-day festivities.

BREAKFAST CLUB TO FETE ANNIVERSARY

An atmosphere of old Spain will pervade the weekly meeting of the Breakfast Club this morning as the organization's contribution to observance of the city's 149th birthday anniversary. JUDGE DELAYS TRIAL OF AUTO DEATH PAIR

Trial of Ewell J. Hodge and Walter H. Smith, charged with manslaughter as the result of the death of Robert Fisher after an automobile accident, was continued until the 24th inst. yesterday by Superior Judge Wilson. Fisher was riding with Hodge when his automobile collided with one driven by Smith. The complaint charges that both drivers were traveling at a high rate of speed.

TEMPLE LEGACY FOUGHT BY HEIRS

Four-Square Devotee's Will Attacked in Court

Undue Influence and Mental Incapacity Charged

Death by Cancer After 'Cure' Cited by Contestant

Undue influence by one of Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson's lieutenants is asserted by a contestant in a suit over the estate of Mrs. Catherine M. McAdams, begun yesterday before Superior Judge Allen of Tulare, sitting here. Mrs. McAdams's will, over which the contest is brought, names Angelus Temple and its allied organizations as beneficiaries. In addition, Joseph W. Arthur, chairman of the board of elders of Angelus Temple, is nominated as executor of the will, which disposes of property scheduled as totaling less than $10,000.

James Edward McKeand of Beloit, Wis., uncle of the testatrix, and Mrs. Marion E. McCabe, a first cousin, are contesting separately. McKeand holds that Mrs. McAdams was of unsound mind when she wrote the will, May 18, 1929. McKeand asserts undue influence by Joseph W. Arthur, her spiritual adviser, and says that Arthur told her if she would be cured of cancer she must give her money and property to God.

In the will, following the bequest to Angelus Temple, appears the paragraph: "I here bear witness to fact. My healing of a huge cancer was through the teaching of the Four Square Gospel at Angelus Temple, June 2, 1926."

Counsel for the contestants announced they would put in evidence that Mrs. McAdams died of cancer December 5, 1929.

The estate comprises a Montebello lot, three sections in Valhalla Mausoleum Park, promissory notes, stock certificates and mortgage bonds issued by a Berlin bank for 35,000,000 marks, of "value unknown." Mrs. McAdams's will leaves tithes, one-tenths each to Angelus Temple, Lighthouse International of the Four-Square Gospel, Angelus Temple Commissary, Foreign Four Square missions, and Four Square Home Missions.

Attorney Randall J. Hood represents Arthur Tanner, Taft & O'Dell appear for the beneficiary. Attorney N. B. Nelson represents Mrs. McCabe, and Attorneys Charles Ruby, C. C. Pease and Perry Bruce appear for McKeand.

FILM LURE BLAMED AS GIRL VANISHES

Miss Helen Prater

Again the lure of the silver screen has been blamed for the disappearance of a young girl from her home. This time it is Miss Helen Prater, 15 years of age, of Nampa, Idaho.

Miss Prater, in company with another girl, was last seen at her home August 15, according to her father, Arthur Prater, who arrived here yesterday and appealed to juvenile authorities to aid in his search for his daughter.

"As she had only about $15 with her we fear that she has fallen into the hands of persons that might cause her harm," the father said.

Mr. Prater is staying with an aunt of the girl, Mrs. Violet Newell, at 7220 Terrace Heights.

CLUB MEMBERS WILL BE GUESTS AT FAIR

Members of the 20-30 Club of Los Angeles yesterday were invited to attend the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona as guests of honor on Sunday, the 14th inst. The day is to be dedicated to all 20-30 clubs in the county. A feature of the program will be a special stake race named in honor of the organization.

CEMETERY ZONE PLAN APPROVED

Council Passes Ordinance Permitting Business to Be Done on Hollywood Lots

The ordinance granting a change in zone and permitting the Hollywood Cemetery Association to develop a strip of its Santa Monica Boulevard frontage for business purposes was passed yesterday by the City Council and sent to Mayor Porter for his signature.

The development, under an agreement, is considerably restricted as is to be supervised by the City Planning Commission. A 200-foot entrance is to be preserved to the cemetery proper, while buildings housing only certain types of business and erected only with the approval of the commission, are to border the entrance. A certain amount of money, also, must be allotted to the perpetual care fund.

patches and relay them to their destination.

Some of his severest critics, years ago, Wood said, now are counted among the most enthusiastic radio fans. They frequently go to him for advice on hooking up their sets or to consult him on obtaining distance or combating static conditions.

Crowds at the show thronged around the Los Angeles Times booth throughout the day, where "Uncle John"—John S. Dougall—was greeted by hundreds.

Radio artists from several Los Angeles stations appeared at half hour intervals in a theater seating 2000, to which the radio show crowds had access at all times.

The show is scheduled to run until Sunday night, from 2:30 to 10:30 p.m. daily.

ABSENT HUSBAND DIVORCED

Eight years she waited for her husband to join her in California and he came not, Mrs. Amy Bennett testified yesterday in gaining a divorce from William Bennett. They married in England in 1921 and separated November 5, 1928.

Superior Judge Yankwich granted her a divorce.

FEDERAL AID FOR JOBLESS

Free Farm Bureau Opens Here to Co-ordinate Agriculturists and Unemployed

Prospects of a solution of the unemployment problem in Los Angeles were in evidence when the Free Farm Labor Bureau opened yesterday at 901 North Alameda street under the auspices and direction of the United States Employment Service Farm Labor Division.

J. H. Fallin, in charge of the bureau, said that within the next few months he expects to be able to find employment throughout the State for thousands of men who will be directed, free of charge, to the ranches on which they are needed. Mr. Fallin has asked the government for five field men or State agents to assist him by keeping in contact with agriculturists and by surveying crop, labor, housing and wage conditions.

SUCCESS ELSEWHERE

"The farm labor division has met with success everywhere it has been tried and the government employment service is expanding its program in this direction," said Mr. Fallin. "Through our Los Angeles bureau we expect to be able to distribute such definite and valuable information regarding farm employment in this State and the rotating crops, that thousands of men will be able to find employment."

Mr. Fallin, who has conducted similar government bureaus at Shreveport, La., and at San Antonio and Dallas, Tex., said that at San Antonio employment was found through the bureau for the majority of 80,000 applicants.

CO-ORDINATION PLANNED

"What was done in Texas can be duplicated in Los Angeles," said Mr. Fallin. "By keeping employers and employees constantly in touch with one another and co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce and other civic and industrial organizations we should be able to minimize the unemployment situation in California."

The opening of the local bureau is the result of a recent visit to Los Angeles of Francis I. Jones, director-general of the United States Employment Service, United States Department of Labor, who, assisted by the staff of the agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce, selected the bureau site which has been leased by the government. At present four large rooms are being used.

PLANE USED AS AMBULANCE

Giant Craft Rushed to Desert Scene of Fitzhugh Auto Tragedy Brings Dead and Injured Home

Bearing the body of James M. Fitzhugh, 40-year-old Los Angeles steel executive, and his seriously injured wife and two young sons, a giant monoplane air ambulance landed at Grand Central Air Terminal yesterday afternoon completing its mercy dash over 400 miles of desert and mountains on a round trip to Lone Pine, near the scene of the automobile crash that took Fitzhugh's life and injured all but one member of his family late Monday night.

Mrs. Fitzhugh, James M. Fitzhugh, Jr., and Quentin Fitzhugh all will recover, it was reported last night from the hospital of Dr. Q. J. Rowley of 181 South Virgil avenue.

PAIR RUSH TO SCENE

Dr. Rowley is Mrs. Fitzhugh's father, and rushed by automobile Monday night in company with Fitzhugh's father, Thornton Fitzhugh of 401 North Avenue 50, when informed of the accident.

When they arrived at Lone Pine they found the son dead—his skull fractured in the wreckage of the family car that skidded from the road near Olancha. The wife was suffering from internal injuries, a fractured hip, severe cuts and bruise and shock. James, Jr., 12, and Quentin, 7, were severely cut and bruised.

The Curtiss-Wright Flying Service here was called and one of their trimotored Ford cabin ships was converted into an ambulance.

TRIP MADE QUICKLY

Pilots Hal Sweet and Howard Batt left the Glendale port at 9 a.m., sped to Lone Pine and were back at 2 p.m. with the three injured persons, Fitzhugh's body, Dr. Rowley and Fitzhugh's parent.

Jean Fitzhugh, 12, the only member of the family to escape injury, was visiting at La Jolla.

The Fitzhugh residence is at 1139 Daniels street, Beverly Hills. For many years Fitzhugh was sales manager for the former Columbia Steel Corporation—since merged with a national steel group.

Since the merger Futzhugh had been managing secretary of the Iron and Steel Foundry Association.

Funeral arrangements were being completed by the elder Fitzhugh last night with the J. W. McKeller Company, 630 Venice Boulevard.

ROBBERY TOTAL AT HIGH MARK

'August Breaks All Records for Summer Month

Police Statistics Reveal Gain in Burglaries

McCaleb will Send Aides to Underworld Resorts

Breaking every previous record for a summer month, robberies in August just ended totaled 170. Only twice in the history of the city has this figure been exceeded, first during December, 1928, when robberies totaled 172, and in March of that year, when the total stood at 171. Heretofore hold-ups in any summer month were kept well under the mark, police records disclose, except in July last, when a new record, since that time, was established.

The above figures were compiled by the police statistician's office yesterday. Other compilations show burglaries totaled 580 during August, an increase of ninety-five when compared with 485 during July. The increase in hold-ups amounted to twenty-five, the total in July being 145.

Simultaneously with the issuance of the above crime figures Inspector August, Captain of Detectives McCone, recently transferred from the Wilshire detective bureau, began the task of organizing of the central police detective squad. McCaleb's assignment was made, Chief of Detectives Horrall said, because of his good record in robbery investigations.

"Despite rumors to the effect that we may be suspected of collusion because we associate with characters of the underworld," Capt. McCaleb announced, "that's just what we are going to do from now on. That's where we've got to get the information in rounding up these hold-ups and that's just where we are going. I am not going to order my men to booting joints to get liquor, nor to gambling-joints to gamble. They will go there to do police work, and if those above me will trust us as they should, I'll cut down that crime record in short time."

Today's Bible Text

And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.—1 Thess. v, 23.

TRADE SLUMPS

The foreign trade of Italy is reported to have shrunk more than 20 per cent during the first seven months of this year. Now watch Mussolini go down to the dock to see what the dickens is the matter.

A NOTABLE HONOR

The American Bar Association this year awards its distinguished service medal to Elihu Root, America's foremost statesman. This for his work in connection with the World Court and his efforts in the extension of universal peace and justice. A noble decoration worthily placed.

ROBBING A CHURCH

Thieves broke open the cornerstone of a New York church and took out the samples of our national currency which it contained. There was less than $50, but it seems odd when robbers voluntarily go to church for their booty. The pastor is glad that they left the church behind.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY

The government desired to place some $120,000,000 in short-term bills to cover certain conditions in the Treasury Department so Andy Mellon placed a little advertisement in the paper to that effect. The response was quick and ample. More than $400,000,000 worth of notes were subscribed and the bids were such that the desired amount was finally placed at a fraction less than 2 per cent interest.

TOURISTS IN FRANCE

Tourists are said to have left $400,000,000 in France last year. Some $130,000,000 of this came from America, but we are not as easy this year. The stock market caught a lot of travelers who are staying on this side this year. The big end of the tourist revenue comes from Germany. The old cry of "On to Paris" still goes, but now the Germans are paying their way. Anyhow, Paris is the rallying place of the spenders.

SELLING A SALOON

A New Jersey man recently advertised his saloon for sale. He called it a saloon in the advertisement, told where it was, and said that any enterprising man could clean up $20,000 a year on the place. The card created something of a stir and some of the drys wanted to know why the enforcement officers did not get after the advertiser. The officials explained that they could not stop the advertising, but they might be able to fix it so that the saloon would sell nothing but near beer. It must be hard to make $20,000 a year handling this mild product at retail, but this advertiser says it can be done.

GOOD JOB WELL DONE

Announcement of the Pasadena health authorities that there are not now any cases of acute anterior poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, under quarantine in that city, together with other announcements from county and municipal health authorities indicating that the epidemic is well in hand elsewhere, is an indication of effective work during the summer months, both by physicians, public and private, and by the public. Danger is not over, to be sure; there are still some cases and there should be no lessening of precaution, but it seems apparent that the climax has passed.

This epidemic of infantile paralysis started earlier than previous visitations, there were more early cases, and everything pointed to a serious epidemic over a prolonged period. Heretofore, the apex of incidence has not been reached before late September. It is possible to interpret the present early decline as due to a seasonal shifting or to the exhaustion of the supply of susceptibles, but it is more likely that the energetic prophylactic and curative campaign of the various health departments has produced the effect.

The reopening of school, while it brings children together, rather lessens the danger than increases it, since the youngsters are under strict medical supervision at all times. Parents should, of course, co-operate as they have during the summer, by also watching the health of their children closely.

PROGRESS IN BUILDING

Under the spur of President Hoover, public building by the national government is already far ahead of schedule. In the first six months of the year $50,000,000 was expended in this way and it is contemplated that $60,000,000 more will be laid out during the remainder of the year. The public-building program for 1930 under the ten-year building plan was only $47,000,000. It is evident that if State and local governments are doing as well, a great deal of the slack of business can be taken up in this way. There is some evidence that it is being so taken up, as a survey of building in thirty-seven States showed contracts, public and private, of more than $2,632,000,000 for the first six months, while the same States in 1929—the full year—had building amounting to $5,754,000,000. The average annual construction bill in the United States amounts to about $7,000,000,000.

In the States surveyed, public works contracts, which include highways and water-front improvements as well as buildings, amounted to $115,000,000 in excess of the same period of 1929.

The Federal road-building program was considerably enlarged by Congress as a means of unemployment relief, $125,000,000 being appropriated this year as compared with $75,000,000 the year before. In the drought-ridden States the program will be utilized to aid farmers whose crops were wiped out. While paving work in the Northern States usually stops about September 1 because of weather conditions, it is possible to do much grading work and to construct some types of highways in the winter or at least the fall months and this will be done on the Federal-aid roads.

Federal building construction, in and out of the Capital, is no mere "make-work" proposal. The buildings are actually needed, Federal building having fallen far behind the national requirements during the war and the economy period that followed. In many cities Federal departments are housed in leased quarters and President Hoover regards this as a waste of public money which can be stopped by expediting building. The President wants all government activities carried on under the government's own roofs so far as this is possible.

The ten-year program was planned with this in view, but at the present rate the expenditures will be made in much less time, leaving the amount of building remaining to be done in the coming years of prosperity, at a nominal figure. This is in accordance with the opinion of economists that public construction should be undertaken at times when private construction is at a low ebb, and not undertaken when general business is good and the demand for labor high.

A good test of this theory will be afforded when economic statistics of these times are available for analysis. Definite proof will be lacking, since there are many factors in the business situation impossible to evaluate, but the results may be judged within a fair margin of error.

The further stimulation of public building follows a similar stimulation ordered some time ago for flood-control work. The necessity of undertaking, at the same time, a drought-relief program has greatly complicated the employment situation, but President Hoover is accustomed to carrying complicated burdens and no one need doubt that he is equal to the task.

COSTE MAKES IT

Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French master aviators, proved they are not only skillful pilots but extremely lucky men when they landed yesterday after their trans-Atlantic flight from east to west. Only three planes, theirs included, have spanned the distance in that direction while men accounted the best aviators in the world have gone to watery graves attempting it. Coste and Le Brix made the more easy passage of the South Atlantic, as have others, but that is another sort of task.

The first plane to cross landed in Labrador, the second at Halifax. Coste and Bellonte won their way to Curtiss Field, New York, before coming to earth, a much better record, since both predecessors started their flights from Ireland. Previous flights from France have uniformly failed. Coste and Bellonte alone reached their goal.

Aviation has a long way to go before regular service over the North Atlantic can be established. About all that Coste and Bellonte have accomplished, beyond a feat of consummate daring, is proof that the passage is not impossible under the most favorable conditions, such as rarely occur. Since no one considers that it is impossible, given favorable conditions, and since no one has questioned Coste's courage, the net result is not a great deal. Steady progress rather than spectacular accomplishment does aviation more good.

COOLIDGE ON CRIME

Calvin Coolidge says that "The laws will be enforced when the people clearly and emphatically indicate that they demand enforcement. But law is not enough. We need a change of heart." In other words, it is up to the people!

As usual our sore thumb sticks out! We blame our criminal shortcomings on the police and judges. We accuse the politicians of vacillation in nullifying our desires. We scold the foreigner within our borders.

Possibly all these things are true in a measure. But if the police knew that they are expected to clean up crime conditions, it would be done. If the judges whom we elect were not like ourselves, the thugs would not be allowed to slip through their hands unsentenced. If the politicians realized that we mean business, these chameleons would take on our coloration. A politician is a good barometer. He is sensitive to bad weather. He seldom has an original idea. He is a professional pulse-feeler. He is a bauble that rides on the wave and trims to keep afloat. He is a time-server and does what his constituency wants. And if the foreigner did not feel at home, he would get out. Possibly he would not enter.

Like people, like politicians! Like people, like police and judges. We are a big bunch of buck-passers!

As long as the politician sees that we are uninterested in elections, he doesn't bother either to pass the laws we want or to enforce them. As long as the gangster observes that we are easy in the officers we select, his trade is made easy.

Chicago has exactly the conditions she invites. If the citizenry of the Windy City did more than exude hot air, the racketeer would hunt new holes. If the whole system were not honeycombed with vice, the recent revelations of bribed officers would be impossible.

When the people prefer sleek politicians and grafters to run things, there are plenty of this scum floating around to respond. Los Angeles has exactly the type of law enforcement she wants. And nothing more!

HOPELESS
By James J. Montague

I'd like to have a robot—
A studious one I need—
To toil away from day to day
On books I ought to read.
And when I was not sleepy,
But tossed about in bed
From out the gloom that filled the room
To tell me what they said.

I'd like to have a robot
To sass the traffic cop,
Who said to me, "Hi, can't you see?
A red light means to stop."
And when, as sometimes happens,
A rude dispute arose
To walk up to the man in blue
And punch him on the nose.

I'd like to have a robot—
A thing of cams and wheels
And gears and jigs and whirligigs
Which could digest my meals.
So when I had a surfeit
Of fruit or pie or cake
I need not stay till break of day
In pain and wide awake.

I'd like to have a robot
Which when I turned a screw,
Would do the work I always shirk,
But which I need to do.
But luck is never with me
And vainly must I wait,
I have the kind I want in mind,
But it will come too late.

LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

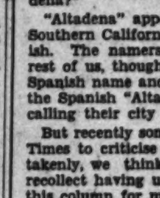
THE other day we mentioned the fact that Pasadena might have been named Muscat had not some one protested that that name sounded too much like "muskrat" and that the name is Chippewa Indian, not Spanish. As many a Southlander who knows a little Spanish has been stumped by the name of Pasadena, that statement immediately called forth inquiries for fuller explanations. "If Pasadena is an Indian name," one writes, "what is Altadena?"

"Altadena" appears to be typical Southern California real estate Spanish. The namers, like many of the rest of us, thought Pasadena was a Spanish name and that by combining the Spanish "Alta" with it they were calling their city the "upper crown."

But recently some one wrote to The Times to criticise our Spanish (mistakenly, we think, because we don't recollect having used any Spanish in this column for many months) so let us not theorize, but again quote from that fine new literary work, "The History of Pasadena and the San Gabriel Valley," the facts about the naming of Pasadena.

Look What Indians Did

It may astound visitors in California, or newcomers, to know that Pasadena, a city now famous over the world, was not dreamed of in 1873 and not incorporated till 1886. It was stock-market panics and drought and the need of farm relief in the Middle West, similar to those the same area has endured this year, which really inspired the founding of Pasadena. In the winter of 1872-73 a group met in the home of Dr. Thomas B. Elliott in Indianapolis to consider emigrating to California, and in May, 1873, organized the "California Colony of Indiana," with Calvin Fletcher as general manager. The following August that group sent a committee of three—D. M. Berry, Nathan Kimball and John H. Baker—to Los Angeles to find a site for the colony. They began negotiations for the historic Rancho San Pascual, but before the negotiations could be completed the colony failed, a good many of the people back in Indiana dropping out. Los Angeles people went in with them, however, and a new organization, the San Gabriel Orange Grove Association, was formed. As soon as the land they acquired was subdivided Fletcher suggested that the community should be named and proposed the name of Muscat because of the great number of muscat grapes raised there. Letters then were coming to colonists addressed "in care the Indiana Colony, near Los Angeles." Despite Fletcher's leadership in community affairs the name was voted down because of its similarity to "muskrat," and Indianola became the unofficial name of the community. It was argued that the Postoffice Department would not approve that name for a town far from Indiana, however, so Dr. Elliott wrote of their perplexity to an old college friend who was a missionary among the Chippewa Indians in Wisconsin. Don Manuel Garfias, to whom the rancho had been granted, he wrote his friend, used to speak of his homesite as "the key to the ranch," or key to the valley. Working on that idea, Dr. Elliott's friend—whose name is unknown—suggested these names from the Chippewa:



Weoquan Pa sa de na—crown of the valley.
Gish Ka de na Pa sa de na—peak of the valley.
Tape Daegun Pa sa de na—key of the valley.
Pe que de na Pa sa de na—hill of the valley.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the San Gabriel Orange Grove Association held April 22, 1875, the names of Indianola, Granada and Pasadena were proposed, but Dr. Elliott's argument that Pasadena, meaning the Crown of the Valley, was the most appropriate name prevailed by a vote of 4 to 1. Although it seems that in the original Chippewa pa sa de na means only "valley" and the omitted "weoquan" means "crown of," Pasadena has grown famous as "the crown city," and certainly it deserves a crown as the queen of the valley.

Perfectly Logical

Leeside: Any reader of yours who wishes to make $1,000,000 on a sure-fire, perfectly logical proposition may learn something to his advantage by communicating with me. You know that some people stay away from our beautiful mountains because they are afraid of snakes. Though you don't hear of one vacationer a summer getting bitten by a snake, the fear of snakes does at least $5,000,000 damage a year to mountain resort owners. Therefore, it will be a cinch to get them to put money into my guaranteed infallible snake trap.

The idea is very simple—a kind of chicken wire of a certain mesh. As you know, snakes follow regular tracks, as deer do. Find a snake track and put up this trap, with a china egg on each side of it. As the snake comes along, it will follow the egg on the side it is on, then start through the wire netting, pushing down the egg already swallowed as it goes, and swallow the egg on the other side. The two eggs thus will keep the reptile from going either forward or backward, and it will have to remain right there till the snake skinner comes along from whatever leather factory has bought the snake-skin concession. Yours for more wealth and fewer snakes.—Clark T. Henderson.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

SUCH GRACE AS IS POSSIBLE
(Baltimore Sun.)

The "free pardon" of Tom Barrett, an English business man in South Africa, after serving three years for an offense which the Manchester Guardian describes as "a matter of bookkeeping," may be a "Gold Coast blunder," but the reported circumstances of Barrett's conviction suggest that his real crime was to make a profit of 20,000 pounds which had eluded the native sons. At any rate, valid reasons are difficult to conceive for sending a man to prison on a charge of fraud because, as head of a one-man company, he had transferred money from himself to himself. The conduct of the courts throughout the whole case suggests the rancor which the aborigines often feel toward the smart immigrant.

From the American point of view, the interesting aspect of the case lies in the fact that Barrett is to receive a compensatory sum along with the pardon, and, although it is obvious that no financial stipend can be regarded as compensation for serving three years in prison for a crime one did not commit—or in this case for no crime at all—the fact remains that Great Britain, commonly cited as ferocious in her dealing with criminals, excels us in the graceful acknowledgment of errors.

"SAFETY-FIRST" RESULTS
(Philadelphia Public Ledger)

Railway officials take comfort in the fact that statistics filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission show that while the number of railroad grade-crossing accidents in the first four months of this year were greater both in number and in the attending fatalities than in the first four months of 1929, this increase is more than offset by the fact that in the intervening period the number of motor vehicles using the crossings increased 23 per cent. This optimistic view is strengthened by the comparatively small increases in accidents and in the number of persons killed and injured, compared with the record five years ago.

Many dangerous grade crossings are being removed, but recognizing the practical impossibility of abolishing them all, the railroads, besides the millions spent annually upon the crossings themselves, have devoted their energies to promoting "safety-first" campaigns and to the distribution of countless posters urging the motorists to "cross crossings cautiously." That these efforts have had their effect cannot be doubted, but the solution of the problem of making the railroad crossings safer will be found only in the co-operation of the public. So long as unprotected grade crossings exist, there will be accidents unless drivers learn the lesson of caution. They have been a long time learning, but the records show progress, slight though it may seem to be.

TO INVESTIGATE SAMOA

BY E. NOBLE CALDWELL

One of the most important Congressional commissions in recent years is that appointed by President Hoover to decide, by its investigations and subsequent recommendations to Congress, the future government of American Samoa. The commission with Hon. Hiram Bingham, senior Senator from Connecticut, as chairman, will leave Los Angeles for Pago Pago September 10 on the U.S.S. Omaha, proceeding via Honolulu. Other members of the delegation are Representative Edgar R. Kelas of Pennsylvania as vice-chairman, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, recent delegate to the Naval Conference in London, and Representative Guinn Williams of Texas. The Samoans will be represented by High Chief Tufele of Manu'a, High Chief Mauga of the Eastern District of Tutuila and Chief Magalei of the Western District of Tutuila, these being the three civil divisions of what is known as American Samoa.

Official laxity has characterized our dealings with Samoa ever since the Three Powers Pact of 1899 verified our previous arrangement with them for the maintenance of a coaling station on the shores of the harbor of Pago Pago and placed the small islands east of the one hundred and seventy-first meridian under our jurisdiction. The present investigation concerns the ethics of government quite as much as the material grievances cited by the Samoans and the spirit as well as the letter of agreements dating back over a period of half a century, together with a scrutiny of the terms of office of the seventeen naval commanders who have acted as governors during the thirty years of the Navy's administration of affairs.

Samoa has historical and cultural traditions comparable with other eastern civilizations and a long dynasty of powerful kings which started with her rebellion from the Tongans between the twelfth and fourteenth centuries.

Their government always has been by fonos, or councils of chiefs, and the autocratic rule of a single individual in the transitory position of governor, as authorized by President McKinley on February 19, 1900, when he placed the islands under the Department of the Navy, always has been an offense in policy. The Secretary of the Navy under the same date placed the government in the hands of the commander of the warship stationed at Tutuila. The original conciliatory clause still remains in the orders received by each ship's captain: "While your position as commandant will invest you with authority over the islands in the group embraced within the limits of the station, you will at all times exercise care to conciliate and cultivate friendly relations with the natives." That it has not always availed is evidenced by many instances of bitterness and misunderstandings and one sympathetic and discerning Governor scarcely can undo the errors of his predecessor in the brief three-year term of Navy regulations.

It was this traditional aversion to dictatorship that prompted the assassination of the war priest, Tamafaiga, in 1829, when he assumed the powers of a deity following the death of Safa-o-Fafine, the last of the A'ana dynasty, and this was the beginning of the downfall of Samoan independence. For the next seventy-five years the three dynasties, Malietoa, Mata'afa and Tamasese, waged a desultory warfare for supremacy. During this time — beginning about 1850—England, Germany and the United States became involved in political and trade contentions until they were, at last, furnishing the different factions with arms and ammunition under a pretense of patriotic support, which resulted directly in what historians cite as one of the most cold-blooded international dispositions of a helpless people the civilized world ever has countenanced. Malloy writes: "By order of these interested powers the Samoans were parceled out, bonds of friendship and blood rent asunder and the barriers of customs, quarantine and immigration erected to restrict the intercourse of peoples of the same race bound together by close ties of marriage and blood."

But in 1877, when affairs were daily growing more serious in Upolu, the chiefs of all Samoa sent High Chief Mamea to Washington to seek some kind of political protection. Not until the following year, however, did he succeed; and even then the coaling-station privilege was the peg upon which was hung a flimsy treaty—our first departure from a policy of noninterference in foreign entanglements in the brief clause: "Should any differences arise between Samoa and another government at peace with the United States the government of the latter will employ its good offices for the purpose of adjusting these differences upon a satisfactory and solid foundation."

The following year Germany was granted a coaling-station base at Saluafata on the north coast of Upolu. But this anchorage being far inferior to Pago Pago, she immediately began covert negotiations with Tongans of high position toward acquiring a base in the harbor of Neiafu on the island of Vavau, which is about one-fourth the size of the coveted Pago Pago. When King Tubou II found himself tricked into signing such an agreement he took immediate steps toward a British protectorate and the base never was established. Likewise England's privilege of a coaling station in Samoa, granted also in 1879, never was exercised.

Had not the copra trade loomed large for future development this logically would have terminated foreign interference in Samoa, for by this time a season of peace had been inaugurated under the leadership of High Chief Malietoa Laupepa. But unable to cope with the skilled intrigue of Europeans he, in a witless impulse on May 14, 1886, permitted our consul to unfurl the Stars and Stripes over Apia. Secretary Bayard made diplomatic haste to call a conference with English and German state departments. They met at Washington in June and July of 1887 and, coming to no decision, adjourned until the following year, when they would have had time to consult with home offices.

When the news of no action reached Apia the race for booty started afresh with Germany well in the lead. Each of the three nations sent warships to defend her interests. Malietoa Laupepa threw up his hands in helpless confusion. The three powers went into another huddle and the Berlin Act was evolved and signed in June, 1889. This allowed the Samoans the privilege of selecting their own ruler, providing they did not choose Mata'afa—this when they knew that Mata'afa was the choice of the Samoans and was in line for the position according to their laws and customs, but also he was known to oppose the Germans.

Naturally this increased the confusion and in the turmoil of the next six years the United States developed a conscience to the extent that President Cleveland in his third annual message to Congress in 1895 said, in part: "Our situation in this matter has been inconsistent with the missions and traditions of our government, in violation of the principles we profess, and in all its phases is mischievous and vexatious." Yet no attempt was made to alter the Berlin Act and the Samoans continued to mill about without a leader. Four years later the final Three Powers Pact was signed in Washington on December 2, 1899. In this agreement Great Britain traded her Samoan interests to Germany for the Bismarck Archipelago and the United States was given the islands east of the one hundred and seventy-first meridian—this thirty-mile channel between Upolu and Tutuila severing a nation.

Entire American Samoa, in approximated area, can be set down on Catalina Island and there still will be one square mile to spare. This includes Rose Island, an uninhabited coral atoll which the Samoans call Muu-o-manu, or Bird Island, but not Gente Hermoso, known as Swain's Island, which, in 1925, was transferred from the Union Group to American Samoa at the request of its owners and with the consent of England. Capt. Swain acquired the island in 1850 and his descendants, now numbering about sixty people and comprising the population of the island, have 300 acres of cocoanut plantation. It lies 100 miles from any neighbor of the Union Group and is 200 miles northeast from Tutuila. The highest point above sea level is twenty feet.

It is an open secret that the Samoans hold a hope to be ultimately reunited as a nation; but it is frankly conceded that without a protectorate of some understanding power their long-diffused government could not function until a revival of their traditional selection of chiefs could provide a supreme ruler. The Fono, or council of chiefs, is a dignified deliberative body with as much formality and consideration of rank as any European parliament or congress. Each high chief appears with his high-talking chief, or prime minister, and all conversation is in "royal dialect," or state language, which is scarcely understood by those not trained for high positions. Any election of a chief under the present regimen must be approved by the governor, and this subordination of an age-old custom to the whim of a transitory Navy official has been a smoldering humiliation that has flared in open resentment upon occasions of stark autocracy. There is also a South Sea rumor that Tahiti might make overtures toward an American protectorate if Congress grants self-government to Samoa.

For a territorial government in Samoa there is no question of more than a nominal financial obligation. Samoans always have been economically independent, even with a minimum of labor. There is no indebtedness and always a surplus in the treasury. Only one small plantation is privately owned and comparatively little land is under the lawful forty-year lease to foreigners. Samoans own their lands by villages or districts under their own communal rights, and the Navy has guarded closely against their exploitation. Nature supplies an abundance of foodstuffs—yams, taro, breadfruit, papaya, pineapple, bananas and avocados, besides the cocoanut, which is both food and beverage, and thirty-two varieties of edible fish. Fairly good hogs, cattle and poultry are raised. The Samoans always have been noted for their fine physique and care of the body.

The Navy, of course, is desirous of retaining this most pleasant of its outposts—the other two under the same order of administration being Guam and the Virgin Islands—and with a sympathetic Governor who understands the Polynesian traditions and temperament there is much to uphold the present policy. However, the Samoans deem it only simple justice that their own laws and customs, lore and culture be preserved according to their values; and this they insist cannot be done under a form of government at variance with both their standards and ours.

If a man cannot get wealth, credit will answer just as well.

When I was young my Uncle Chee talked often to admiring bands; for he had been across the sea, had traveled in far distant lands. On winter nights we stayed at home to hear him tell, absorbing yarns of sights he beheld in Rome, of Scotia's mountains, glens and tarns. And when our pastor wished to stage a big assemblage in the kirk, he'd call upon our Uncle Chee to tell stories of the Greek or Turk. At school I've heard the teacher say, "Oh, children, I've arranged a treat, for Uncle Chee will come today, and tell you tales that can't be beat." In all the country round about, in all the world spread out-of-doors, my uncle was the only scout who'd ever been to foreign shores. The people thought it was a feat to travel fifty miles away, and being done it they would bleat their adventures day by day. And so my uncle always seemed the Marco Polo of his time. He'd seen the things of which we dreamed in visions wondrous and sublime. When condescending to release some startling whiskery and hoar, all other people held their peace—my uncle always had the floor. My uncle never balked or shied when called upon for stirring tales; he kept on talking till he died of things he'd seen in Greece and Wales. Now every one has crossed the seas and traveled much in distant climes and sampled foreign tripe and cheese, and some have done scores of times. And if a guy rears up to tell the story of his trip abroad, the people rise as one and yell, and reach for every basehead or clod. We vote the citizen a bore, a killjoy of the fiercest kind, who'd tell us of a foreign shore—we think he's spiteful and unkind.

IT IS DIFFERENT

When I was young my Uncle Lee talked often to admiring friends; for he had been across the sea, had traveled in far distant lands. On winter nights we stayed at home to hear him tell absorbing yarns of sights he had beheld in Rome, of Scotland's mountains, glens and tarns. And when our pastor wished to see a assemblage in the kirk, he'd call upon our Uncle Chee for stories of the Greek or Turk. As I've heard the teacher say, "Oh, children, I've arranged a treat, for Uncle Chee will come today, and tell you tales that can't be beat." In all the country round about, in all the widespread out-of-doors, my uncle was the only scout who'd ever been to foreign shores. There people thought it was a feat to travel fifty miles away, and having done it they would bleat of their adventures day by day, and so my uncle always seemed like Marco Polo of his time, he'd tell us the things of which we dreamed in visions wondrous and sublime. When condescending to release some stories hoary and hoar, all other people held their peace—my uncle always had the floor. My uncle never balked or shied when called upon for stirring tales; he kept on talking till he'd told of things he'd seen in Greece and Wales. Now everybody has crossed the seas and traveled much in distant climes, and sampled foreign tripe and cheese, and some have done it times of times. And if a man rises up to tell the story of his trip abroad, the people rise as one and yell, and reach for cabbages ahead or clod. We vote that man a bore, a killjoy of the worst kind, who'd tell us of the foreign shore—we think him hateful and unkind.

Of Interest to Women

Society

By MYRA NYE

A church yesterday afternoon was filled by friends of Miss Lois Hansen, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Hansen of Beverly Hills, became the bride of Frank Pierce Alexander, son of Dr. Robert N. Warren of Chicago, Ill., at the home of her parents.

The marriage by her father, who was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Forsey Hansen. Dr. and Mrs. Williams of Atlantic City, N. J., arrived at the confirmation of their son, who came to California to be present at the wedding and to read the service. Harold Whastaff was best man.

A reception by Miss Mildred Hansen followed throughout the house, which took place before the ceremony. A long aisle outlined with ribbon and flowers, with floral arches before the altar, preceded the bridal party to the improvised altar of the home.

The bride was attired in a long, white satin gown, the beauty of which was accentuated by its trimming of rose point and duchess lace. She wore a tulle veil attached with orange blossoms and her bridal bouquet was composed of sprays of the valley, garnished with orchids. Her sister as attendant wore a blue lace gown with picture hat, and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. Hansen, mother of the bride, received her guests in a gown of lace gown with corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Warren left immediately for Santa Barbara for a honeymoon, to be followed by a visit to Maywood, where they will be at home to their friends after the first of next month.

The bride was graduated from Occidental College at Nashville and Warren attended the University of Chicago and University of Illinois. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity.

Three Bottles Helped Her

I cannot praise your good medicine enough. After my baby came I was rundown. I had to go to bed often through the day. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I felt like a different woman. If any other woman has those tired feelings as I had, I advise her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Harold Barrow, 36 Cane Street, Fitchburg, Massachusetts.

Police Radio Plan Approved

Formal approval of specifications for a radio transmitter and receiving sets for the radio telephone service for the police department was given by the Police Commission yesterday. The board voted thanks to Wilfred Deming, sound engineer for Movietone studios, who passed on the specifications. The latter were sent to the city purchasing agent to advertise for bids.

The board also asked City Purchasing Agent Oughton to advertise for bids on fifty new motorcycles, with not less than seventy-four cubic inches' piston displacement, for the police department, and for 100,000 pounds of bread for city prisoners during the next three months.

Wife Says Mate Bathed in Gloves

Rubber gloves protected her husband's hands when he tubbed, said Mrs. Myrtle Plank Rousseau yesterday in asking a divorce from Harry Rousseau.

"In taking his bath he would wear rubber gloves so as not to contaminate his hands, which he thought very fine and beautiful," asserted the wife, a music teacher.

She said her husband forced her to pawn her rings and give him the money. On his birthday, she said, she presented him with a vase which he smashed in a rage next day. Superior Judge Burnell granted her a divorce.

PRIDE GETS BLAME FOR SHOP RAID

Suspect Tries Robbery Because He Didn't Want to Write Home

Broke and too proud to write home for money was the excuse Clarence F. Brink, 22-year-old son of an Omaha (Neb.) lumberman, gave Detective Lieutenant Moran for his asserted attempt to rob Mrs. Bess Goodman in her sofa-pillow shop at 5576 Beverly Boulevard yesterday noon.

Noticeably regretful for his asserted break into criminal activity Brink dejectedly told officers he has never been in trouble before and hopes his father will not hear of his present predicament. He was booked at Wilshire Police Station on suspicion of robbery.

The youth went into Mrs. Goodman's shop armed with a pair of pliers wrapped in tire tape, Moran said, and suddenly struck at her. She screamed and he immediately became frightened and ran out of the store.

His hasty exit was observed by F. C. Crow, laundry-wagon driver, who chased him into an apartment-house at 207 North Oxford avenue and then called Officer L. I. King who was walking his beat near by.

McCABE MURDER CASE CONTINUED ONE WEEK

Trial of Wilbur McCabe, charged with the murder of Henry P. Miller, University Club night clerk, and attempted robbery, was continued until Monday by Superior Judge McComb yesterday. The continuance was necessary to permit the court to complete the trial of Juan Reyna, now pending.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

PERSISTENT VOMITING SHOULD RECEIVE MEDICAL ATTENTION

There are all types of vomiting, from that which is rightfully called regurgitation and merely means that baby has stuffed himself like a little piggy and "gives up" what he can't hold, to the really serious type of vomiting called "projectile" and which lives up to its name.

This latter type may so easily go unrecognized, while the mother believes the child has a "weak stomach" and tries one food after another, sure she will hit upon one that will end the vomiting.

Mrs. R. A. W. describes this type very accurately: "Baby is 3 months old and has vomited almost since birth. At first he was breast fed but we decided my milk was too rich and changed to a skimmed-milk formula. We have had him on five different baby foods and he vomits them all. As soon as he takes food you can hear it rolling around in his stomach and then in an hour to two hours he vomits it back, seemingly every drop he has eaten. Sometimes it is sour and sometimes it isn't. He is also very constipated and has gained but very little, now weighs nine pounds and weighed seven at birth. Do you think lactic acid milk would help?"

CONSULT DOCTOR

Won't you let me send you a leaflet on vomiting? Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request, please. Meanwhile, take this child to a doctor who will understand how to deal with this special type of vomiting. The child needs medical attention and the food is of secondary consideration. Probably any of the foods you have tried would have been successful if the physical handicap were not preventing him from being nourished by it.

This condition, or at least what it seems to be from your description, is called pyloric stenosis. The pylorus (from the Greek "gate-keeper") is a ring of muscle at the lower end of the stomach leading into the small intestine. When food goes into the stomach it is first reduced to an acid fluid. As the muscles of the stomach contract, this small ring of muscle opens up and little by little the fluid passes into the small intestine.

Sometimes from birth this ring of muscle is so small and constricted that even when the stomach contracts again and again, only a tiny bit of food passes through. Eventually, after hours of this effort (you notice this in the rolling motions you mentioned,) the fluid is shot back. It cannot go into the intestine, so is pushed forcefully out of the mouth.

Under these conditions baby gets little or no nourishment, and stubborn constipation is just the result of that. Unless given some help he may die of starvation. Thick foods, such as milk made thick with cereal, are excellent to use as they are harder to vomit. Usually drops of a strong drug are given before each feeding to relax the muscle. If these methods fail, an operation can be performed to cut the muscle in such a way as to make normal digestion possible. Lactic acid, being a thick food and capable of being fed in small quantities, is sometimes a very good choice when this condition is present.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

VEGETABLE SOUFFLE

Blend three tablespoonfuls of shortening with two tablespoonfuls of flour in a sauce pan, gradually add one cup of milk, and stir until boiling, then half cupful of grated cheese, and gradually stir in the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, a seasoning of salt, and paprika, and cook until the mixture thickens. Remove from the fire and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Remove from the fire and add three cupfuls of cooked shredded cabbage, pour the mixture into a mold and over the top, place sliced tomatoes, that have been seasoned with salt and paprika, sprinkle the top with buttered bread crumbs, and bake until the mixture is firm in a moderate oven. About thirty minutes.

BAKED ORANGE QUARTERS

Cut off the blossom and stem end of four medium-sized oranges, but do not peel. Cut into quarters lengthwise and remove the seeds, place in a baking dish that you can cover, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice three-fourths cupful of sugar, then add one-fourth cupful of water, to which has been added enough red colored to make a vivid red, pour the water over the oranges and place in a moderate oven, bake until the skins can be pierced with a toothpick, basting occasionally, with the liquid in the dish. Serve with roast meats.

RABBIT CREAM LOAF

Clean and disjoint two medium-sized rabbits, place in a kettle, cover with boiling water and add a large slice of onion, a spray of parsley, six peppercorns, a bay leaf, and one-half teaspoonful of thyme, and boil until the meat is tender, cool and remove the meat and strain the stock, remove the bones, and chop up enough meat to make three cupfuls. Dissolve three tablespoonfuls of gelatine in one-third cupful of cold stock, add two cupfuls of hot stock, and boil until the gelatine is dissolved, add the three cupfuls of rabbit, two tablespoonfuls of diced pimientoes, one-half cupful of diced sweet pickles, and one-half cupful of diced ripe olives, as soon as the gelatine has cooled, mix thoroughly and fold in one cupful of whipped cream measured after the cream was whipped, pack in an oblong mold and set in the icebox to harden, serve on lettuce-covered plates, garnished with slices of hard-boiled egg that have been placed on slices of tomatoes and a ripe olive on top of the egg slices.

APRICOT CREAM PIE

Line a deep pie dish with pastry and bake, when cool, fill the bottom with halved apricots, place the syrup from apricots in a sauce pan, there should be one and one-half cupfuls, mix three tablespoonfuls of corn starch with one-third cupful of sugar, and one teaspoonful of grated orange rind, moisten this with a little of the apricot juice, and gradually pour into the juice in the sauce pan and cook for five minutes, stirring constantly, remove from the fire, cool and add the whites of three eggs, that have been beaten stiff, and to which have been added two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Pour the custard over the halved apricots, and chill before serving.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

IMPY MAKES HIS DOORWAY

Who works and strives to do his part
Will find a song down in his heart.
—Impy the Chipmunk.

Striped Chipmunk had gone back to his home, leaving Impy the black Chipmunk to go on with the building of his own home. Impy was disappointed. He had thought himself very clever when he planned to have his doorway a knothole in a hollow log that lay on the ground. He had been very proud when he told his father, Striped Chipmunk, how he had planned that doorway. So he was quite upset when Striped Chipmunk did not approve of it at all. Yes, sir, he was quite upset. He just didn't like to give up that idea. However, when he saw Jimmy Skunk come along and poke his head in that hollow log, he realized just what would happen if he had his doorway there and Shadow the Weasel came in. So he went hunting for another place for that doorway. He went all about in every direction around that stone pile, looking carefully at this place and carefully at that place, finding fault with every place. Finally, he came to an old stump that was not very far from where he had dug the present entrance to his home. Some ferns were growing around this old stump and right between two of the old roots was just the place for a hole. It would be hidden by the ferns and it could be reached under cover nearly all the way from the fence. Impy went back to his new bedroom and thought it over. Then he once more resumed work.

He would dig till he got tired; then he would go outside to get something to eat and to rest. Whenever he did this he would look over the ground so as to see that he was getting the direction of his new passage right. Then he would go back to work. Little by little that passage was pushed in the right direction. It passed straight under the pile of stones. All the sand had to be pushed back out of the doorway. It seemed to Impy that he never would get to that stump.

You know if you keep at a thing long enough you will in time reach the end. So there came a time when, as Impy dug, he came to some roots. He knew they were the roots of the old stump. He knew then that his direction had been right. He became quite excited. Carefully he dug up between the roots and presently he saw light. Then he worked more carefully than ever. He made his doorway just big enough for him to pass through easily. There it was, right where he wanted it, between the roots of the old stump under the ferns, and there wasn't a grain of sand to show that it had just been dug.

There it was, right where he had wanted it

There was a song in the heart of Impy the black Chipmunk, for now he felt that he had a real home. To be sure, he had only one room—one nice bedroom—and two long passages, one leading from the back door and one leading from the front door. He would want more rooms by and by, but for the present he was nicely situated.

"Now," said Impy, "I'll close my back door. I'll close it, but in such a way that I can open it when I want to. Then, if any one notices that pile of sand and comes to look it over, there will be no open door inviting them to come in. They won't know just where the door is."

So Impy went back and he pushed a lot of sand into the doorway of his house, until he had quite filled it. He would use that doorway no more for going in and out. He would use his front door. He really felt quite safe—very much safer than he had felt since he first began work on his new home. The next thing to do would be to make a bed. He wanted a comfortable bed in that nice bedroom of his. So Impy went out to look for material for a bed.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Mended Shirts

Some men will wear out shirts in prominent places before wearing out the entire garment. It is impossible to match all sorts of shirt patterns and one housewife solved the problem by removing pieces for patching from the tail of the shirt. Any shirt can stand a little depreciation in this particular section and there you have enough for patching the more important parts.

The New Bed

Don't economize on the quality of your mattress and springs when buying a new bed. One-third of your life is spent in bed and it is a foolish economy to stint in comfort in this direction. Find some other way and buy good, comfortable bed fixtures.

Home Decorating

Use light, thin materials in a dark room.

Net curtains give an enlarging effect to a small room.

Fringe on cotton draperies will frequently add a finished touch with little additional expense.

Don't be governed by a passing fashion when curtaining a window. Decide on the draperies that show your home to best advantage.

Draped-back curtains are a wise choice if the room is gloomy or dark. In a room of this sort every speck of light should be encouraged.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

TRY LETTUCE FOR SLEEPLESSNESS

Many people who are troubled with an inability to sleep have found that by eating a head of lettuce before going to bed they are able to fall into a refreshing, normal sleep. This is not a new discovery, for Galen, the great Grecian physician, said that he had not found a better remedy than lettuce for wakeful patients. Lettuce has long been known to have a mild soporific effect which produces sleepiness. This soporific effect in lettuce is caused by two substances, lactucarium and hyoscyamine. These substances are only contained in lettuce in small quantities, and if the lettuce is taken with an ordinary meal, no effect is noticed, but if a large supply of lettuce is taken by itself, the hypnotic effect of these chemicals will be manifest in a drowsiness shortly after the meal of lettuce.

Many people consider that lettuce is a luxury and not a food, but science has recently found that it is very rich in the important life-sustaining vitamins, and one head of lettuce a day will furnish all of the vitamins that the body requires.

Lettuce also contains a large quantity of organic alkaline-forming minerals which form a vital part of the nuclei of the nerve, blood and bone-building cells. Lettuce contains iron, calcium and potash in large quantities. For this reason, lettuce is a splendid food for neutralizing acidosis.

Lettuce also has the advantage of supplying to the intestines a soft, bulky cellulose which has the effect of offsetting constipation without irritating the intestines. You should remember to use this salad vegetable at least once a day. Try this combination salad for your next dinner:

VEGETABLE SALAD

Equal amounts of diced beets, string beans, diced celery and chopped tomatoes. Combine with a little olive oil and serve on shredded lettuce.

Many do not realize that there are a great many ways of using lettuce in a cooked form. Cooked lettuce makes a delicious addition to the evening meal. Here are some recipes for cooking lettuce:

CREAMED LETTUCE ON MELBA TOAST

Shred a head of lettuce and place it in a pan containing a half cupful of boiling water. Cover with a tight-fitting lid and boil slowly for ten minutes. Remove the lid and add a small amount of salt, two tablespoonfuls of cream, and reheat for two minutes over a slow fire with the lid off. Serve on slices of Melba toast with a lump of butter on top.

LETTUCE WITH OTHER GREENS

Mix equal parts of lettuce and mustard, watercress, dandelion and other greens. Simmer in a closely covered pot over a slow fire. Very little or no water is required if stirred occasionally. Lettuce gives the other greens a milder flavor.

LETTUCE STUFFED WITH GREEN PEAS

Cover the bottom of a pan with water, place in it a head of washed lettuce, stem end down. Separate the leaves at the top to form a cavity. Fill this with a cupful of canned green peas and add a little salt. Cover the pot tightly and cook over a slow fire fifteen minutes, after which the lettuce will be tender. Serve with drawn butter.

Police Board to Tighten Up Permit Policy

Beginning next Tuesday, the Police Commission announced yesterday, it will adopt a new policy in connection with the granting of permits for dance halls, poolrooms, junk dealers, pawnshops, dancing academies, clairvoyants and the rest, by turning down all applicants who have started business a minute before the application is granted. Those operating under such conditions are to be closed up.

Commissioner Drake pointed out that many applicants admit they already have started business to save time it requires to obtain the permits. Deputy City Attorney Kitzmiller informed the board it can turn down any applicant it desires.

Woman and Son Given Damages

Damages totaling $15,832 were awarded yesterday to Mrs. Ruth Wheeler, owner of a kindergarten, and to her son, Pierce, 4 years of age, who sued Bayard K. Gibson, real-estate subdivider, for a total of $55,000, asserting injuries. Superior Judge Morton decided the case.

Mrs. Wheelr asserted that Gibson was responsible for a collision between her car and his at Fourth street and Georgiana avenue, Santa Monica, on July 5, 1929. Attorney Bertrand J. Wellman represented the Wheelers.

LOS ANGELES GIVEN DAY AT STOCK SHOW

A resolution on behalf of Mayor Porter and the City Council was adopted yesterday proclaiming November 29, the opening date of the fifth annual Christmas live stock show, as Los Angeles Day. It is stated in the resolution that the show this year is to be the greatest of the series, and will attract attention from all over the country.

PATERNITY ASSERTION DISPUTED

Mrs. Marjorie Hummel in Answer to Divorce action Denies Husband's Charge

In an effort to prove the paternity of her baby girl, Mrs. Marjorie Hummel yesterday filed an answer and cross-complaint in the divorce proceedings brought against her by her husband, Monroe Hummel.

Hummel, in his petition for a divorce, accused his wife of misconduct and named Arthur L. Perry, engineer and manufacturers' agent, as corespondent. He also stated there were no children as the result of his marriage with the defendant and that little Mary Jean Hummel, 9 months of age, is not his child.

Mrs. Hummel in her cross-complaint insists Hummel is the father of Mary Jean Hummel and denies her relations with Perry, who was her employer, were improper.

Mrs. Hummel also declares in her complaint that her husband is indifferent to her and is mercenary.

The husband also filed a $100,000 suit against Perry accusing him of alienating the affections of Mrs. Hummel, all of which is denied in the answer.

TWO KILLED IN BLUFF TRAGEDY

Los Angeles Woman Falls Over Cliff; May Die

Husband Fatally Hurt When He Rushes to Scene

Unknown Man Also Goes to Death Trying to Help

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 2.—A gay week-end party at Rosarito Beach ended in tragedy late Saturday when two persons were killed, one perhaps fatally injured and two seriously hurt, in falling from a fifty-foot cliff at the beach, it was learned here today. The dead are Earl Williams and an unidentified man. Mrs. Earl Williams is perhaps fatally injured, while the other two relatives of the Williams couple are seriously hurt and are at the San Diego Hospital.

When Earl and Mrs. Williams of Los Angeles and Edmund and Mrs. Walberg of Manhattan Beach decided to camp at Rosarito Beach, Lower California, they did not realize the dangers ahead of them. After the party had secured their tent for the night Mrs. Williams announced to the group that she was going to see how the beach looked. A few minutes after her departure from the tent th group heard a shrieking call for help from Mrs. Williams. All three rushed out to aid her and in their hurry made the same disastrous leap that she had made only a few seconds before, down over a fifty-foot ledge to the beach.

Later, perhaps five minutes, another guest at the beach colony came to their aid and the fifth of the party went over the death ledge. The last, an unidentified man, was killed instantly. Williams was dead before help could be called. Edmund and Mrs. Walburg are in the San Diego Hospital, seriously hurt, and Mrs. Williams is at Mercy Hospital, not expected to live. According to physicians' investigations, the party had not been drinking.

Woman Clerk Bluffs Bandit Out of Haul

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 2.—A lone bandit entered the Chapman Ice Cream parlors here yesterday afternoon, and ordered Mrs. Nancy Campanella, a clerk, to get him a pint of ice cream. When the order was filled Mrs. Campanella handed the package to the man, and he produced a dollar. As the clerk opened the cash register, the bandit pointed what she first thought was a revolver at her and demanded $25. She refused. He reduced his demand to $20, and then to $15, when she slammed the drawer of the register shut and told him there was "nothing doing."

"If you shoot me you'll have plenty to answer for," she yelled, and ordered the bandit out of the place. He backed toward the door with the command that she remain where she was.

He escaped with the ice cream and the dollar bill he had tendered the woman.

Police were called and she told them that she did not believe the article the man pointed at her was a revolver.

He was described as being about 22 years of age, weighed 140 pounds, was about five feet and three inches in height, wore a white sweater, a light cap, brown trousers, white hat, had blond hair, was light complexioned, had blue eyes and apparently an American judging from his language.

TILE PLANT TO REBUILD SHED

RESEDA, Sept. 2.—Plans will be started at once for the rebuilding of the drying shed at the plant of the Reseda Clay Products Company which was destroyed by fire. The loss was about $1000. The Van Nuys Fire Department, six miles away, was called to the blaze. Firemen were forced to lay almost a half-mile of hose before they could fight the fire.

COUNTY RECORDER DIES

John H. Ferry of San Diego, Who Led Opponents at Primaries, Succumbs to Heart Attack

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 1.—John H. Ferry, 74 years of age, of 1365 Ninth street, County Recorder since 1906, died early today at the Willows, near Alpine, following a heart attack yesterday. Ferry had gone to the back-country resort for a rest after the recent primary election in which he led his two opponents.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Benbough's mortuary. On motion of Tom Hurley, the County Board of Supervisors this morning voted to appoint Mrs. Nellie C. Parsons, chief deputy recorder, to the office of recorder until the November election.

Earl S. Lovett, legal adviser to the Board of Supervisors, ruled today that the law requires the names of Mrs. Harriet E. Crane and Orths M. Swope, who ran second and third respectively to Ferry at the recent primary, to appear on the November ballot. There is some talk of a "write-in" campaign for Mrs. Parsons. Born April 20, 1856, at Utica, N. Y., Ferry came to San Diego in 1886. He purchased a ranch in the Santa Maria Valley six miles from Ramona, where the family lived three years. They then moved to Chicago, remaining there from 1900 until 1905.

Returning to this city, Ferry bought a ranch near Lakeside, now known as Lakeside Farms. In 1906 he was elected County Recorder, a position he had held ever since.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Clara S. Ferry, two sons, Howard Ferry of San Diego and Douglas H. Ferry of Rogue River, Or.; three daughters, Mary H. Ferry of San Diego, Mrs. Albin N. Caldwell, Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Richard G. Osmun, Whittier, and five grandchildren.

CALIFORNIA HAS CAUSE FOR THANKS

Redlands Doctor Returns from Nation-wide Tour; Says Conditions Best Here

REDLANDS, Sept. 2.—After a trip that took him through the West, into Canada, through New England, south to New York and Washington and then south to Texas, Dr. C. C. Hilliard, prominent local surgeon, is home convinced that California has more stable prosperity, and the people more to be thankful for, than any section of the United States.

Dr. Hilliard, Mrs. Hilliard, Jack and Betty, and Miss Annie Shield drove from Redlands to Bryce and Zion canyons, then to Wisconsin, to Detroit, to Montreal, through the Province of Quebec and then to New Brunswick, next to Maine, then to New York, Baltimore and Washington, through the Shenadoah Valley, Hot Springs, Texas, New Mexico and home.

They traveled 10,000 miles and everywhere found resort keepers overjoyed to see any tourists, for it has been one of the worst seasons in recent years, the hotel men said. Roads were excellent everywhere they went. Outstanding features of the trip were the quaint customs of the French of Quebec, the beautiful cathedrals in the smallest villages there, the Carlsbad caverns and the building at Yale University where Dr. Hilliard graduated with high honors.

At Yale they are tearing down the old buildings, some of them more than 150 years old, and spending $29,000,000 given in recent years for new buildings. New York seems prosperous, but in all other sections of the country the drought has worked havoc. Dr. Hilliard says the Carlsbad caverns are one of the greatest wonders he has ever seen and so close to California as to make a most delightful trip.

He found Texas to be one of the most interesting States he visited.

Phone Crew to Move Train to Banning Soon

BANNING, Sept. 2.—The crew of the Bell Telephone Company, which is spending several months in this section laying the underground cable for long-distance telephone lines, will be moved from Redlands to Banning in a short time. The crew travels in a special train which has sleeping quarters for the men, kitchens with electric refrigeration, lights and such things, offices for the engineers and so on.

The crew is now completing the pulling of the cables through the underground conduits between Redlands and Beaumont. The train will be moved to Banning next and this work completed then the work of taking the cable east from Banning to Whitewater will be done.

At Whitewater a booster station will be built and also the cables will be brought out of the ground and placed on poles for the long trip across the desert. The new cables will carry the most modern wires for radio network communication.

"Y" CLUB DELEGATES GO TO CONVENTION

REDLANDS, Sept. 2.—Benjamin Johnson, past president of the Redlands Y's Men's Club, and Aleck Elmslie, also of the local club, retiring district governor of Southern California, have gone to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to attend the international convention which is to be held there for a week. The local men, and delegates from Pasadena, Bellingham, Wash., and Vancouver, are the only Pacific Coast delegates to the convention.

ANGLER DROWNS ON ROCKS

Carl Everett Dies Despite All Attempts at Rescue in Point Magu Tide Tragedy; Ralph Jordan Escapes

OXNARD, Sept. 2.—One man is dead, the victim of a terrific sea at Point Magu, a second miraculously escaped with his life, and a third was saved from almost certain death by the refusal of his wife to permit him to attempt rescue of a drowning man. In one of the most tragic and spectacular holiday accidents on record here, Carl Everett, 28 years of age, of Oxnard, was pounded to his death against the rugged rocks of Point Magu while hundreds of spectators stood by helpless to aid him.

Everett and Ralph Jordan, to-gether with Mrs. Jordan and their daughter, Elsie, went to Point Magu to spend the day. Jordan and Everett spent the forepart of the afternoon fishing from the rocks on the edge of what is almost a sheer cliff of crags. Although some of the waves were high, the two men had noticed the tide coming in rapidly. About 3:30 p.m. a tremendous wave struck, knocking both men from their feet and battering them against the rocks.

Jordan, fortunately, was able to cling to a ledge and pull himself to higher safety. Everett had been partially stunned and was tossed and hurled about by the surging water. He regained consciousness, however, and struggled as best he could toward shore. Jordan threw him his strongest fish line, which snapped the minute Everett caught hold of it.

A spectator picked up a small plank to which he attached a rope in the hope of rescue. The plank disappeared in the waves. Still another passing motorist rushed to render aid, shouting, "I'll be with you in a minute." He was untying his high boots for a dive into the deadly surf when he was prevented by the pleading of his wife, who convinced him the attempt would be suicide.

"Dad" Burns and L. Wilson made a fast trip from the Point Magu fish camp to the scene in Burns's boat, but by the time they reached the spot Everett had gone down for the last time. When deputy sheriffs arrived with the county resuscitator, no trace of the body could be found. At a late hour today it was still imprisoned by the sea.

Everett had no local relatives, but had a sister residing in the East. It was learned later that the drowned man and Miss Jordan had been engaged and an early marriage was planned.

Everett is the fifth or sixth victim of the ocean in the vicinity of Point Magu, all of the others having met death in similar manner.

Plans for Two Groins Made by City Engineer

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Sept. 2.—Plans for the construction of two groins to protect sections of beach here are being prepared today by City Engineer R. L. Patterson following instructions given him last night by the City Trustees at their meeting.

One of the groins will be constructed at Thirty-sixth street, since the filing of requests by property owners in that section of the city. They asked the city for a series of groins from Thirty-sixth street west to the western city limits at the Santa Ana River mouth. The groins will cost between $3000 and $4000 each, Patterson said, and he suggested the building of the one at Thirty-sixth street to find out how the proposal works out. While preparing plans for it, Patterson will also make an estimate for other groins along that section of the coast.

The second groin will be a smaller one, costing approximately $900 and will be constructed at N street, on the end of the peninsula. The city will do the work and sand dredged from the bay will be used to build up the beach in connection with the groin.

A petition circulated in the city and signed by many property owners and others, was presented to the Council requesting the city to join the State and county in the construction of an overhead crossing at the intersection of the Coast Highway and Newport Boulevard.

This crossing is the busiest one the southern counties coast and many accidents have occurred here. With an overhead crossing the congestion would be relieved and traffic here made safer for the public.

The estimated cost of the overhead crossing is $195,000. The State has agreed to pay one-third of the expense if the county and city will pay its share. The county has practically agreed to pay its share.

Two Men Hurt in Motor Crash

POMONA, Sept. 2.—Edwin C. Shomblin, 35 years of age, 8460 Cypress avenue, South Gate, sustained a fractured skull besides minor lacerations and bruises about his face and arms, while C. W. Peters, 19, of 4554 East Slauson avenue, Maywood, who was a passenger in Shomblin's car, received slight injuries in a crash on the Valley Boulevard near Walnut yesterday. The accident was attributed by officers who investigated to the heavy holiday traffic.

Shomblin was transferred today to the Pomona Community Hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Valley's Melon Season Ended

BRAWLEY, Sept. 2.—With no shipments of honeydews or honeyballs out for three days, the Imperial Valley melon season has now definitely ended with a total out of 17,765 carloads. It is estimated that truck shipments will bring the total to 19,000 carloads.

Valley ranchers are now preparing their ground for the winter lettuce crop.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 2.—One of the entertainment features that is expected to cause a sensation at the Southern California Fair, at this city the 22rd inst. to the 28th inst., is the husband-calling contest, according to officials who state that entries have poured in at record-breaking rate ever since the plans were made known. A new feature in conjunction with the contest this year provides for girl vaqueros who will "ride herd" on the husbands and encourage them to respond promptly and in other ways co-operate with their wives, it is said.

Another event that is drawing entries from both old and young people is the chicken-picking contest. One of the earliest entrants in this event is Mrs. Anna Schultz of this city, who is credited with picking 144 chickens in five hours' time. Other entrants, when questioned about their best performances in the feather-stripping pastime, refused to divulge any figures.

In spite of keen interest in the numerous special events and contests, the live stock and agricultural divisions continue to hold the spotlight in both the eyes of exhibitors and fair officials, it is stated. In making the necessary arrangements to accommodate an almost unprecedented volume of farm and orchard produce and more than a trainload of choice live stock from all over the country, officials say that present plans for increasing exhibit spaces may have to undergo still further expansion before the fair opens.

Unusual activity is being shown in virtually all schools in communities surrounding Riverside as the various school exhibits entered in the educational division enter the final stages of preparation. The exhibit of each school will depict some single idea that will be carried out throughout the display, officials state.

KIWANIS CLUB PICNIC

BELL, Sept. 2.—The Kiwanis Club of Bell will hold its annual picnic next Sunday, the 7th inst., at Brookside Park, when it is expected that there will be between sixty-five and seventy members of the club and their families in attendance. Several Kiwanians of Huntington Park will also attend the gathering.

"ELL" IN STREET ONE TOO MANY

City Engineer Urges That Balcolm Avenue Be Spelled Simply

TARZANA, Sept. 2.—City Engineer Jessup wants the "ell" knocked out of Balcolm avenue, which is just outside of the townsite limits here. The last "ell" in the name is the one.

He has made request of the City Council that in future maps and street signs the name read "Balcom" instead of "Balcolm" avenue. The Planning Committee of the Council is thinking over the request.

The change is asked in furtherance of a general plan to more simply spell a number of queerly spelled roads and streets in San Fernando Valley.

Releasing of Filipinos from Packing and Picking in Upland Section Brings Revelations

UPLAND, Sept. 2.—That the presence of Filipino laborers in the fruit fields and packing-houses is a serious labor menace in the Alta Loma-Cucamonga-Upland district since the recent slashing with a knife of a young white girl by a Filipino youth, is evidenced in the series of meetings being held by prominent business men seeking to prevent any possible race outbreaks.

THRONGS IN MOUNTAINS TREK HOME

One of Largest Crowds in History of San Bernardino Resorts Reported

REDLANDS, Sept. 2.—The last double holiday of the season, and considered the close of the rush summer season, ended yesterday with one of the largest crowds the San Bernardino mountain resorts have ever known packing up and going home.

The begins to the big pines began Saturday afternoon and continued Sunday morning. Most of the people had two days' holiday and were resolved to spend every minute they could in the mountains. All the mountain roads, Oakdale, Mill Creek, Mountain Home, Barton Flats, Clark's grade, Crest, City Creek and Waterman Canyon, were black with automobiles taking people back after a lovely holiday.

The weather was almost ideal in the mountains for the double holiday, clear and cool. The government rangers kept a close watch of the holiday crowd to see that none became careless and started a forest fire that would cost thousands of dollars. And also State traffic officers were exceedingly busy to see that the drivers used care on the mountain roads.

The big crowd greatly enjoyed the paved roads which are now to be found in all sections of the mountains.

Game Birds on State Farm to be Distributed

CHINO, Sept. 2.—Growth of the State Bird Farm on Los Serranos Country Club property south of here, has been so rapid since it was dedicated one year ago, that a number of game birds, numbering approximately 3500, will be released in Southern California communities this fall, according to E. D. Platt, superintendent of the farm.

There are 300 game birds in the pens at the game farm now, with another 1000 running loose. Chinese pheasants, quail, partridges and turkeys make up the bulk of the birds.

In the rare-bird pens are found nine crested tinamou from the Argentine, South America; fourteen Reeves pheasants, a mountain bird; ten bamboo partridges from China, a few silver and golden pheasants and some Amherst pheasants. Within the next two months a shipment of mountain quail is expected at the preserve.

Since the game farm was established one year ago several hundred birds have been released in Southern California, and game marshals have been instructed to keep a close vigilance over them to prevent poaching.

Members of the Izaak Walton League of America are also assisting in protection of the birds.

No more pheasants are to be liberated until after the fall rains start, according to Supt. Platt, as ambitious hunters out for doves might mistake their birds and shoot the quail instead.

Soldier Loses Legs in Trying to Board Train

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 2.—In an attempt to board a moving freight train on the Southern Pacific tracks near Mission street last night, Sergt. William Harvey, 41 years of age, believed to be from Fort Huachuca, Ariz., was thrown beneath the train's wheels and so severely injured that amputation of both legs was necessary.

Papers found with Harvey's luggage in a car containing a thoroughbred horse, indicated he had been detailed from Fort Huachuca to accompany the animal to the Quartermaster's Supply Depot in San Francisco, and was then to go to the Hawaiian Islands to join a cavalry troop, to which he had been transferred.

The train was freight No. 3734, northbound, in charge of Conductor A. R. Fulton and Engineer C. R. Snyder.

SEARCH FOR SLASHER OF WOMAN FAILS

SOUTH GATE, Sept. 2.—Police have been making a search but have failed to find the person who visited the home of Mrs. L. S. Young, on San Antonio street Saturday night, when he pulled a knife and slashed Mrs. Young across the right breast. She heard a knock at the rear door and on opening it, the man, wielding a knife, slashed her. Officers were called, and first aid given by the fire department members. She described the man as being short and stocky in build and wearing overalls.

SOUTH GATE, Sept. 2.—Billie Penfold, 6 years of age, is suffering from a broken nose, and cuts about the head and eyes as a result of being struck by an automobile driven by Laurence G. Hoyt, also of this city. The lad received first-aid treatment by the firemen.

Trip to Sick Brother's Side Hastens Death

GLENDORA, Sept. 2.—Traveling from Lancaster here to be at the bedside of his brother, L. B. Crabtree, of 238 Wabash avenue, who is seriously ill, precipitated the death of John Crabtree, 51 years of age, who died at 2:30 a.m. today at the Covina Hospital from cancer of the stomach.

On the way from Lancaster last Friday the deceased was stricken with severe illness and at Cahuenga, White's ambulance was called from Azusa to rush the man to his brother here. His condition became so serious yesterday that he was removed to the Covina Hospital, who moved to the Covina Hospital, where he died today.

The deceased was born in Seneca, Mo., in October, 1878, and had made his home in Lancaster for eight years. His death came as a complete shock to his bedridden brother, who, his family states, is in a critical condition. The body is being held at White's Funeral Home in Azusa, pending further arrangements.

After other members of his department and police of all Southern California had failed to locate the killer suspect, Chief Kelley obtained information this afternoon which led to the capture.

Assisted by Detective Lieutenants Edward Ewing, Clair Corbin and Leon Schuhl, Kelley surrounded the Westgate home near which the triple shooting occurred.

MEXICAN BEACHES GUARDED

Patrolmen on Watch for Ensenada Murder Maniac; Clew Found in Venice

Fear that the maniac suspected of knifing to death on Ensenada Beach, Mex., Francis Conlon, Pasadena youth, and his Hollywood artist-fiancee, Lois Kentle, may be lurking near the scene or planning attacks at other Mexican beach resorts, caused Mexican authorities yesterday to place special patrolmen on duty to protect American vacationists.

Meanwhile officers of Southern California were warned to be on the lookout for the maniac following the report made yesterday by William Kerr, 2911 Ocean Front avenue, Venice, that a man answering the description of the suspect appeared at his home last Monday night.

The man, driving the same old touring car, bearing a Utah license, according to Kerr, asked permission to sleep in his yard and go for a swim. On refusal, Kerr said, the dark man—described as a Mexican or American, about 40 years of age, with a gold front tooth—drove northward toward Los Angeles.

The Mexican official order for resort guards came yesterday following a below-the-border investigation that has resulted in the arrest and questioning of more than 100 natives without turning up a clew to the mysterious double knife slaying.

Police have shelved the theory that the crime was a love feud act. Francisco La Madrid, Mexican detective, continued to recheck several angles of the case here yesterday with Detective Lieutenant Clark, but reported no definite leads.

POLITICAL WORKER IN BOMB PERIL

Home of Governor Race Campaigner Guarded as Girl Hears of Threat

Precautions were taken yesterday by Sheriff's office investigators to prevent a possible bombing of the home of Charles Wilson at 7235 Mace Place.

The bombing loomed as a possibility yesterday following a Sheriff's office report that twice within a week Wilson has been beset and injured by unknown assailants as the result of his activities in behalf of a gubernatorial candidate in the recent primary election.

Wilson suffered cuts and bruises on the head, hands and chest when he was attacked by a man while on his way home Monday night near Seventy-seventh street and Parmelee avenue, according to the report.

Wilson told officers, they reported, that he was set upon by the man who stepped from behind a tree and struck him with a sharp instrument. When Wilson began to tussle with the man he broke away and fled, leaving Wilson in the street bleeding from several wounds, officers reported.

Wilson described his assailant as one of the three men who, on election night, attacked him, inflicting two knife wounds at the time. He attributed the attacks to a disagreement he had had as the result of his campaign work in behalf of a candidate for Governor, according to officers.

Investigation by officers disclosed that the little daughter of a neighbor had overheard an unidentified Mexican state that Wilson's house was to be blown up.

Spanks from Ghost Feared by Investor

Threats that she would be spanked by ghosts helped induce Mrs. M. B. Hyland of 1225 South Western avenue to give Jay Hurlbut, asserted spiritualist medium, between $500 and $1000 to assist him in developing a Sucker Creek mine, she declared yesterday in Municipal Judge Turney's court. Other witnesses summoned by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman told of being present at spiritualist hearings where tables rose from the floor and the spirits advised investment.

Judge Turney ordered Hurlbut held for Superior Court trial on two counts of grand theft and fixed bail at $3000. Hurlbut also was ordered committed to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital for observation.

Husband Casts Doubt on Will Declared Wife's

Doubt was cast on the authenticity of Mrs. Anna Wilken's signature to her will, her husband, John F. Wilkens, testifying yesterday in Superior Judge Hahn's court, at a hearing on his contest of the will. The document leaves the estate of approximately $6000 to her sister, Lillie Peterson. Mrs. Wilkens died January 22, last.

Wilkens, a wealthy retired business man of Beverly Hills, asserted that a malady of which she died incapacitated his wife for signing her name at the time the will was drawn. He also asserts that if Mrs. Wilkens did sign the document, she did so under undue influence of her sister.

NAVAL OFFICER WILL INSPECT RECRUITING

Commander W. C. Barker, United States Navy, recruiting inspector of the western division with headquarters in San Francisco, is due to arrive in Los Angeles today to inspect the local navy recruiting station at 206 South Spring street. During the World War, Commander Barker was executive officer aboard the transport Henderson and made thirteen round trips to France. He was appointed recruiting inspector last June.

DAUGHTER SEEKING TO INVALIDATE WILL

Katherine Dolores Blakely

REVOCATION OF BLAKELY WILL ASKED

Daughter in East Files Petition Charging Mother Was Unduly Influenced

Katherine Dolores Blakely, 22 years of age, former Los Angeles girl now residing in New York, through the law firm of Newman and Pattis yesterday filed a petition in the Probate Court here to revoke the will of her mother, Mrs. Katherine Wagner Blakely, who died in Los Angeles on February 8, last.

According to the petition, Miss Blakely and her mother were devoted to each other prior to the latter's death; but when Mrs. Blakely's will, dated January 16, last, was opened, it was discovered she left $10,000, a large portion of her estate, to Mathilda E. Stringer.

Miss Blakely contends that during her last illness her mother was unduly influenced by Mathilda Stringer to make a will in her favor. She asserts her mother at the time she signed the document was of unsound mind because of her illness.

The petitioner declares the influencing of her mother was accomplished while she was away recuperating her own health on the advice of her physician.

Victor H. Rossetti, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, will serve as vice-chairman of Central Division committee No. 6 for the third consecutive year in the Community Chest campaign organization, which contacts the larger donors to the campaign, according to J. A. H. Kerr, Chest campaign chairman, who announced the appointment.

VICTOR H. ROSSETTI

Rossetti has been active in Community Chest councils since its inception.

Assisting Mr. Rossetti this year are the following business men: F. S. Hilpert, Russell K. Barnes, Clark E. Bell, Robert S. Breyer, G. A. Barraclough, Robert L. Leonard, Louis S. Nordlinger, John R. Horbach, David K. Marks, Robert E. Hopkins and Ben Myerson.

POHLMAN FUNERAL SCHEDULED TODAY

Funeral services will be conducted today for Philip Pohlman, former real-estate man and resident of Los Angeles for fifty years, at the Mallnow & Simons funeral parlors, 1218 South Flower street. Mr. Pohlman, who lived at 637 South Kingsley Drive, suffered a fatal heart attack last Sunday while driving his car. He leaves his widow, a sister, Mrs. N. Ringer, and a brother, R. Pohlman.

BABY GOLF COURSE WILL HAVE DANCING

Another milestone in the progress of miniature golf courses was noted yesterday when the Police Commission granted C. C. Wood, operator of a course at 1623 Pacific avenue, San Pedro, permission to conduct a dance hall in connection therewith. Wood, who formerly operated a service station, expressed the view that his patrons might dance away the time while waiting their turn to use the course when it became crowded.

FATHERS FIGURE IN DIVORCE

Wife Asserts Mate's Parents Asked $10 for Information on Son's Address

Fathers figured in the marital differences of Mrs. Jeanie R. Elder and Claude E. Elder, it was testified yesterday when Superior Judge Yankwich granted the wife a divorce on grounds of desertion.

"My father built a house for us to live in," said Mrs. Elder. "Just as it was finished my husband left, and I have not seen him since. I wrote to his father asking for his address. His father wrote back he would give me his son's address upon payment of $10. Later I tried to find him through the Chicago Sheriff's office without success.

PASTOR FEARS MOTHER'S PLOT

Aimee Semple McPherson to Have Police Guard

Mrs. Kennedy Freely Admits Plan to "Save" Her

Asked 'Goliath' to Transport Daughter from Cabin

Uniformed police guards were placed on duty last night at the Santa Monica retreat of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, following a request by Emma Schaffer, her secretary, for protection from Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, who she believes plans to kidnap or spirit away her daughter, who has been reported ill for several weeks.

"I was interested in getting my daughter removed to a spot where she would have a chance for her life," Mrs. Kennedy said last night. "Throughout the past week the papers have been full of reports purporting to give information as to the condition of my daughter. With the constant 'crisis' bulletins being posted and 'sinking spells' reported I felt that it was imperative that something be done toward moving her from the beach cottage.

FOR HER OWN GOOD

"With the noise of the trucks, a house being built on one side and the pounding of the waves, I felt that it was imperative that she be moved at once and given the rest and protection she is entitled to.

"On Saturday, last, I met Charles Rosendahl, a member of the Temple, at my own apartment, by my own request, and I insisted that he be a committee of one to see that my daughter was moved. He is a big man and has played the part of Goliath in Temple tableaux. I asked him to see to it that Aimee was moved, but he declined. He said that he did not believe that he could get in.

MATERNAL ZEAL

"I said that if I went down there I would get in or my dead body would be found on the doorstep. I insisted that I must have a real human to move that poor sick girl of mine. If it had been necessary to my daughter's peace and safety I would have wrapped her up in a blanket like I used to when she was a baby and carried her in my own arms to a hospital.

"Mr. Rosendahl got word to them Saturday afternoon and she was moved to a quiet place that very night. It makes me happy to know this and that she is getting better. Nothing else matters, just so she has her chance. I am more than happy, believe me."

With her nose in shape again, though she still is weak physically, Mrs. Kennedy has moved back to her flat adjoining Angelus Temple on Lamoyne street.

LECTURES ON OPERAS TO START

Two of the four local musicians who will give lectures on the operas to be given during the season in the Shrine Auditorium the 29th inst. to October 19, will start their operalogues today. The operas will be presented by the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association.

Roland Paul opens his series of eight lectures at 2:30 p.m. today at Barker Brothers. He will speak each Wednesday and Friday during the month. Bruce Gordon Kingsley, organist, will speak at 10:30 a.m. at Bullock's in the first of a series of four lectures.

Gertrude Ross, composer, will start a series of four at Bullock's Wilshire the 12th inst., and Gaetano Merola, director-general of the association, will speak at Santa Barbara and San Diego.

All the speakers will touch on the ten operas to be presented. The productions are "La Boheme," "Salome," "Traviata," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Manin," "Tannhauser," "Mignon" and "Girl of the Golden West."

Death Autoist Sentenced to Prison Term

Convicted of manslaughter, Frank M. Miller, salesman, yesterday was denied probation by Superior Judge Mahon, who sentenced him to from one to ten years in San Quentin prison. Miller was convicted August 28 of manslaughter, based on the accidental death of Mrs. Daisy Davis, in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Davis was injured fatally when a car in which she rode with her husband, R. T. Davis, was in collision with Miller's automobile at the intersection of Lankershim Boulevard and Riverside Drive, March 16, last.

Plummer Moves Headquarters

Campaign headquarters for Clyde Plummer, candidate for Sheriff, were moved yesterday to 941 West Seventh street from the tenth floor of the Subway Terminal Building. The new rooms are on the ground floor and more accessible than the ones vacated. Mr. Plummer expressed himself pleased with his new headquarters and the progress of his campaign.

"I'd like to thank again the friends who gave me their support in the primaries," he said, "and who are working loyally to assure my election."

COIN CLUB MEMBERS HEAR PAPER

Washington Portrait on Early Money Discussed; Modeling Demonstrated

Members of the Los Angeles Coin Club, meeting at the Bank of Italy Building last night, listened to a paper presented by John F. Kennedy, president of the organization, on the portrait of Washington on early American coins, and witnessed a demonstration by Robert Nobel Burnam, sculptor, who showed the method of modeling coins and bas reliefs.

Mr. Kennedy traced the action of Congress in ordering the early American coins struck and presented parts of the Congressional Record of more than 135 years ago dealing with the matter.

The work of Mr. Burnam was watched with interest. He modeled a head in plasticine, made a plaster cast for his permanent record and described the entire process of the work. He was given a vote of thanks by the organization.

GOLF GROUP BEGINS WAR ON CURFEW

Two Hundred Owners of Courses Meet and Unite in Appeal to Council

The proposed action of the City Council to close all miniature golf courses at 12 o'clock midnight and to forbid employees to work after that hour would result in forcing many owners into bankruptcy and put thousands of persons out of work, Mel Anderson yesterday told mor than 200 miniature course owners at a mass meeting at the Elks' Temple.

Emphasizing the fact that such action would mean the closing of doors to patrons at about 10:30 p.m., Anderson told the owners their most profitable hours would be eliminated. In an effort to combat such action an association of miniature golf owners of Los Angeles was formed. The association unites all the golf owners in the city and county.

There are more than 500 courses in the city and nearly half were constructed on a credit basis, Anderson told the owners. If the City Council should pass the ordinance limiting the hours of operation, banks and loan associations, besides the course owners, would suffer financial losses, he said.

COMMISSION VOTES TEST FOR CHIEF

Civil Service Body Didn't Know Extension Had Been Asked for Steckel

Unaware that the Police Commission last week had requested another extension of sixty days of the emergency appointment of Chief of Police Steckel, asking that the civil service test be delayed, the Civil Service Commission yesterday voted to hold an examination for Chief of Police as early as the department's examiners can prepare for it.

Since Steckel was appointed in January, the commission has requested a delay in the examination until the Chief became sufficiently familiar with his duties that he might stand a good chance of passing the test. The communication on the extension asked last week had not arrived in time for the Civil Service Commission to have it on its schedule for yesterday.

The motion to hold the examination was by Commissioner Lawton, appointed by Mayor Porter.

Girls Accused of Burglary Jailed to Await Trial

Unable to raise bail, Miss Bonnie Dunn, 25 years of age, and Miss Sue Marie Thornsberry, 19, yesterday were remanded to the County Jail following their arraignment on burglary charges before Justice of the Peace Billings of Beverly Hills Township. Their preliminary hearing was set for the 10th inst., at 10 a.m.

The arrests are the outgrowth of a complaint filed by Mrs. Irene Gross, who charges her apartment at Santa Monica Boulevard and Clark street was robbed of jewelry and clothing valued at more than $2000 by the young women following a party there June 19, last. The two were arrested in Detroit last week and returned here yesterday by a deputy sheriff and his wife.

Jury Will Get Gartside Case This Morning

Closing arguments at the trial of Hilton Gartside, charged with grand theft of $8510 from E. H. Shaw & Co., were made in Superior Judge Aggeler's court yesterday. The case will be given to the jury this morning when court convenes.

Gartside is accused of taking the funds from the Shaw company through C. H. Reid, an employee of the firm. Reid already has pleaded guilty to the charge and was given a County Jail sentence. During Gartside's trial Reid testified for the prosecution.

Gartside took the witness stand in his own defense during the trial and denied having had knowledge that the money given him by Reid was stolen.

Christian Scientist Speaks at First Church

Scriptures Quoted to Show Mrs. Eddy's Meaning

"God is Love" Declared to be Plain Statement

In a Christian Science lecture delivered last evening in First Church of Christ, Scientist, William Duncan Kilpatrick, C. S. B., of Detroit, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, spoke in part as follows:

"Mrs. Eddy's perception of the truth about God and man's relationship to God was the outcome of her exhaustive and exclusive study of the Bible, and through the understanding which Christian Science has thrown upon that sacred Book, the Bible has become the chart of life to thousands upon thousands to whom it has heretofore been closed. The foundation of the entire revelation which Mrs. Eddy has given to humanity in Christian Science is the clear concept of God and man which she gained through her ceaseless and prayerful search of the Scriptures. Therefore it is to the Scriptures we all must go if we would know the true God revealed in Christian Science.

DESCRIBED AS SPIRIT

"Jesus described God as Spirit, which, of course, has nothing to do in any way with what may be termed matter or the physical. Spirit signifies infinite, filling all space, ever present, everywhere, here and now. Jesus also referred to God as good; not as a good God, but as good itself. Goodness is what? Mental, of course. Goodness is not and never can be a quality of matter. It must be mental. St. Paul refers, on several occasions, to the 'mind of the Lord,' or the 'mind . . . which was also in Christ Jesus.' St. John says: 'Every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love.' What is love? It is mental, is it not? It is something expressed in thought. Thus we see that the Bible leaves no room for doubt as to what God is and His exact nature.

LOVE EXPRESSED

"Now, there is no equivocation whatever about Jesus' statement that God is Spirit. No one could misunderstand that. There is no question whatever about St. John's statement that God is Love. No one would deny that love is something expressed in the thought, word and deed. If, therefore, God is something expressed in the consciousness of man, is it not clear that the God of man must also be the Mind of man? And if this conclusion is a logical one then is it not clear that man, the image and likeness of God, which the Book of Genesis describes as good and as having dominion over all the earth, is mental or spiritual and not physical?"

Mr. Kilpatrick will lecture again tomorrow at 12:10 p.m. in Philharmonic Auditorium under the auspices of Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist.

More Checks Sent to Widow of Hero Driver

Contributions over the week-end and holiday for the financial aid of Mrs. Donald Hugh Miller, widow of the heroic truck driver who sacrificed his life to prevent the explosion of a large oil truck in a gasoline fire, yesterday totaled $54.45. The money has been forwarded to Mrs. Miller at her home, 6959 San Juan street, South Gate.

The amount is comprised of $5 and $10 checks from various addresses in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Pasadena. Nearly all the donors desire to remain anonymous. With the checks were many dimes and quarters.

Fatally burned in stopping the gasoline flow from the truck so that an explosion that would have imperiled hundreds could not occur, Miller's dying wish was that his wife and four children be cared for. He carried no insurance.

MARIE PREVOST GETS CONTRACT

Bebe Daniels Rumored for Role in "Queen's Husband;" Fred Kohler to Star at First National; Noah Beery, Jr., in "Beau Ideal"

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

One of the most spectacular and rapid comebacks in the picture business is being staged by Marie Prevost.

MARIE PREVOST

A few weeks ago, Miss Prevost, whose last really important part on the screen was in "The Godless Girl," was engaged by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play a role in "War Nurses." Yesterday, the studio let it be known that it had taken steps to assure Miss Prevost's services permanently. She has been put under long-term contract on the strength of good work done in the sequences completed.

This announcement leads me to believe the very strong rumor that Marie will win the important part of Aggie in "Within the Law," which is shortly to go into production with Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery.

In passing, it may be noted that Miss Prevost is surprisingly svelte-like these days. She has lost considerable pounds, which may or may not have something to do with her reappearance on the film horizon.

Bebe Daniels Mentioned

Yesterday, this column informed you that Lowell Sherman would direct and act in Robert Sherwood's comedy, "The Queen's Husband, for R.-K.-O. Last evening it was whispered that there was a strong probability that Bebe Daniels would play in the production, although it is difficult to figure just what role would be suited to her capabilities.

When "The Queen's Husband"—not to be confused with Noel Coward's "The Queen Was in the Parlour"—was produced locally, Lois Wilson played the role of the princess and Mary Forbes, the queen. Edward Everett Horton played the title role which in the New York production was carried by Roland Young. At the moment, Miss Daniels has "Ex-Mistress" with Ben Lyon and "Reaching for the Moon" yet to do. She recently did a picture with Sherman called "Lawful Larceny."

Kohler to Star

Fred Kohler, the hard-jawed gentleman who was so good in a couple of George Bancroft pictures that—at least so the story goes—he adorned the cutting-room floor, is going to be starred by First National when that studio resumes production activities in earnest this fall.

The first thing on the calendar for Kohler is, however, not a starring assignment. He is to be teamed with James Rennie in a picture, called at this writing, "Broad Minded." (Some one suggests that another studio has announced a picture of that name, so the title may be changed.)

Such a Problem

Fifi D'Orsay, the light-hearted French actress who flashed in "They Had to See Paris," is in a terrible quandary. She is trying to make up her mind whether or not to go East to make a series of appearances on the stage. The trip or tour would take some five or six weeks and would place her in principal theaters along the Atlantic Coast and possibly in the Middle West.

FIFI D'ORSAY

The story is that two concerns are dickering with her. One is said to have offered her $3000 a week. If Fifi makes up her mind to take the $3000, she will have to plan her trip in order to be back to start work on "The Painted Woman" with Victor McLaglen about November 1.

Son Follows Father

A following in his father's footsteps is Noah Beery, Jr. Not only is he turning actor, but he is doing so in the sequel to one of his father's best efforts.

Noah, Jr., will play the boy in "Beau Ideal" for R.-K.-O., an adventure narrative from the story of Percival Wren, and supposedly a sequel to Wren's "Beau Geste," in which Noah, Sr., scored heavily.

Another addition to the film's cast, decided upon yesterday, is Otto Matieson. He will portray Jacob, the Jew, Ralph Forbes's companion in the Algerian prison. Paul McAllister is a third actor to be assigned to the cast.

Off for the Eastern Front

Departing for New York tomorrow will be Director E. H. Griffith and Writer Horace Jackson of the Pathe studio staff. They go east to confer with Donald Ogden Stewart on the adaptation of the humorist-dramatist's play, "Rebound," for Pathe production.

Although there has been considerable conversation about Ann Harding not playing the leading role—she wants to do it, but she thinks it will be too much like her current part in "Holiday"—Griffith said yesterday that he anticipated no change. Production is scheduled to start about October 15. It was Griffith, as "most moviegoers know, who directed "Holiday" now at the Carthay Circle Theater.

Important Flashes

Lucille Gleason may be caught on the Warner Brothers' lot these days. She is playing a part in "Children of Dreams," the second Romberg-Hammerstein original . . . John Wexley, who wrote that sensationally successful prison drama, "The Last Mile," was yesterday put under long-term contract by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Wexley has been in Hollywood four weeks. He is working on an original drama—about big business—which isn't yet completed. Laemmle, Jr., likes the first drafts so well that he said he didn't have to wait to see the last . . . Dorothy Peterson, who had the lead in "Mother's Cry," it is reported, will have the feminine lead in "Reckless Hour" for First National. This is the moviesque title for Willa Cather's "A Lost Lady," one of the finest and most poignant novels of the season several years ago.

MRS. JAMES GLEASON

IRENE RICH

Heard About the Lots

Ernest Torrence, Jr., son of Torrence, the character actor, will be married to Miss Lillore Green on the 13th inst. Torrence, Jr., is on the sound-recording staff at R.-K.-O. . . . Production is to be resumed today by Universal on the fourth episode of "The Leather Neckers," the prize-fight series which had to be stopped when Kane Richmond, the lead—a new cinema youngster—three weeks ago slipped on the sawdust in the ring and sprained his ankle. This is the series in which Sally Blane and Sam Hardy are playing . . . David Manners has been given a new long-term First National contract.

EMOTIONAL ACTRESS IN STAGE ROLE

Katharine Cornell Comes to Biltmore Theater Soon in "Dishonored Lady"

"Dishonored Lady," the play by Margaret Ayer Barnes and Edward Sheldon, which Gilbert Miller will present at the Biltmore Theater for two weeks beginning Monday night, has as its star Katharine Cornell, who has been rated high among the younger emotional actresses of the country.

Miss Cornell is furnished with a role suited both to display her talents as an actress and her personal appeal, it is reported. As the embittered Madeleine Cary, whose life is wrecked by the influence of a long-dead mother, Miss Cornell is said to surpass her fine performance as the Countess Olenska in "The Age of Innocence."

The star will be supported by the same company which appeared with her in the Empire Theater, New York, last season. The play is directed by Guthrie McClintick.

Irene Rich Has Chief Role in 'On Your Back'

The initial directorial effort for the audible screen by Guthrie McClintic, who produced such stage shows as "The Trial of Mary Dugan," "Saturday's Children" and "The Shanghai Gesture," is "On Your Back," which will open tomorrow at the Boulevard Theater.

Irene Rich is starred in this production in the role of a fashionable Fifth-avenue modiste, who slaves for wealth so as to give her son every opportunity of life, and when at the peak of her success awakens to the tragic realization that her boy is ruining his career by becoming infatuated with a chorus girl.

Miss Rich is supported in this picture by several noted players, including H. B. Warner, Raymond Hackett, Marion Shilling, Ilka Chase, Wheeler Oakman, Charlotte Henry, Rose Dione and Arthur Hoyt.

New Program at Newsreel House

First news pictures of the recent rioting in India are included on the program which starts today at the Newsreel Theater.

Casual perusal of news dispatches from India at the time of the riots give the impression that the natives were nonresistant, it is said, but the newsreel pictures belie this impression, according to the theater management.

Flowers Presented Over Footlights at Belasco to Mrs. Leslie Carter

Frequently are flowers passed over the footlights from the audience to players on the stage, but rarely are the proceedings reversed, with players passing flowers across the footlights to a member of the audience. However, such an incident occurred recently at a performance of David Belasco's production, "It's a Wise Child," at the Belasco Theater.

The recipient of these honors from the members of the cast was Mrs. Leslie Carter, the distinguished American actress and original David Belasco star. Mrs. Carter attended the performance with her husband, Frank Payne, her daughter and John Golden, playwright.

Tunis Dean, who managed Mrs. Carter when she was under the Belasco banner, informed the company that the famous actress was in the audience; they promptly sent out for a huge bunch of roses and at the end of the second act Mildred McCoy, leading lady, and Minor Watson, leading man, stepped before the curtain and with graceful little speeches presented the flowers to Mrs. Carter over the footlights.

At the conclusion of the performance Mrs. Carter was escorted back stage and in the Belasco green room the members of "It's a Wise Child" cast were presented to her.

War Picture Brings Ladies to Criterion

As a preachment against war, "All Quiet on the Western Front," now showing at the Criterion Theater, is attracting the attention of women, both old and young, according to the management. Reports come to the effect that feminine patrons lead at both matinee and night performances.

One mother explained to the theater management why she came: "My husband is a war veteran but he seldom will talk about his experiences. He was severely wounded. Now our boy, 10 years old, is always playing war games. I brought him down with me, and after seeing 'All Quiet' I almost wanted to shout when one of the soldiers suggests that in the next war all the kings and war lords be placed in a field and made to fight it out."

New Drama by Wallace Smith to be Offered

A new play, "The Gray Room," from the pen of Wallace Smith, artist, novelist and scenarist now under contract to R.-K.-O., may make its introductory appearance to local audiences this fall.

According to a report, Frederick Goldsmith, eastern stage producer, is negotiating with Smith for the local and eastern rights to the vehicle, with a view to presenting it with a cast consisting of prominent screen names. It is understood that Maj. Robert Warwick, noted player, who recently arrived in Hollywood, has been offered the leading male role in Smith's play.

New Play Season Gets Under Way

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (Exclusive) Although the new season has been slower on the start than almost any other season of recent memory, there are hummings of activity in several of the producers' offices which indicate that the current lethargy is no more than temporary.

At the Theater Guild offices the State directors of that organization gathered today to hear Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontanne and the rest of the cast read the lines of Maxwell Anderson's romantic drama, "Elizabeth the Queen," which is to be the first Guild play of the year.

The piece called "Frankie and Johnnie," which has to do with the activities of the hero and heroine of a certain song, is apparently going to have another try at Broadway. Al Woods attempted to bring it here something over a year ago but after watching a tryout performance gave the author an evasive answer. He said "no."

Now a new cast has been assembled, and a fairly eminent one at that, and the play is being made ready for an opening on the 15th inst. The new cast is headed by Anne Forrest.

Million Dollar to Change Bill

"Manslaughter" opens tomorrow at the Million Dollar Theater. Five vaudeville acts will also be presented on the same bill.

"Manslaughter" is the story of a wealthy girl, carefree and careless. When she falls in love with the serious-minded and ambitious young District Attorney, she resents his criticism of her mode of life. Her love turns to hate when she finds all her wealth and influence, her beauty and her wiles are unable to save her from justice.

Majestic Has Warner Feature

Based on the stage play by the same name, "The Matrimonial Bed," a Warner picture, is now playing at the Majestic Theater. Frank Fay, Lilyan Tashman and James Gleason are featured.

The Majestic, long a noted stage theater here, has been completely remodeled and redecorated for its transformation into a picture house. "The Matrimonial Bed" will be followed by some outstanding productions, it is announced.

Comedienne Furnishes Film Fun

Zelma O'Neal
Contributes a large share of the humor of "Follow Thru," which starts an engagement at the United Artists Theater today.

DOWNTOWN TO SCREEN 'BAD MAN'

Walter Huston Portrays Picturesque Bandit in First National Film

Porton Emerson Brown's play, "The Bad Man," has been transferred to the talking screen by First National and will start its local run Friday at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater. Walter Huston is the star.

"The Bad Man" marks Huston's fourth screen appearance, the actor having appeared in "Gentlemen of the Press," "The Lady Lies," "The Virginian" and D. W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln," in which he is said to have scored a notable success.

The plot of the Brown story has to do with Pancho Lopez, picturesque Mexican bandit, who raids an Arizona ranch and instead of pillaging it remains to untangle the mixed up lives of the persons residing there. The supporting cast includes Dorothy Revier, James Rennie, O. P. Heggie, Sidney Blackmer, Marion Byron, Guinn Williams and Arthur Stone. Clarence Badger directed.

False English Accents Barred in 'Old English'

There are no acquired English accents spoken by players in the supporting cast of George Arliss in "Old English" which is now showing at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater, according to an announcement. The entire troupe is English and several of the actors were with Arliss in the stage version of the John Galsworthy play.

Ivan Simpson, Murray Kinnell, Reginald Sheffield and Harrington Reynolds were in the original company, and were selected by Arliss for the Vitaphone version.

The dinner sequence at the end of the story is called the high light of the picture. Alfred E. Green directed.

Reginald Owen Wins Honors in "Candle Light"

Reginald Owen, who recently appeared here with Fay Bainter in "Caprice," is winning new laurels in "Candle Light," Viennese comedy, now in its second and final week at the Biltmore Theater.

In New York, before coming to the Coast, he played in "The Swan," with Basil Rathbone and Eva Le Gallin. Then came "The Carolinian" and after that he played Richelieu in Ziegfeld's "Three Musketeers." Owen has returned to England, his home, only once since coming to America, and that was to stage "The Stag."

Besides Owen, "Candle Light" features Eugenie Leontovich, noted Russian actress, and Alan Mowbray.

Beauty Contest Winner Signed for Appearance

Dorothy Goff, who won the title of "Miss Universe" at the recent Galveston international beauty contest, will be presented to patrons of Loew's State Theater tomorrow.

Fanchon and Marco have signed the beauty winner. Ten other entrants of the contest will also be presented in the stage show, "American Beauty."

Dorothy Mackaill and Milton Sills, reunited for the first time since "The Barker," are featured in "Man Trouble," the film starting at Loew's tomorrow. Ramon Novarro in "Call of the Flesh" closes tonight.

NEW APPARATUS USED

A new concentrator directional microphone tried out by Radio Pictures with success in "Danger Lights" was given another test in filming a Radio short, "Razored in Old Kentucky." The entire two-reeler was filmed with the improved microphone, and Louis Brock, producer, declares the experiment a step forward in sound recording.

"SQUEALER" ANNOUNCED FOR R.-K.-O.

Jack Holt and Dorothy Revier Play Chief Roles in Film Drama

To be followed by Jack Holt in "The Squealer," Columbia's film drama, "Ladies Must Play" closes its run today at the R.-K.-O. Theater. The new headline stage attraction will be "Withers' Opry." In the star spot of the departing vaudeville show is Don Santo and Exie Butler in "Hot Cha."

In "The Squealer" Holt dons the tuxedo and fashionably tailored suits of a debonair New Yorker, forsaking the outdoor raiment that he has worn in nearly all of his pictures, including "Hell's Island," "Flight" and "Submarine." Davey Lee, child actor, has an important role as Holt's son; and Dorothy Revier plays the feminine lead. Matt Moore, Zasu Pitts, Robert Ellis, Mathew Betz and Louis Natheaux are also in the cast. Frank Capra directed.

"Withers' Opry" is a travesty on small-town theatricals, featuring Charles Withers. Other acts included on the new variety unit are Harriman, Swan and Lucille, Marge La Marr and Helen Boice, and "Scooter" Lowry.

"Hell's Angels" Player Sought for New Roles

When Jean Harlow returns from her tour of personal appearances in the East and Middle West in connection with "Hell's Angels" openings in the key cities, she will have her pick of several roles in major productions now being planned by leading producers, it is said.

Howard Hughes, "Hell's Angels" producer, to whom the played is under contract, has received numerous offers asking to "borrow" her for various roles.

"Hell's Angels" is now starting its fifteenth week at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

COMEDIANS CHOSEN FOR OAKIE VEHICLE

Comedy talent predominates in the supporting cast completed today for Jack Oakie's new Paramount starring picture "Sea Legs." Playing the feminine lead opposite Oakie is Lillian Roth, who demonstrated her abilities as a comedienne in "The Love Parade," "Honey" and "Animal Crackers." Eugene Pallette and Harry Green also have important comedy roles.

Others in the cast are Jean Del Val, Albert Conti, Andre Cheron, Charles Sellon and Tom Ricketts.

FAVORITE APPEARS IN "RAFFLES" CAST

Kay Francis

"Raffles," Sam Goldwyn's latest film starring Ronald Colman, comes to the Pantages Hollywood Theater tomorrow. Colman enacts the role of the gentleman-cracksman and chief in his support is seen the charming and versatile actress, Kay Francis.

The picture has received excellent notices over the country and is enjoying wide popularity among theater patrons. The supporting cast also includes Bramwell Fletcher and David Torrence.

A new stage program will be presented starting tomorrow at the Pantages house.

RESEARCH WORK DONE AT CIRCLE

Club Women View Noted Painting in Preparation for Pageant

The Carthay Circle Theater was the scene of last-minute research work done yesterday by a group prominent club women in preparation for their fiesta and pageant at the Ambassador Auditorium tomorrow night.

The women, representing Women of the Golden West, accompanied by Ann Harding, studied Alson Clark's painting of "The Founding of the City of Los Angeles," hanging in the mezzanine art gallery of the theater. The painting depicts the historic action of Gov. Felipe De Neve and his band, September 4, 1781.

Ann Harding is to preside as queen in tomorrow's fiesta and pageant. Harry Bannister, Miss Harding's husband, has accepted an invitation to appear as the Don for the occasion. He and Miss Harding will occupy a throne especially built for the celebration.

Light Drama by Wilde Now at Pasadena

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Pasadena Community Playhouse, in presenting "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, written in the author's best lightly satirical vein, is serving the amusement-loving public an epicurean and piquantly seasoned theatrical viand. It is a piquancy which savors ever of the capricious irrelevancy of the sophisticate salon.

Virtuoso of the bon-mot, Wilde—especially in the first act—tosses his incomparable repartee with adroit gesture. Indeed, it would seem almost a pity for this genius of the epigram to descend into the mundane necessity of mere plot. Trumped-up theatrical urgency seems a veritable insult to the esprit and sparkle of his priceless animation, which reverberates quite as smartly in our mo'rn ears as upon those for whom it was written.

However, "The Importance of Being Earnest" does succumb to the necessity of plot, and there are animated scenes and much gay adventure in which the lovelorn young John Worthing participates before he finally succeeds in winning the fair hand of the romantic Honorable Gwendolen. An imaginary brother, invented for more or less convenient reasons, becomes an insuperable nuisance, and indeed must be dispatched with precision and finality, ere the hero may come into his own. That is, the heroine professes a great yen for the name of Ernest, and indeed insists upon marrying only a gentleman endowed with that euphemistic cognomen. With proper Wildian technique all this is met in a thoroughly merry manner and there are the lively pleasantries and casual brilliance. The sets by Janis Muncis, done in highly imaginative tone, reflected the manner and mode of the comedy, and were intensely decorative in their modern phrasing.

As for the cast, the men had rather the best of it, for the work of this Irish wit demands a finesse and light touch which only the experienced may attain. Ralph Freud as Algernon Moncrieff managed this casual deftness both in manner and delivery, and was altogether delightfully English. As the moon-struck sophisticate lover, Charles Levison gave sympathetic delineation and brought to his lines the intuitive whimsicality which the part demanded. At times he was slightly conscious of stage technique, a fault which was probably due to first-night nervousness. Margaret Tupper is too inexperienced as yet to quite realize the subtlety of Wilde comedy, but made a charming picture, and brought a degree of candor to the part. Clever little Betty Jenks with her grace and delicate poise was admirably cast and pointed her lines nicely. Sharley Simpson as the self-sufficient and aspiring Lady Bracknell gave a refreshingly humorous account of herself.

Capra Directs Film Vehicle of Joe Cook

"Rain or Shine," which starts at the Orpheum Theater Saturday morning, brings the screen debut of Joe Cook, and also is the first talking feature comedy directed by Frank Capra. Capra directed "Submarine," "Flight" and "Ladies of Leisure."

Comedy is no new assignment for Capra, however, since he directed "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" and "The Strong Man" for Harry Langdon.

"The Dawn Patrol," starring Richard Barthelmess and featuring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Neil Hamilton, will close its run at the Orpheum Friday night.

Audience Plays Role in Comedy at El Capitan

In the relay race scene in "The Poor Nut," the audience at El Capitan Theater is unconsciously converted into part of the cheering section. The stage barrier disappears, the walls and roof of the theater vanish, upholstered chairs become benches, programs are transformed into pennants and everyone in the theater "goes collegiate."

In addition to the cast of twenty principals, headed by Elliott Nugent, there is a cheering section on the stage of more than a hundred. The regular rooters are augmented nightly by members of different local schools and colleges.

VILLAGE BUILT

A complete fishing village has been built at San Pedro to furnish the locale of "Dark Star," which George Hill is directing for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

MARY DORAN CHOSEN

William Haines will show audiences a new leading woman in the person of Mary Doran when his next starring picture, "Remote Control," is released soon.

PHONE CABLE'S OPENING HAILED

Los Angeles and Bay City on Fine New Link Now

Line Cost $10,000,000 and Weighs 18,000,000 Pounds

Hundreds of Miles of Wires Placed Underground

Celebrating the opening for service of the $10,000,000 Los Angeles-to-San Francisco telephone cable, under construction for the past two years, J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and L. W. Cutler, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, yesterday conversed from their respective cities, talking through what is now the longest and largest telephone cable in the West.

The new cable contains 300 wires. Capable of providing more than 250 simultaneous telephone connections, it will be an important link in the Canada-to-Mexico cable, to be finished within a few years. The cable is the second largest of its kind, and weighs 18,000,000 pounds, of which 5,500,000 are copper wire.

MUCH UNDERGROUND

Nearly 770 miles of the cable are underground. The lead sheath and underground features assure fast, weatherproof communication, five times less susceptible to trouble than open wire.

The cable is routed through San Fernando Valley, up Castaic Canyon and San Joaquin Valley. In connection with the new cable eleven new booster stations have been established at approximately every fifty miles to strengthen voice currents traveling over the long-distance circuits. More than 6000 vacuum tubes, similar to those used in radio sets, are installed in these stations.

Months of trench digging, pole setting, road building, cable splicing and the construction and installation of five new buildings were required. The project was completed by the two Bell companies which serve the territory through which the cable passes, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company as far south as the Los Angeles county line, and the Southern California Telephone Company from that point to Los Angeles.

GREAT CAPACITY

The cable will carry a peak load of 26,000 words of telephone conversation each minute, together with telegraph messages, programs for radio broadcast hook-ups, and thousands of electrical impulses operating many telephone typewriters for hundreds of stock and bond brokers, government offices and newspapers.

One of the features of the cable is a forty-three-mile section running south from Bakersfield, which is filled with nitrogen gas. Here the telephone company is using a new method for detecting cable injuries before they grow into service breakdowns. Should the cable's lead sheath be pierced the gas pressure is lowered, ringing a distant alarm. Trouble shooters hurry to the control box nearest the leak and by tests locate it to within 750 feet. If boring insects have made a minute puncture the cable is painted with soapsuds until the escaping gas makes a bubble and betrays the leak.

BANISHMENT OF GRIEF HELD MORTICIAN'S DUTY

One of the most important duties before morticians is that of seeking to banish misery and agony and of arousing a measure of encouragement in the homes to which they are summoned, according to Frank Dickey of Vallejo.

Dickey made this statement at the opening session of the twenty-sixth annual convention of the California Funeral Directors' Association at the Biltmore in a response to an address of welcome by J. S. Worsley of Los Angeles.

Approximately 200 members of the organization were present at the first session. Lester Wessendorf, president, called the meeting to order.

Reading of the minutes of the last convention, of communications and of the report on membership were features of the business session.

Addresses by James F. Collins, director of the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards, and by Newton Evans, pathologist, mark today's program.

JANET GAYNOR ILL AT HER BEACH HOME

Janet Gaynor, motion-picture actress, has been ill at her home in Santa Monica for the past ten days, it was learned yesterday. She is suffering from laryngitis. Yesterday Miss Gaynor tried to resume her studio work but was sent home after remaining there for two hours.

CHILD DIES IN HASTE TO HEED CALL

Three-Year-Old Run Down in Crossing Street When Summoned by Mother

When George McDowell, 3 years of age, heard his mother calling him to come home he immediately hastened to obey, according to the version of the police. The child started across Foothill Boulevard, giving no thought to automobiles. At that instant one was approaching, driven by Lee Logue of 132 West Seventy-first street.

In the next instant, while Mrs. Newton Ray McDowell of 9040 Foothill Boulevard, Sunland, mother of the hurrying child, was shrieking for him to go back the boy was dying under the wheels of the car.

Logue and R. Mabee, a witness, picked up the child and rushed him to the office of Dr. H. E. Peterson at San Fernando, but death already had claimed the broken youngster.

Police after investigating did not hold Logue. The body was taken to the Paschall & Janet funeral parlors, San Fernando.

Victim of a freakish accident, in which she was dragged nearly half a block on the front bumper of her husband's automobile, Mrs. Anna Schneider, 54 years of age, of 622 East One Hundred and Tenth street, was given little chance for recovery yesterday. Her condition was so serious that police surgeons would not allow her removal from Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Police reported that Mrs. Schneider became caught in the bumper of the machine as her husband, A. J. Schnieder, backed it out from their driveway into the street. They stated he drove for nearly half a block before a neighbor drew his attention to his wife's predicament.

The death crash of Jack P. De Shazo, famous pilot, at the national air races at Chicago, is shown in The Times-Universal Newsreel in all Southern California theaters. This was one of the most tragic occurrences at the meet. De Shazo's plane, third in a fifty-mile speed contest between the Army and Navy, was caught in the backwash of the sixteen other planes in the race.

Other thrilling events are shown in the newsreel, among them the death-defying auto race over the Alps in Switzerland; the arrival of the German war aces in New York and other features, all of which are described by Graham McNamee.

The schedule may be obtained by phoning Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and inquiring about Newsreel No. 70.

New Pipe Organ at U.C.L.A. to be Dedicated

Installation of a new pipe organ in Josiah Royce Hall at University of California at Los Angeles has been completed, it was announced yesterday, and will be dedicated at 4 p.m. Sunday with a recital by Harold Gleason, head of the organ department of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. The instrument, specifications for which were planned by Gleason, is a four-manual, eighty-stop Skinner organ, said to be one of the largest in California. It was made possible by an anonymous gift of $52,500.

Gleason is a former resident of Los Angeles. He studied under Ernest Douglas here and under the late Morton F. Mason of Pasadena.

Harbor Exports to Hawaii Gain

Shipments from the port of Los Angeles to Hawaii increased considerably in August, 1930, compared to the same month in 1929, it was shown yesterday by a report of Collector of Customs Schwaebe. It was shown that the shipments to Hawaii were valued at $975,000, compared to $700,032.

The exports from the port were valued at $9,750,000 for August, this year, compared to $12,982,007 for the same month in 1929. The imports for August, this year, were valued at $4,500,000, compared to $5,210,737 for the same month in 1929. Shipments to Guam showed an increase amounting to $6024. The customs collections were $552,000 for August, this year, compared to $787,874 for August, 1929.

Council Delays Action on Park

Further consideration of the acquisition of 186 acres in the Arroyo Seco for Victory Park No. 2, now being litigated in the courts, was continued by the City Council yesterday until the 22nd inst.

The Council confirmed assessments for the sewering of the Denker avenue and Eighty-seventh street district, and for the sewering of the Isabel Drive and Bridgeport Drive district.

POWELLS' ALIMONY HEARING POSTPONED

Irvin W. Powell's motion for temporary alimony from his wife, Mrs. Irene E. Powell, will be heard tomorrow. Superior Judge Jamison yesterday continued the hearing. Powell asks alimony pending trial of his suit for divorce. Mrs. Powell has filed a cross-suit for divorce, and asks $200 a month temporary alimony. Powell, who is 64 years of age, contends Mrs. Powell is in possession of all their community property, valued at $100,000.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded contracts for the paving and sewering of the Crestmaven Drive and Rosswood Terrace district, at $10,484.78, and for the paving of Dundee Drive between Commonwealth avenue and a point northwest at $8091.34.

Election Won Hands Down by Vote-for-Self

Leon Westmoreland, 807 East Sixty-first street, had no political backers in the recent primary election, made no campaign speeches, did not advertise his candidacy, yet proposes to be the Democratic nominee as Assemblyman in the Sixty-seventh District by a 100 per cent majority vote.

In a communication sent to the Board of Supervisors yesterday, Westmoreland says:

"I voted at 330 East Sixty-second street. As no one appeared on the ballot for the job and as I had served a term like that in another State and got through without being transferred to the penitentiary and did not accept any bribes, I decided I would be justified in voting for myself and did.

"I fear a grave error in the counting of votes. I may be out on some technicality, otherwise with a 100 per cent majority, I should be declared the winner."

The letter was referred to Chairman Graves.

PEDESTRIAN CROSSING OVER TRACKS SOUGHT

Efforts are being made by Los Angeles county to obtain a pedestrian crossing of the Pacific Electric railway tracks at Santa Monica and Robertson boulevards. This was revealed yesterday when the Board of Supervisors, on motion of Supervisor Graves, instructed County Counsel Mattoon to apply to the Railway Commission for permission to widen the highway across the tracks with a view of building the crossing for pedestrians.

MEN SEEK CUSTODY OF THEIR SONS

One Habeas Corpus Case Dismissed and Second Taken Under Submission

Two fathers sought the custody of their sons yesterday before Division Two, District Court of Appeal, in habeas corpus proceedings. One case was dismissed and the other was taken under submission.

George L. Browning, banker, appeared as his own attorney in an action brought by his divorced wife, Theresa, to answer charges that he kidnaped their 9-year-old son Thurlough. Pending a decision, the boy was given into the custody of a banker associate of the father.

Alva Eugene Cumins charged that an 18-month-old son is being unlawfully detained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Dulin, who, it was stated, plan to adopt the child with the consent of the mother, Mrs. Beatrice Cumins. It was brought out that a Superior Court action has not reached the stage of a decision and the writ was discharged. The Cuminses are separated.

CHECK-CASE WOMAN GRANTED PROBATION

Ella Fernaxes, who recently was convicted of aiding her husband in passing worthless checks on Los Angeles merchants, yesterday was granted five years' probation by Superior Judge Wood with the further order that the first three months of this time be spent in the County Jail. The court also ordered the woman to make full restitution.

Traffic Ticket Retrieved by Aide to Webb

John L. Flynn, deputy State Attorney-General, received a ticket for asserted traffic violation yesterday, but had to pursue an officer many blocks to get it.

Flynn was on his way from his home in Glendale to the State offices and, it is charged, made a right-hand turn at Glendale Boulevard and Riverside Drive without giving the required hand signal.

The officer, whose name is not revealed and who was traveling in his own car, halted Flynn, wrote out the ticket and then absentmindedly stuck it back into his own pocket and drove off.

The deputy Attorney-General pursued the officer until he overtook him at Alvarado street.

"If I've violated the law I'd like the evidence," he said, and the embarrassed cop turned over the ticket.

REFEREE ROTH HALTS BATTLE

Syracuse Boy Given Sound Thrashing in Finale

Set-to Uninteresting Up to Last Session of Go

Varner Wins Over Evans in Semifinal at Olympic

BY PAUL LOWRY

Sammy Jackson, young and promising black welterweight, saved his fight with Bucky Lawless from being a total flop by knocking out the Syracuse (N. Y.) scrapper in the tenth round at the Olympic last night.

Up until the time Jackson floored Lawless with a stinging left hook to the chin the only good points about the bout were portions of the fifth, ninth and tenth rounds.

Jackson with his grand-stand complex and his pawing, and Lawless with his hugging made the bout look slow and uninteresting. In fact, it looked so bad that Promoter Jack Doyle threatened to demote Jackson to the preliminary ranks.

As matters stood at the time that would have been a break for Jackson was one of the finest fighters that ever fought a preliminary in these parts.

However, visions of the days when he was a stand-up fighter with a slashing two-fisted attack must have returned in the tenth round.

He came out of his corner with a savage fury, snapping both hands to head and body, and Lawless was soon in a bad way. It was apparent that he was doing his best to hold on and last the ten rounds, when Jackson suddenly pushed him away and lashed out with a terrific left hook to the point of the chin.

Lawless crashed flat on his back, and Referee Abe Roth never even stopped long enough to start a count. He walked over to Jackson and hoisted the latter's left hand in token of victory after 2m. 37s. of the round had elapsed.

Huerta Evans managed to hold Claude Varner even for four rounds of their scheduled six-rounder in

Hollywood Trims Reds, 8-7, with Stirring Finish

Vittmen Score Six Runs in Eight, One in Ninth

Relief Hurling of Page is Feature of Struggle

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2. (Exclusive)—The Missions amassed a six-run lead early in the game today but could not hold it. Hollywood finished strong, scoring seven runs in the last two innings and won an 8-to-7 victory. Manager Oscar Vitt did a juggling act with his players in the eighth and ninth innings and finally got a combination that won for him.

MICKEY HEATH.

Hank Hulvey started for Hollywood and the Missions made ten hits and scored six runs in the three innings he toiled. Page then began pitching and stopped the Missions cold. He was lifted to let Hank Severeid bat for him in the lively eighth. Emil Yde, former Pittsburgh Pirate, started the last of the eighth inning. Rosenberg was the first man to face him and he was hit by a pitched ball. Yde was yanked promptly and Hollerson finished the pitching.

THREE RED HURLERS

The Missions used three pitchers—Ted Pillette, Darrough and Bert Cole. Darrough relieved Pillette in the eighth. He pitched to four men.

Heavy Rain Halts Polo Team Trial

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—A heavy rainstorm forced postponement of the United States international polo team's trial match with the junior varsity today and as a result, two practice contests will be held tomorrow. The American team, led by Tommy Hitchcock, will meet the junior varsity at Port Washington while the British challengers for the Westchester Cup in the international series starting Saturday, will face a picked American squad at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury.

BUSHY GRAHAM ON BLACK LIST

Cincinnati Rules Out Boxer; La Barba Scrap Off

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Cincinnati Boxing Commission called off the ten-round boxing match scheduled for Thursday night between Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, retired flyweight champion, and Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y., and suspended Graham indefinitely.

FIDEL LA BARBA

Graham won a week's postponement on a plea of an injury in one shoulder and failed to do any training here for the bout. The suspension will be effective until he makes good the losses of the Parkway Club, promoter of the bout, officials said. The National Boxing Association also will be asked to suspend Graham in its more than thirty States.

Graham was suspended here last January when he failed to keep a date for a fight with Freddie Miller.

Dodge Betters Speed Record

DETROIT, Sept. 2. (AP)—Horace E. Dodge returned to the scene of his earlier speedboat triumphs today and twice bettered his own official world's record for displacement boats.

During the afternoon he drove the Horace M. at an average speed of 36.023 miles per hour in six laps over a measured mile course on the Detroit River. That shattered the average of 34.685 miles per hour made by Miss Syndicate with Dodge at the wheel in 1927.

Still not satisfied, Dodge gave notice of another attempt when the water, which had been choppy, quieted down. At sundown he returned and sent his boat over the same course for six laps at an average speed of 60.290 statute miles per hour. His best lap of the time trial was at the rate of 61.738 miles per hour.

Horne and Davis Wage Duel up to Ninth Inning

Small Crowd of 5000 Fans Attends Wrigley Tilt

BY BOB RAY

Rallying across three runs after two were out in the ninth inning, Jack Lelivelt's battling Angels turned what appeared a certain defeat into a 4-to-3 victory over San Francisco last night at Wrigley Field. Despite their thrilling rally, the contest had one of those painless endings with Pudgy Gould, Seal relief hurler, playing the role of the victim. Gould was sent in to relieve Curtis Davis after four straight hits had tied the score and the spitball hurler walked Art Parker and George Harper to force in the winning run without an Angel bat being waved at any of his offerings. It was the third time this season that Gould has walked the Seraph to a victory. Early in the year at Stockton Pudgy, then with Sacramento, was sent in to stop an Angel rally in the ninth and walked four straight men to lose the ball game and also his job with the Solons. Last week at San Francisco Gould also walked across a winning Angel run in the ninth and it seems that most of the Seraph players now believe that Pudgy is Santa Claus sans whiskers and red knickers.

WILBERT PETERS

Up until the ninth the contest was a mound duel between Beryl Horne and Davis, with the tall Seal righthander saving all the better of the argument after yielding a run in the second inning. All of the Seals' runs off Horne were the result of home runs, one by Davis, with a man on, and the other

Coleman, Schultz Meet Today Over Pebble Beach

Local Amateurs Qualify Well Up Among Leaders

PEBBLE BEACH, Sept. 2. (AP)—Paced by 20-year-old Lawson Little of San Francisco, the pick of California's amateur golfers finished their thirty-six-hole qualifying tests today and like wheat being separated from the chaff, thinned their ranks to the thirty-two who will battle for the 1930 State championship.

RUSSELL THOMPSON.

Young Lawson, unfaltering in his game from tee to green, mastered medal honors with 148. His 75 today, over hazardous Pebble Beach course, was three above par. Yesterday, at Cypress Point, he carded a 73, one over standard figures.

One stroke behind Little came Herb Schultz, Jr., of Alameda, whose 76-73—149 definitely decided that youth must be served, at least in the qualifying rounds. Schultz, 19 years of age and recent winner of the Northern California amateur title, turned in the best round for Pebble Beach. Two feet from the cup on the eighteenth, he missed the short putt that would have given him a par 72 and a tie with Little for medal honors.

Pebble Beach, where Bobby Jones lost the 1929 national amateur title, proved a stumbling block today to several shot makers who had been able to conquer it before. Hopes of two former State champions were shattered there. They were Jack Neville, defending titlist, and A. Bullock Webster, of Hollywood, the latter winner in 1924. Neville, ragged in every department of play, had scores of 83-86—172, while Webster was slightly more consistent at 83-86—169.

John McHugh of San Francisco, three times title-holder, finished in the 151 class, tied with William Jelliffe, of Los Angeles. The San Franciscan had rounds of 74-77 and Jelliffe clubbed out 76-75.

Far out of range of the leading quartet, Francis Brown, long-driving

"HE'S the fastest pitcher I ever caught or saw," says Mickey Cochrane of Robert Moses Grove, and Mickey is considered some ill' catcher himself, so his words ought to carry some weight. This season Mr. Grove, the speedy left-hander of the Athletics, is having a great year, even better than last season when he was the best all-around pitcher in the majors. "Lefty" has already won more than the twenty games he won in 1929 to help the A's become American League champions, and he should easily surpass his last season's number of strikeouts. He whiffed 170 in forty-two games in '29, and he might even reach the 200-mark in around fifty games this year, barring accidents, although Connie will probably ease up on him during the last half of September.

In an interesting article in a recent baseball magazine, F. C. Lane ranks Grove as the leading major hurler of last year, with Zachary second and Earnshaw third. He reaches this conclusion because "Lefty" led all other hurlers in strikeouts, stood second in earned-run average, third in percentage of games won and lost, and fourth in innings pitched and number of games won. "Lefty's" best season to date was '25, when he won twenty-four games and lost eight, struck out 182 batters and had an earned-run average of 2.57.

Some of Grove's records, gleaned from "The Little Red Book," are as follows: Against Cleveland, August 23, 1928, he struck out five batters on seventeen pitched balls (fifteen consecutive strikes—one a foul, then one ball, then another strike!) He went in as relief pitcher against the Red Sox on June 2, 1926 (second game of a double-header) and fanned three men with the bases full in the eighth inning and then struck out the first batter to face him in the ninth inning. In the 1929 world series he did not start a game, but pitched four and one-

CUBS GET 8-TO-2 WIN OVER REDS

Charley Root Pitches Three-Hit Game Against Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today accomplished something they had been unable to do since April—win a baseball game in Cincinnati—Charley Root pitching a three-hit performance which subjected the Reds to an 8-to-2 defeat. The game closed the National League season here and the Reds won eight of the eleven games on their home grounds against the champions.

Chicago scored three runs on only one hit in the first. Hartnett and Cuccinello hit home runs, the former's being his twenty-ninth circuit blow of the year, which scored Wil-

HELEN MARLOWE VICTOR

Local Tennis Star Advances to Quarter-Finals of Girl's National Net Championship

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2. (AP)—Mary Cutter, Boston, furnished the first upset of the girls' national tennis championships at the Philadelphia Cricket Club today by defeating Helen Fulton, Chicago, in a keenly contested three-set match. The scores were 3-6, 6-3, 8-6. The victory placed Miss Cutter in the quarter-final round. Miss Fulton was seeded sixth.

Other seeded stars reached the quarter-finals without being greatly extended. They are Dorothy Workman, Helen Marlowe and Caroline Babcock, all of California; Sarah Palfrey, the defending title-holder; Helen Bidwell and Hilda Boehm, all of Boston, and Carolyn Roberts, New York.

HELEN MARLOWE.

Miss Workman, holder of the Southern California junior championship, gained her quarter-final bracket with a love victory over Hepsa Humphrey of Philadelphia.

Sarah Palfrey, 1928 and 1929 girls' title-holder, and Miss Marlowe, runner-up for the championship last year, advanced with ease. "Little" Sarah won 6-1, 6-1, over Mercedes Marlowe, sister of Helen. A 6-2, 6-2 victory over Helen Boehm, one of the Boston twins, put Helen Marlowe in the quarter-finals.

Miss Roberts advanced by defeating Anne Parry, Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Bidwell eliminated Barbara Christy, Montclair, N. J., 6-1, 6-1; Miss Babcock beat Billie Plumer, Westfield, N. J., 6-3, 6-1, and Miss Hilda Boehm defeated Joanna Palfrey, Boston, 6-2, 7-5.

In the quarter-final tomorrow Miss Marlowe opposes Miss Bidwell; Miss Workman meets Miss Cutter; Miss Palfrey plays Miss Roberts, and Miss Babcock clashes with Miss Boehm.

Play in the doubles reached the third round today. Among the survivors were Hilda and Helen Boehm, Massachusetts State junior champions; Sarah and Joanna Palfrey, Helen and Mercedes Marlowe, Barbara and Dorothy Christy, Montclair, N. J., and Betty Vanneman and Phyllis Bowes, Philadelphia.

JOHNNY BUCKLEY ON NEW YORK BLACK LIST

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, was indefinitely suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission today as a result of similar action by the Rhode Island Commission.

On August 25 Buckley protested a decision against his lightweight, Andy Callahan, who boxed Sammy Fuller at Tiverton, R. I., and was suspended in that State.

CARDS, NORTHWESTERN PLAN GRID GAME IN 1931

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Negotiations are virtually completed between Stanford and Northwestern University of Evanston for a series of intersectional football games, the first of which will be played in 1931. This is the rumor going the rounds here today and it appears to be pretty well understood that plans for the contests are practically complete.

Alfred Masters, graduate manager of Stanford, would neither deny nor affirm the pact today, but it is understood that an official announcement will be forthcoming in the near future.

The 1931 game will be played late in November at Palo Alto, with Stanford going to Northwestern for the return engagement the following season.

Pop Warner, Stanford coach, and Dick Hanley, Northwestern mentor, are close friends and this has had considerable to do with bringing the two institutions together on the football field.

Stanford plays two intersectional games this fall. The Cards meet Minnesota in Minneapolis on October 11 and entertain Dartmouth at Palo Alto on November 29. The Minnesota team is to come west in 1931 for a return engagement, but the contract with Dartmouth is for one year only.

TROJAN COACHING STAFF UNCHANGED THIS SEASON

...versity of Southern Californ... varsity coaching staff for the ... season will be the same as ... of 1929 and Aubrey Devine will ... his work as Trojan freshman ... coach, it was announced yesterday by Director of Athletics Wilbur O. (Bill) Hunter.

Assisting Head Coach Howard Jones with the varsity will be Hunter, Sam Barry, Clifton Herd and Dean Campbell. In his work with the freshmen, Devine will be assisted by the staff of two or three former Trojan stars to be appointed shortly by Hunter.

As in the past Hunter will coach as Jones's chief assistant, both on the field and as a strategist. Herd will work with the kickers and will have charge of the Spartans, the "goof" squad which furnishes the opposition for the varsity in scrimmage sessions.

Barry will assist as he did last year with backfield candidates and ends while Campbell will also work with the backs. Head Coach Jones customarily takes personal charge of practically all line drill. Barry, Herd and Campbell will all have a share in scouting duties. Upon the completion of the freshman football season on November 11, Devine will also work with the varsity.

Jean Borotra Faces Tough Battle to Gain American Tennis Championship

LUCK OF DRAW AGAINST STAR

Meets Berkeley Bell in His Opening Match

Bill Tilden Has Easy Row to Hoe at Start

Play Opens Next Week for Historic Tourney

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—If Jean Borotra wins the United States tennis championship next week he will deserve it.

By the luck of the draw, which was made today, the "Bounding Basque" will face tougher opposition than any of the other leading contenders.

JEAN BOROTRA

Instead of meeting a push-over or two at first by way of tuning up his strokes, the acrobatic gasoline-pump salesman from France will run into Berkeley Bell, a dangerous fighter from Austin, Tex., in the first round, and, if successful, is expected to meet Frits Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., in the second.

Bell and Mercur, on their play last year, ranked ninth and sixth, respectively in the United States, but were omitted from the list of twelve-seeded players for the forthcoming tournament because the committee felt their records in recent play were not good enough.

BATTLED COCHET

Bell, however, forced Henri Cochet to five sets at Wimbledon and yesterday was one of the two outstanding players in the East-West series at Forest Hills. Mercur has beaten Tilden.

By way of contrast to Borotra's assignment, Bill Tilden, in quest of his eighth national singles title, will open against C. Lincoln Halberstadt of New York, and anticipates no serious opposition until he reaches the fourth round when his opponent, in the light of the seeding, should be young Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, or Lyttleton Rogers, six-foot seven-inch giant from Ireland.

Tilden was placed first on the American seeded list with Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., second; George Lott, Chicago, third, and two youngsters, Sidney Wood of New York and Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, fourth and fifth, respectively. After them came John Doeg, Santa Monica, sixth; Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., seventh; John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., eighth; Ellsworth Vines, ninth; Frank Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., tenth; Frank Shields, New York, eleventh, and Bryan Grant, Atlanta, twelfth.

Besides Bell and Mercur a third member of the current "first ten" is missing from this list—Wilbur F. Coen of Kansas City.

Borotra headed the foreign seeded group, followed by three English players—H. G. N. Lee, John Olliff and Frederick Perry. The others were Lyttleton Rogers, fifth; Marcel Rainville, Montreal, sixth; Ted Avery, England, seventh; L. A. Godfrey, England, eighth; Jimmy Nuthall, brother of Betty Nuthall, ninth; Herman Uppman, Cuba, tenth, and D. W. Leslie, Montreal, eleventh.

VINES IN LOWER HALF

Borotra was drawn in the top half, in which the outstanding seeded players were Sutter, Grant, Wood, Shields, Mangin and Allison. In the lower half with Tilden were Vines, Rogers, Van Ryn, Lott, Hunter and Doeg.

There were ninety-five entrants including John Hennessey, former Davis Cup player from Indianapolis, and Alain Gerbault, veteran French player and lone ocean navigator. The first round is to be played Saturday, play resuming Monday and lasting through the 13th inst.

The national veterans' singles for men over 45 will run concurrently with C. M. Charest, one-armed player from Washington, D. C., defending his title against fifty-six rivals.

Indians Win Over Browns

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, by defeating the Browns, 4 to 3, in eleven innings, here today, made a clean sweep of the four-game series.

The Indians tied the score in the eighth frame and won in the second extra stanza when Hodapp's single sent Porter home with the fourth run.

Lou Blue hit a home run for the Browns. Score:

Stretch Running

ALL that dust you see churned up is coming from the head of the stretch in the two big leagues. As a result of the Labor Day count there were six ball clubs left with something to say about a pair of pennants and the double location of the next world series where only a few days ago the Athletics and Cubs seemed ready to start breezing home.

There are now four ball clubs in the National League melee less than six games apart with less than a month to go.

In spite of their present lead the Cubs are now in a tough spot. They have most of their fighting left on foreign fronts and what is even tougher, they finish their season with four games against the Reds, the team that has jolted them heavily at two critical spots of the race just as they were getting ready to open a safe gap.

The remarkable rush of the St. Louis Cardinals has been the leading late summer feature of a race that may easily be one of the most desperate in many years. The Cardinals have been coming like the wind for a month and they are now something to be figured in the big argument. The Cubs and Cards will be on the road most of the month with the Giants and Dodgers intrenched at home back of friendly and frantic support, and this may make a big difference.

The Cub Outlook

When the Cubs stopped the Dodgers somewhat abruptly and took the last three games from the Giants in Chicago, they seemed to be safely in. But events have been cracking swiftly in the last few days. The Cubs now face five games in Pittsburgh and then they move east to Brooklyn by way of starting their last eastern engagement. They have another tough series left in New York.

Their best chance will be to break even in these tough spots and pick up ground against Boston and Philadelphia, while New York and Brooklyn are struggling with St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, all rugged opponents. Their present lead can be cut away in a hurry if they slip any farther with three pursuers in the chase. It would be entirely different with only one contender left, but out of the three there should be at least one challenger who can step along the road.

A few days ago the Cubs ran into a mess of sour pitching. Then when their pitching staff recovered they stumbled into a batting slump. Setting the pace with three challengers on top of your heels is nerve-wrecking business, no matter what the game. It is the leader who has to absorb most of the worrying.

The Senatorial Rush

A few days ago Connie Mack rated Walter Johnson's Senators as one of the strong teams of modern baseball. At that moment Mr. Mack was feeling far from sure of his place in front.

"Washington," he said, "not only has fine material but Walter Johnson has done a great job. They have many more high-grade ball players on that club than most people know about. Cronin is a great ball player—one of the best. The pitching staff is the best in the league. They have a high-class outfield. In fact, when you sum up the strength of this club you find almost no weak spot, either offensively of defensively. I won't consider this race over until the final returns are in."

I asked the athletic leader what he thought of Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland's young pitcher who has now won twenty-four games with a matter of thirteen straight.

"I believe he will be ranked with the best of all time," Mack said. "I mean by this that Ferrell may take his place with Mathewson, Johnson, Young and Alexander. He is one of the greatest young pitchers I ever saw. He has speed, control, a good curve ball, a cool head and a winning competitive temperament. No club yet has been able to get his goat. They have ridden him hard enough but he apparently pays no attention to anything else except retiring the batter and winning the ball game. He is a big fellow and he is strong and young. I look to see him working out a brilliant career."

Ten Years Apart

Just ten years ago Bill Tilden finally fought his way to the front of American tennis by stopping little Bill Johnston at Forest Hills, L. I., in one of their always bitter duels.

Ten years later he returns to the same scene to defend the title he won back a year ago against a flock of younger stars who are coming forward, year by year. Tilden can spot most of these youthful challengers from ten to fifteen years. But he will still be the favored entry against the field, the hardest single man to beat.

Tilden was no youthful prodigy when he finally broke through. He was then past 26 and had been playing high-grade tennis for five or six years. His remarkable stamina has been one of the reasons for his 1930 career, for only an iron horse could have gone through the long campaign Tilden has faced since January and still maintain his present pace. His tennis ability was never in doubt. But few believed any competitor, who had been around as long as the tall Philadelphian could have put in so many months of hard play without breaking down.

Modern tennis is no dancing act. It is largely smash and speed, stamina and condition, as well as skill in stroking. It is a hard day's grind. Yet only the strongest sort of tennis will be enough to crowd the veteran back in what may be his last championship stand. Maybe.

"This British outfit knows a lot more crafty, inside polo thar many seem to think," writes L. H. "Don't under-rate them."

It isn't a case of under-rating the British. It is a case largely of warding off the attack that will be one charge and counter-charge after another. If these can be broken up there may be a different story. But they will be something to break up.

BOSTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—The Braves took advantage of every Brooklyn mistake today while Ed Brandt did not make any in pitching and the result was Boston gave the Robins a 6-to-0 shutout.

Tulane Favors Open Field Run

BY SOL METZGER

Bernie W. Bierman, head football coach of the undefeated Tulane University eleven last fall, has some mighty sound ideas relative to making touchdowns. His plans plays that may be stopped. They probably are half of the time. But the other half—well Tulane's rooters get a thrill for Armstrong goes for a score, as he did many times last fall with this smart play. Watch for it this year, for it will play no small part in the attack of this great team.

Against Texas A. & M. it went from the 32-yard line for 68 yards for the winning score in a close game won, 13 to 10. Tulane lined up near its right side-line as shown. Snap was to Armstrong, No. 1 back, who broke wide to the left. Note the wide line position of No. 4. He got the defensive end. Hence the way was cleared for Baumbach, No. 3, Seetuwa, No. 2, and Bodenger, No. 7 and guard, to sweep ahead as clean-up men, especially when the left end could handle the defensive right tackle alone.

That gave Armstrong, a mighty shifty runner, his chance in the open field. To aid him in his dodging the right end and tackle, Nos. 5 and 6, cut through to bowl over defensive backs not already accounted for.

McCoy undoubtedly is the greatest young heavyweight [illegible] to make his appearance in Southern California this year. He has not been heard of before because, with about a dozen crack[illegible] of the grapplers he met in the East [illegible] were content to do all their wrestling east of Chicago, but his record shows that he has beaten most of the same men who have been defeated by Marshall. The one exception is Ed Lewis. McCoy held him to a draw, while Marshall scored a victory over the former champion here.

Aside from this each has a very impressive record. McCoy has lost but one match in 139 starts, while Marshall has been defeated twice in seventy-eight starts. Champion Jim Bienemberg accounted for McCoy's only defeat. These two contestants of the flying tackle and head-on in the center of the ring at Boston before a 6th,000 house that McCoy had to be carried from the ring on a stretcher. Sonnenberg, who was revived in the ring, was awarded the match.

At the present time McCoy is the most popular wrestler in and around the Hub City. He was born and reared in that section, established for a reputation for himself in high school and later in college and professional athletics. The Irish fighter's idol was Walter Camp, selected him for a halfback position on his all-American intercollegiate football team in 1924. The late Al Lesman was picked for right tackle the same year. McCoy starred with the Holy Cross eleven that defeated Harvard, Yale and Princeton during [illegible]. In 1924, when he was but 17 years of age, he won the finals in the Olympic Games mat tryouts in this country in the 178-pound division. His mother refused to let him make the trip abroad, but he defeated the Olympic Games winner when he returned to this country.

After a fling at professional football and five years with the Detroit baseball club of the American League, McCoy again turned to wrestling, this time as a professional. He has been a consistent, and in the East he is looked upon as Champion Sonnenberg's possible successor to the mat throne.

Joe Malcewicz, the Utica mat panther, will meet "Wild" Bill Shaw in the second event of the all-star card. A rough battle is looked for as Malcewicz must toss Shaw twice within an hour in order to be returned victor. It is a handicap bout.

Nick Lutze will clash with Frank Leavitt, giant 300-pounder, in the opener.

ONE HUNDRED PER

THERE is a 100 per cent football season in the offing. You could sense it at a gathering called by Zack Farmer of the Coliseum staff yesterday.

Answering the call were press, radio and newsreel men.

Ordinarily such summons at any other period of the year brings few noses—just a smattering of the faithful.

Yesterday there were thirty-two faces at the festal board in the Students' Union at the University of Southern California.

There were places set for about sixteen. Twice they made additions to the size of the table.

Mr. Farmer wanted to tell the assemblage about the working arrangements for the 1930 football games at the Coliseum, and he had an attentive audience.

The new seats and other comforts of the Coliseum won't be finished probably until about the time of the Notre Dame-U.S.C. game—December 6.

In the meantime, the various services that tell the dear old public about the football goings-on will have to take potluck.

But, according to Mr. Farmer, when it is finished the Coliseum will take second place to none other in the country—and none other in the country will touch it for capacity by 30,000 seats.

A TRACK CASUALTY

MR. HEC DYER, lately returned from the national A.A.U. track championships and the international games at Chicago, is off for a vacation in the great Northwest.

But before departure Mr. Dyer, who is Dink Templeton's favorite sprinter at Stanford, dropped a thought about sprinters who get caught with their pants down.

Mr. Dyer was speaking more or less figuratively when he talked in this vein, and referred only to his state of mind at Pittsburgh—not to his attire.

It seems that Mr. Dyer, after running an easy heat in the 220, became engrossed in earnest conversation on the field with Carl Anderson, expert hurdle coach.

While this was going on Mr. Dyer suddenly looked up and discovered the runners on their marks for the finals of the 220.

There had been no calls for the finals, and Mr. Dyer was well-nigh petrified when he discovered this state of affairs.

He woke up in time to let out a frenzied shriek and dash madly for the starting point.

Naturally, Mr. Dyer entered the race cold, and finished in the cold.

This is in line with other statements coming to the writer that the Pittsburgh meet lacked much in the way of management compared with the 1929 nationals at Denver.

NECK AND NECK

THE race for pitching honors between Zinn of the San Francisco Seals and Ed Baecht, of the Los Angeles club continues a merry one.

Zinn has the advantage by one game.

He has won twenty-one struggles.

Baecht, the big right-hander, has scored in twenty.

It has been pointed out before that Baecht might do the Cubs some good in their stretch drive.

And it still goes, although the Cubs' management apparently doesn't think so.

Opener Has Painless Finale with Gould on Crag

by Prince Henry Oana, San Francisco's Hawaiian centerfielder.

Davis was beaned by one of Horne's fast balls in the eighth inning, but pluckily remained in the game and appeared certain of victory until the Angels went on the war path after two were out in the ninth.

Horne was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Lefty Peters replaced him. Peters got credit for the victory, but earned it for it was his single that drove home the tying run.

Johnny Rawlings, filling in at second base for the Cherubs while Sigafoos is nursing a bad leg, led the Angel attack with three hits off Davis.

A crowd of about 5000 souls saw the game, with twin double-headers of Sunday and Monday evidently satiating the appetites of local fans to a large extent.

The Angels began the scoring in the second inning, when Schulmerich led off with a hot single off Caveney's glove. Jacobs sacrificed and was safe at first and Schulmerich went on to third when Davis made a wild throw to second. Statz forced Jacobs at second, Baker to Crosetti, and Schulmerich scored on the out. Rawlings then singled to center, but Davis ended the inning by retiring Hannah on a pop fly to Caveney and fanning Horne.

The Seals took the lead in the fifth, Davis temporarily saving his own cause by hitting a home run over the left-field fence with one on to account for two markers. With one away Horne walked Gaston and Davis followed with his round-trip poke. Powels was then hit by a pitched ball and Pinelli followed with a hit off Rawlings's shins. Crosetti hit to Rawlings, whose throw for a force-out hit Pinelli in the back. Pinelli, however, overran second and Rawlings picked up the ball and tagged him out before he could scramble back to the bag. Statz captured Baker's fly for the third out.

Horne pitched his way into a hole because of wildness in the sixth inning, but promptly hurled himself out of it by whiffing the side. Caveney started the frame with a single to left and then Horne lost the plate and walked Oana and Coleman to fill the bases with none away. The midget Angel fast-baller then got the range again and struck out Gaston, Davis and Powles in order to give the gathering a huge thrill. Horne ran his strike-out string to five when he whiffed Pinelli and Crosetti to start the seventh. Baker broke the spell with a single to left but Caveney popped to Rawlings for the third out.

Los Angeles had a chance to tie the score in the seventh when Rawlings singled to right and took second on Coleman's error after two were out, but Davis set Hannah down on strikes, thus spoiling the opportunity.

The Seals picked up another run via the circuit-clout route in the eighth. Oana was first up and when Horne served him up a fat slow ball the Waikiki walloper crashed it over the left-field fence for a homer. After Coleman and Gaston had flied out, Horne hit Davis under the ear with a fast one and the Seal hurler dropped to the ground apparently badly hurt. After first-aid treatment, however, Davis got up and not only ran for himself, but continued in the box when Los Angeles came to bat. Powles followed with a single to center, but was forced by Pinelli to end the round without further scoring.

Horne was lifted to let Warren bat for him in the home half of the eighth and Peters took up the hurling burden.

After two were out in the ninth the Angels staged an uprising when Statz doubled to left and scored on Rawlings's third hit of the game, a single to left. Hannah followed with a single to center and Rawlings galloped to third. Augie Walsh went in to run for Hannah. Peters came through with a hit between Pinelli and Crosetti as Rawlings trotted home with the tying run, while Walsh perched on second.

Peters's single sent Davis to the showers and brought Gould to the firing line. Gould couldn't find the plate on Parker and walked the Angel third sacker to fill the bases. After working the count to three and two on Harper, Gould's next pitch was inside for ball four and Walsh was forced across the plate with the winning run.

Twelve City High Schools Start Football Drill, Franklin Reports Loss of Strength

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

That low moaning noise heard over the city yesterday was not a flock of wild elephants gone wrong, but was just the twelve City League coaches groaning and crying over their respective chances to walk off with the football title.

All twelve schools started classes yesterday after an intermission of two months, during which time the summer vacation was enjoyed by the sports writers.

While some of the coaches didn't moan as loud as the others, practically all of them have sad tales of woe.

Franklin is the hardest hit of all the schools, losing almost all of their near-championship team of last season. Both the regular ends, Thompson and Tomlinson, graduated. The two sub-ends, upon which Coach Frank Hess was depending for first-string this year, are both reported out. Tuttle has a bad knee and is not reporting for football, while Davidson, the other wing, transferred to Santa Barbara.

Castle, one of the best backs in the city, joined the Navy during the summer and is lost to the Panthers, while Frenchy Ladue, a flashy halfback, is a nine-semester man.

Others lost by graduation are Austin, guard; Brennan, tackle; McClellan, center, and Capt. Pants Livesay, half.

Hess has four men around which to build a team, Carr, a guard; Bob Allaire and Bob Reid, halfbacks, and Don Carter. Carter was ineligible last football season, but was the best shot putter in the City League during track season.

Of the other schools in the Circuit, Manual Arts, Hollywood and Lincoln have the upper hand as far as returning letter men are concerned.

Coach Jim Bwslett has nine veterans back, while Jim Tunney welcomed ten letter men back to Lincoln.

Headed by Ned Jones and Nebb Elduayan, Bicwett has Stan Smith, Herb Feagan, Bob Spaulding, Dick (Stork) Hamon, Bill Howard, Lanky Henderson and "Ears" Gregory.

Lincoln's letter men are Charles Astello, Pete Blandis, John Driscoll, Santa Garbe, Harry Jackson, Lyle Nowlin, Felix Senino, Pasquale Tumi, Andy Lombardo and Bud Harrison.

Vic Kelly will have twelve returning Redshirt pigskin warriors, chief among whom are Bill Merrill, center; Frankie Phillips, half, and Dave Zabriskie, tackle. The others are Johnny Clawson, Bill Kinmont, George Pike, Wyman, Wilton Keller, Ken Williams, Jack Turley, Harold Noble and Bill Resm.

Fremont, under Coach Direk, will present a mighty tough football problem for the so-called big shots of the loop. The Pathfinders have a wealth of material and will undoubtedly be a threat in the race for the championship.

With but three veterans back, Coach Clark DeGroot is likely to have a hard time with the Roosevelt Rough Riders this season. The trio of letter wearers are Joe Ramona, Capt. Payne and Cherrel. All are backfield men. The rest of the eleven will be composed of last-year substitutes.

An addition to the Roosevelt coaching staff was announced yesterday, Arlington Cain, a member of the Trojan track team last year, being appointed to the Rough Rider physical education department.

Both Poly and L. A. High present early-season strength, with the Romans having the edge. Four stars of last season's championship backfield are in uniform again. Mello Almada, Billybob Williams, Chuck Cheshire and Bob Hoeffer are the names. The returning linemen are Elmer Emersen, Capt. Hathaway, Anderson, Lannom and Hagen.

Voyle Brennen's Mechanics are bound to be a threat this season. Brennen's teams are always in the running. Five linemen are back, headed by Stawisky, star guard. The others are Limares, guard; Lott and Kudlac, ends, and Ryan, tackle. Ralphs is the only veteran backfield man in uniform.

Six-Meter Sloops Pile Up Points in Cup Races

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Sept. 2. (AP) The American six-meter yacht team again overwhelmed the British quartet in the second of a series of races for the British-American Cup here today. The cup goes to the team first winning four races.

With the two American aces, Mars and Lucie, again leading the fleet, the United States piled up 24 1-4 points to 12 for the invaders. The point score for two days stands: United States 48 1-2, England 24.

Prudence, of the British team, was third today, while her three teammates finished in sixth, seventh and eighth places.

JIMMY SHARP LEADING SOUTHWEST AUTO STARS

Although Francis Quinn, the veteran of the oiled ovals, I only trailing by about 37 points, local auto-racing fans appear to be of the opinion that the only chance of Jimmy Sharp's triumphant march to the 1930 championship of the Southwest being stopped lies in an invasion of eastern pilots within the next few weeks.

Drivers of this section have had little luck trying to halt the sensational winning streak of Sharp, Leaf Saturda, night when the good-looking [illegible] daredevil wheeled his Carnant Special across the line in the forty-lap sweepstakes, it was his seventh straight victory. Walt May was a fairly close second, but at no time during the jaunt was there much chance of the Alhambra ace overtaking Sharp, barring, o course, a smash-up or motor trouble.

Here is the way the pilots will stand in the championship competition when they face the starting signal of Fred Wagner in next Wednesday night's races at Ascot:

Driver—	Points
Jimmy Sharp	243.31
Francis Quinn	206.13

UPLIFTERS NAME TEAM FOR ARMY POLO GAME

The picked Southern California polo team, meeting the Eleventh Cavalry Army team, in the second annual game staged and sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been selected by Lionel Pedley. The game, to be played at Uplifters Field on Sunday afternoon, will be featured by military display, pony races and several additional features.

Pedley has chosen Will Rogers Jr. at No. 1, Hale Marsh of Santa Barbara, No. 2, himself at No. 3, and Dr. Harry Wilson, back. The Army team will be Lieut. Jerry Jernigan, Capt. Thomas Thornburgh, Maj. O. E. Wood and Capt. W. A. Fales, Lieut. C. E. Hughes, alternate.

Thirty-two polo ponies are scheduled to arrive late Saturday for the game. They are being shipped down from Santa Barbara, where the Army four is now staying. This string assures the service four of adequate mounts.

FOSTER WINS LOW GROSS GOLF HONORS

DEL MONTE, Sept. 2. (AP)—Frank M. Foster, Los Angeles, won low gross honors today with a score of 76-78—154 in the eight and up handicap division of the California amateur golf championship. Playing was on the Del Monte course and the Dunes links at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

S. Goldberg, San Francisco, won the low net with scores of 84-79—163. His handicap of 30 gave him a net of 133.

HOLLYWOOD SWIMMERS LEAVE FOR BAY CITY

Coach Clyde Swenson and his Hollywood A. C. swimming team leaves for San Francisco this evening to defend their Pacific Coast title in the fast-western championships to be held in the Bay City on the 7th inst. The squad will be headed by Capt. Frank Walton, Austin Clapp, Frank Booth, Duke Cahill and Frank Kurtz. A host of other insane locally known stars will also be there to compete. Among the better known are Buster Crabbe, Helen Madison, Nelson and Zorilla.

Rookie Blanks Portland Club

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Youthful Bill Phebus from the Arizona League was too much for Portland tonight and the Oaks won an easy 7-to-0 shutout. In the seventh the Oaks hammered Fred Oriman for five runs, three of them crossing the plate when Brubaker doubled with the bases full.

The best Portland batters swung at Phebus's offerings in vain. Cramber, one of the leading Duck batsmen, struck out three times in succession. French and Williams both struck out twice in succession. All told, Phebus struck out ten men and walked six. He himself got one hit and walked once in three times at bat.

Solons Bow to Indians

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 2. (AP)—Seattle continued their winning streak at the expense of Sacramento tonight, taking the opening game from the Senators, 9 to 5. The Indians took seven games out of nine from Oakland in their last encounter with the Acorns. Three Sacramento errors contributed to the Seattle victory tonight.

Almada, Seattle outfielder, drove a homer over the right-field fence in the eighth inning with the bases full. The Indians annexed another counter in this inning when Hamilton walked Holland with the bases loaded, forcing in Borreani.

STAR RALLIES NIP MISSIONS

Two of them got passes, one got a single, and the other a double. He was charged with the defeat.

The Missions had little trouble hitting Hulvey. Mulligan doubled in the first inning, Rodda singled, Huffi singled and so did Burns. Two runs scored before Rosenberg hit into a double play to retire the side. A double by Kelly and a single by Brenzel gave the Missions another run in the second. Three more counted in the fourth. With one out, Monroe, Huffi, Burns and Rosenberg singled, and Barbee and Hill made errors.

Mickey Heath hit the ball over the right-field fence for a homer to give Hollywood its first run in the fourth. Heath's homer was his thirty-second and tied him with Barbee for the league lead.

That was all until the hectic eighth. Lee opened that inning with a single and Brannon and Barbee were walked to fill the bases. Carlyle was out on a fly to Rosenberg and Lee scored after the catch. Heath singled and then Darrough relieved Ted Pillette.

DARROUGH BIG HELP

Darrough could not get anyone out. He walked Bassler, Reverald batted for Gazella and got a pass, forcing in a run. Groan batted for Page and his single scored two more. Hill then doubled to score another pair. Bert Cole relieved Darrough and finally got the side out after six runs had scored. A double by Carlyle and a single by Heath gave Hollywood another run in the ninth and that proved to be the winning one. Catina also got a hit in that inning but there was no further scoring.

The Missions had a chance to win in the ninth but finished just one hit shy. Mulligan singled and was forced at second by Rodda. Tom Monroe and Huffi belted singles to score Rodda. Burns was tossed out by Catina and with runners on second and third, Rosenberg ended the game with a pop fly to Brannan. Score:

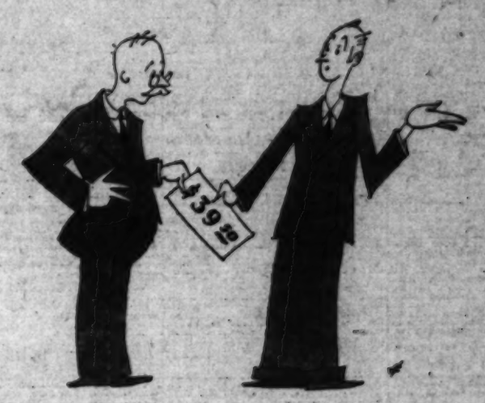
BULLOCK'S STORES FOR MEN



Thank You, Father!

I could pay lots more than $39.50

"Don't let me seem ungrateful! But you know, you are really getting a break. I could pay lots more than $39.50 for a suit as good as the one in Bullock's University Store I have my eyes on. (Just remember that, please when it's roadster time next spring.)

"But be warned. The suit has two trousers. One always ready to wear. The other for Joe, the campus cleaner, to exercise his muscular right pressing arm on.

"Well, I'll be seeing you—with a well-fitting smile and a pleasant suit. And what a suit! Thanks again."

This way to school:

Father probably knows what a break he is getting. Bullock's University Store for Men is prepared to talk price with anyone: $39.50 buys the sweetest hand-tailored University type garment it has been even Bullock's privilege to see and sell in many a year! $42.50 buys an even better one. And $29.50 fits the smaller fellow in authentic fashion. What is more—whatever price you pay you get 2 pairs of trousers.

So much for price. No matter how good the price is, it doesn't begin to tell what the suits are like. And how could it? You will have to see these Fall 1930 fabrics and colors for yourself. Now's the time, today!

10 famous California cooking authorities asked for a perfect shortening...

then they tried PARFAY

"Never before," they agree, "a cooking fat like this new-type BLENDED shortening!" . . . . . .

WE went to them to talk about shortening. Ten men and women, famous for their cooking skill! Gathered together, in a state famous for fine eating, to discuss the perfect shortening.

"Would it be possible," they asked, "to give the modern housewife an altogether modern product—to combine in one shortening all the special merits of every cooking fat she's ever tried?"

They listed their points—and all ten agreed on the qualities they wanted. Qualities you'd probably specify yourself. Yet no single shortening had ever possessed them all.

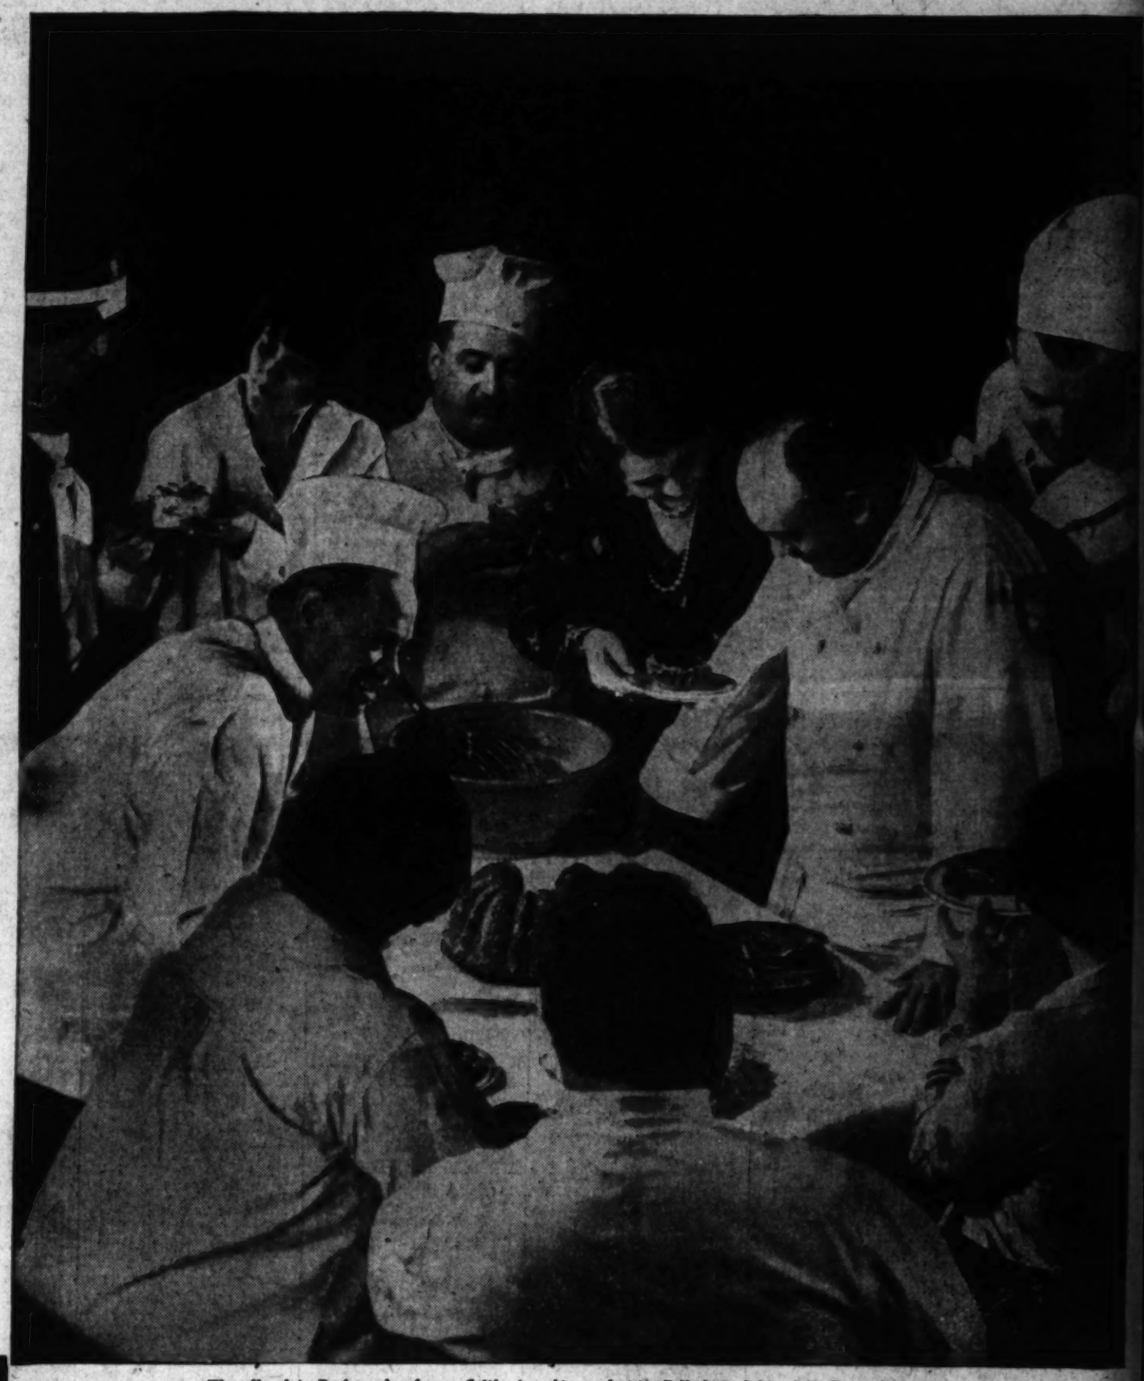
Then—Parfay was perfected! The new-type blended shortening, a product made in California to be passed upon by California experts!

They tested it in every conceivable fashion. They fried with it and mixed with it and baked with it. On every one of their points, Parfay scored beyond their hopes!

It creamed into sugar with a helpful spirit that turned cake making joyful. Dough slipped from the rolling pin in happy exuberance. Biscuits were marvels of fluffy tenderness. Doughnuts, fat circles with hunched brown shoulders, crisp and crunchy. Whatever they used Parfay for was irresistible. "Here, at last," they agreed, "is the ideal shortening!"

Parfay bears the Swift's Premium Quality Seal—the symbol of highest excellence and unvarying uniformity in food quality.

Note the new convenience of Parfay's size and shape. A long and slim pound package which slips easily anywhere in the ice box. So easy to handle, and to cut from! Look for Parfay at your grocer's.



They all acclaim Parfay—these famous California cooking authorities! Belle de Graf, Maude D. Evans, Mildred Kitchen, and Prudence Penny, of Home Economics and newspaper fame; Mary K. Solari of Solari's, and Meyer of the Mark Hopkins; Iberti of the Hotel Oakland; Gregorio of Victor Hugo's, Ehlers of the Roosevelt, and Bassetti of the Ambassador.

Now all these virtues in a single shortening

Everything these authorities had mentioned . . . advantages never before combined in a single shortening . . . are in Parfay:

- Its snow white purity comes triumphant through comparisons with all other cooking fats. Its utter absence of flavor gives other ingredients full play. Parfay retains its fresh neutrality—it keeps indefinitely, always sweet.
- Parfay creams and mixes so quickly and easily. It saves time and effort and gives cakes and cookies particular lightness and fine texture.
- Because Parfay heats to an intense degree, you have no odor and no smoke discomfort. Fried foods come out of the kettle crisp, greaseless and digestible.
- The springy quality of its dough gives you back old-fashioned flaky pastry. The pie crust most husbands are a little sentimental about.
- Parfay's slender blue and white container is wonderfully convenient in the ice box.

"Never before," says this exacting group of experts, "never before has there been such a shortening! Parfay has every quality we asked."

Because we're certain you'll feel that way, too, we've told your dealer to refund Parfay's purchase price if anyone tried it and isn't delighted. Buy Parfay today. Then see for yourself what results you get!

UN'S HEAT CHARTED
ffect on Earth Analyzed
ather Forecasts Based on Solar Radiation Seen as Possibility cientific Tests Definitely Show Sol's Moods Alter Temperatures
HICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Weather ecasting a week in advance rough measurement of the heat ven off by the sun is believed by nsonian Institution officials to a probable scientific adventure the future.
Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of institution, today told the Amer-n Astronomical Society that rs of observation had shown that sun's warmth, radiated, varies m day to day and the earth's mperature varies in response to ese short period changes.
LONG STUDY MADE
Should the prospect of weather recasting on the basis of solar riation be realized, Dr. Abbot held n the Smithsonian's announce-nt would stand as one of the eaks in the history of meteor-
gy. It represented more than irty years of continuous investi-
tion of the sun, he said.
Although he and his associates d long known definitely that the mount of solar radiation varied d had foreseen a resultant influnce on the earth's temperature, he ded, this is the first time unmiskable proof of large influence had en obtained by them.
The proof lies, Dr. Abbot said, in e fact that since January 1, 1924, henever solar radiation increased decreased continuously for a pe-od of four or five days to a maxium or minimum, the temperares at Washington and other stans showed a definite deflection
p or down, beginning four days fore and continuing until at least ur days after.
SUN'S HOT SPOTS
The scientist said the fluctuations e through lower atmospheric ctuations as yet not understood d are not a direct result of the lar change. In some manner that solar radiation was found to affect rating temperature, probably in the e of earth's circulation, also caused a lling temperature.
Until the reasons for this differce in effect at different seasons found, he said, it would be risky undertake weather forecasting on results thus far.
